MIDSHIPMAN'S TRIAL BEGINS AT ANNAPOLIS ACADEMY

Court Starts Investigation Into Death of James S. Branch, Jr.

DEFENSE IS STRONG

Meriwether Sends Out Challenge After Being Goaded to Desperation.

CLASSMEN TELL OF BATTLE

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ANNAPOLIS, MD., Nov. 22.—Testimony for the defense cannot be stronger than the statements made today by the witnesses which the prosecution put upon the stand to prove that Midshipman Minor Meriwether, Jr., in a fist fight Sunday night, November 5, in Bancroft hall, Naval academy, caused the death of Midshipman James S. Branch, Jr., and although John K. Rose of the state attorney's office in Baltimore is a silent counsellor of the judge advocate, Capt. Adolph Marix, he will find little on which to base an indictment, provided the naval authorities decide to turn the accused over to the civil courts for punishment.

Analysis of evidence taken today shows that in the opinion of upper classmen Meriwether was guilty from his initiation into the academy of what these boys term "rating." He promenaded "lovers' lane," a certain walk in the grounds, arm in arm with young women not his sisters, nor his aunts nor his mother, and in other ways he "fussed" about women, which is the academic terms here for showing attention to the opposite sex. And when he turned a corner on the walks in the grounds he did not halt, pivot on his heel and otherwise conduct himself like a mannikin, but cut corners even as the civilian does. The code forbids that.

Did Not Observe the Code.

In his conversation with those who were better than himself by a year's longer sojourn at the academy and a year more of familiarity with the code, he failed to inject into his voice that quality of humility and self-effacement which that code prescribes. Nor at the table did he sit bolt upright, covering but half the seat of his chair. Outside the academy these may seem but trivial things, but here they are serious, even unto death. According to one witness for these derelictions, Branch and his classmate, a year senior, made life in the service a daily hell to Meriwether. When he had stood it as long as he could he went with a friend to Branch's room and dared him out of bed and fight then and there. Branch's reply was, "You are a fool to come up here. You know my class has been 'papping' you ever since you were a plebe."

Thereupon Meriwether told Branch: "You are a low-down coward." There was more of this rhetorical parry and thrust and the next day each sought his friends and the friends arranged a fight to the finish with three-ounce punching-bag gloves, two minutes to the round and one-minute rests between.

The first and gravest charge is manslaughter in having caused the death of Midshipman Branch, but there are two other charges, the second supported by two specifications and the third by one.

WOLVES!

COLLAPSES AFTER TESTIFYING FOR ACCUSED SON

Mother of James I. Harbison Is in Critical Condition—Murder Trial Nearing End.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 22.—Another tragic death seems the likely sequel to the Jas. I. Harbison murder case, now being tried in the courts here. At her home tonight Mrs. J. F. Harbison, mother of the man accused of having murdered Louis V. Bergman, is lying at the point of death having collapsed after giving testimony in behalf of her son today.

The news of her critical condition is being withheld from the prisoner, who, according to Henry C. Eyman, an insanity expert, is in a highly nervous condition and incapable of restraining himself. Mrs. Harbison and Mrs. Eliza Wortman of Cleveland, an aunt, testified that the wife of the defendant had taken dinner with Harbison at his father's house on the day of the shooting and had invited him to see her at their home that night although they were separated. The mother in giving her testimony said:

"My son told me Marguerite was still true to him, but I wondered if it was true. I once found him kneeling at the bedside of his little daughter, shaking her hand and praying, "O God help me to care for this little one."

The state will put on witnesses in rebuttal tomorrow and then the arguments will be stated.

MONEY IS STILL POURING IN FROM ALL SIDES

Citizens in All Walks of Life Respond Freely to the Russian Call.

Receipts to The Gazette fund for the relief of Russian sufferers yesterday carried the sum total past the $3,000 mark. The contributions recorded for the day were $737 80, making the full receipts for six days $3,381 80.

The Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph announced last evening that it would devote the entire receipts for classified advertising in that newspaper on Saturday next to the relief of the Russian sufferers. This gracious offer should receive the support of business men and the public generally, who can thereby advertise some want and know that the money so applied will go to a most worthy charity.

Yesterday A. M. Hanauer, treasurer, and Attorney Maurice L. Avner, secretary, of the Pittsburgh Society for the Relief of Russian Sufferers, sent an additional $2,000 to the national fund headquarters in New York, of which Jacob H. Schiff is treasurer. This is the fourth $2,000 forwarded to New York, a fund of $8,000 having been gathered before The Gazette fund was announced, and aside from the $8,000 so sent to New York, the Reform Congregation Rodeph Shalom wired $1,000 upon the first news of the massacres.

Among the contributors yesterday was the Hon. James Bredin, former judge of Butler county, whose check for $100 is acknowledged in the subscription list. Judge Bredin said yesterday:

"I feel the cause is a most worthy one and should receive full public support. The calamity is such as should stir the whole Christian world."

The Rev. Dr. Emil Hirsch of Chicago, who lectured in this city last evening, stated in an interview that the massacres which recently occurred in Russia were the worst in the history of the Hebrew race, far greater than those during the Crusades. He stated that in Chicago $100,000 was raised to aid the suffering.

CROSSES STATE IN AUTO.

Congressman Huff Leaves His Machine at Philadelphia and Goes to Capital.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(Special)—Representative George F. Huff of Greensburg arrived here today for the session of congress. He made the trip from West Newton to Philadelphia in his automobile and, shipping his machine back from there, he came on to Washington by rail.

Mr. Huff is deeply interested in the proposed rate legislation and he says his views are expressed in the speech made by Senator Knox at Pittsburgh recently.

President's Old Ranch Is Sold.

DICKINSON, N. D., Nov. 22.—It was announced today the "Maltese Cross" ranch, owned and occupied by President Roosevelt during his residence in North Dakota, has been purchased by O. J. Delendrecie of Fargo for $15,000.

ZEMSTVOISTS ASK CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY

Congress Presents Resolution Which Provokes Long and Heated Debate.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

MOSCOW, Nov. 22.—A resolution outlining the proposed program of the zemstvoists, favoring the support of the government in its efforts to establish the liberties promised by the imperial manifesto of October 10, but asking for the transformation of the first douma into a constituent assembly to be elected on the basis of direct and universal suffrage, which was introduced by the executive committee in the zemstvo congress today, was the subject of a prolonged debate in which nearly 40 speakers participated and at the end of a long evening session the resolution was referred back to the committee for the incorporation of any modifications made necessary by the criticisms of it, and it will be voted on tomorrow.

The leaders of the "Octobrists," as the party taking a stand on the manifesto is called, and other moderates concentrated their attack on the section of the resolution calling for a constituent assembly, for which M. Guchkoff, Count Hayden, Prince Eugene Troubetskoy, Prof. Kovalevsky and others declared that Russia was not ready; but it is believed that any modification, if made, will be in the direction of strengthening the conditions which have been laid down for governmental acceptance.

The section calling for a thorough and severe investigation of and the placing of the responsibility for the recent disorders met with general approval, though M. Guchkoff demanded an investigation not only of the police but also of the "reds."

M. Guchkoff, who is regarded as Count Witte's spokesman, defended martial law, saying that extraordinary measures were necessary in extreme cases. He was continually interrupted by cries of "enough" from the Socialists in the audience and the extremist delegates.

ENORMOUS COAL LAND DEAL.

Ten Million Dollar Purchase Is Reported from Washington County.

WASHINGTON, PA., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—The United States Steel Corporation is said to be negotiating for 60,000 acres of coal land in South Franklin, North Franklin, South Strabanne, Amwell and Morris townships, this county.

It is believed the deal will be closed at $160 an acre, making the total sale, if consummated, $10,000,000. The block is said to be controlled by Uniontown capitalists. The Jones & Laughlin Steel Company recently bought an adjoining block of 20,000 acres for $250 an acre.

Stand by Old Professor.

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—The trustees of Boston university tonight announced the appointment of Prof. Hinckley G. Mitchell as instructor of Semitic languages and literature. Recently Dr. Mitchell was removed from his chair in the theological school of the university, after 22 years' service, by the board of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church, for alleged heretical interpretation of the Scriptures.

LIGHT MONOPOLY HAS COUNCILS OF CITY IN IRON GRIP

Geyer Says It Is Useless for His Company to Ask for a Franchise.

REVENUE IS REFUSED

Former Allegheny Mayor Tells How He Was Deceived by Hays Administration.

GIVES ANOTHER FREE GRANT

We would ask Pittsburgh councils for an electric light franchise if we had the least show of getting it, but we know from experience it would be of no use. We asked for a franchise two years ago, offering to pay the city 3 per cent of our gross receipts and to furnish light to the city for from 25 to 40 per cent cheaper than it then paid and is still paying, but the councils turned this proposition down and gave a franchise to the Duquesne Light Company for nothing, and the Duquesne company, for some reason, has not built a plant and will not bid for the city contract.—Charles Geyer, President Pennsylvania Light, Heat and Power Company.

When asked yesterday if his company intended applying for a franchise from Pittsburgh councils for their electric light company, former Mayor Charles Geyer of Allegheny, president of the Pennsylvania Light, Heat and Power Company, made the above statement. Mr. Geyer said it would be useless to again apply to the present administration for a franchise to do business in this city and compete with the Allegheny County Light Company for the city contract.

Councils Refused Compensation.

"We were led to believe two years ago that we would get a franchise, but when we put our ordinance into councils some stronger influence than ours killed it," he said. "I appeared before councils and the corporation committee and stated if we were granted a franchise we would give the city 3 per cent of our gross earnings and would agree to reduce the price of street lighting to the city from 25 to 40 per cent. The guarantee to pay the city 3 per cent of the gross receipts was incorporated in our ordinance.

"Mayor Hays' administration was supposed to be a reform administration and we believed that we would obtain a franchise. Every person knows what happened. The Duquesne Light Company had an ordinance in councils at the same time, offering also a percentage of its gross receipts to the city in return for the franchise, but the councils deliberately struck this section out of the Duquesne company's ordinance, thereby depriving the city of any revenue from the franchise. Giving the Duquesne company a franchise for nothing, it refused to give us a franchise with compensation to the city.

No Use to Apply Again.

"After they have done this, what chance have we of getting a franchise today?

TARBELL OFFERS SUGGESTIONS FOR REFORM IN SYSTEM

Shows Weak Spots in Insurance Business and Suggests Remedies.

GIVES GOOD POINTS

Would Not Permit Companies to Engage in Banking and Trust Business.

TRIBUTE TO LOCAL OFFICER

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—After being on the witness stand before the Armstrong legislative committee on insurance investigation for the greater part of three days, Gage E. Tarbell, second vice president of the Equitable Life Assurance society, finished his testimony today, and just before adjournment submitted a list of suggestions for the remedy of the existing abuses in the management of insurance companies and for legislation designed to give the state proper control over the companies and to insure the confidence of the policyholders.

Prominent among these suggestions was absolute publicity. While admitting that wrong had been done by life insurance officials Mr. Tarbell said he had no apologies to make for any of them and that he hoped they would be punished.

Mr. Tarbell was on the stand the entire day and was questioned as to the system of agencies and the commissions and other compensations allowed them for getting business. Just before the recess the fact was brought out that Mr. Tarbell had taken out insurance on his own life and on members of his family, and had received the agents commission on the premiums as well as renewal commissions.

Got Commissions Everywhere.

He said that since he became an officer he had taken out $200,000 on his own life in the Equitable. Besides his policies in the Equitable he had taken insurance in the New York Life, the arrangement being made with George W. Perkins and on this, too, he received the commission on the premiums. He had also a policy in the Aetna and the Travelers, on all of which he collected the commissions. He carried $400,000 on his own life and $100,000 on members of his family.

Mr. Tarbell was emphatic in denouncing the system of rebating by agents, and stated that any agent of the Equitable who gave rebates to get business was dismissed. When he told of getting the commissions Assemblyman Cox asked if that was not rebating and Mr. Tarbell said it was not—that he he thought he was entitled to it.

Tarbell told of an enormous increase in the business done in the Pittsburgh general agency office, in charge of E. A. Woods who, Mr. Tarbell said, had made more than any other agent of the company. Mr. Woods profits in 1904, Mr. Tarbell said, were $50,000.

As to the expenses incurred by the officers of the Equitable Mr. Tarbell said he personally never had any expenses except those that he submitted in an itemized account. His traveling expenses last year amounted to $4,675. On one of these trips he had a private car. This

MAGISTRATE NEGLEY'S LITTLE JOKE ENDS IN TRAGIC SCENE

When He Talks of Sending Boys to Prison They Shriek for Mercy, While Female Prosecutor Falls in Dead Faint Upon the Floor.

When Magistrate Negley, in the Franks-town avenue station house yesterday morning, intimated that he was about to send two 14-year-old boys to prison for seven years each, the joke turned out more seriously that anyone had expected. Both boys threw themselves on their knees before the magistrate and pleaded for mercy, while the woman who had brought about their arrest fell in a dead faint on the floor. There was plenty of excitement in the crowded little court room for a few minutes, and it required all of the soothing words in Magistrate Negley's vocabulary and a plentiful sprinkling of cool water to bring the accuser and accused back to a proper realization of life. There have been a number of tragic incidents enacted in the station house out in East Liberty, but two half-crazed, sobbing boys and an apparently lifeless woman was pretty nearly the record.

The boys in the case were Kelso Rhodes and Joseph Mayfield; the prosecutor was Mrs. H. B. Smith, who keeps a stationery store at Fifth and Hamilton avenues. Mrs. Smith has had trouble with boys who persisted in stealing newspapers from in front of her store. A bundle disappeared recently and she brought a larceny charge against young Rhodes and Mayfield. When they appeared for the hearing yesterday morning the court room was pretty well filled. The crime was sufficiently serious to admit of the magistrate making an example of the boys, were they proven guilty. But Magistrate Negley is probably a little more fond of a joke than the average man. It was his purpose not only to impress the boys with the gravity of the offense, but at the same time to give them a good scare. When each boy said he was 14 years old, Magistrate Negley adjusted his spectacles, did a little mental calculating, and then said:

"Let me see: 14 and 7 makes 21. You will both be of age when you come out of prison."

Right then was when the joke was punctured. Mrs. Smith gave a little gasp and fell prone upon the floor. Rhodes seized one of Negley's hands and Mayfield the other.

"Please don't send up to jail, Mr. Negley, and we will be your friends for life," pleaded Rhodes, while Mayfield tearfully shouted: "Indeed, indeed, we will."

Mrs. Smith was revived presently and withdrew the charge against the boys. They went away with promises never to do it again. And Magistrate Negley chuckled.

was on a trip of a month to the south and west to attend agency meetings. The total expenses of the trip were $1,926. On the trip with the witness were Mrs. and Miss Tarbell, F. Wells, R. R. Winthrop, Mr. Gorham, secretary to Tarbell, and E. A. Woods of Pittsburgh. Witness said the expenses of Mrs. Tarbell and his daughter were not paid by the Equitable Life.

Railroads Carry Them Free.

Mr. Tarbell said that a private car with him is a workshop on wheels. His business is carried on in this way and he does not lose a day or get behind. His car generally has free transportation, so that there is a saving in expense. The free transportation is also extended to the occupants of the car. The Equitable society owns a private car. The witness thought the railroads extended these privileges to life insurance companies because the latter have been large patrons in buying railroad securities. The railroad officials are glad, he said, to have life insurance officials go over the roads and see in what condition the roads are. He also took these trips in lieu of vacations. In come instances, the witness said, he had free transportation, even though he had no private car.

Mr. Tarbell was asked who pays the expense of agents' conventions, to which he replied.

"Sometimes the Equitable pays half and the general agent pays the other half."

He said the convention of general agents at Manhattan beach last September cost the Equitable society a little less than $50,000. A general agents' convention in the previous April cost $15,000.

"It has been said that $45,000 was put in the hands of one agent for distribution among others," said Mr. Hughes.

"That is not so. Not $5 was put in anyone's hands for distribution," said Mr. Tarbell.

He also said that he did not believe the society's expenses for agents' conventions approximated $75,000 or $100,000 a year.

Mr. Tarbell was asked to submit a statement of the insurance on the lives of all officers of the Equitable society, with the amounts, the premiums for the agent through whom it was taken out, and, if posible, any commissions any officer or director of the society received. Mr. Tarbell justified his taking commissions on the ground that it was the general custom among life insurance companies, also on the same ground that a merchant purchasing goods of a brother merchant gets them at cost. He said commissions are paid to cover the expense of bringing in business, and where an officer takes out insurance there is no expense on the part of the company in getting the business.

Why should not the company have the benefit of the saving of the expense which, in fact, has not been incurred? asked Mr. Hughes, counsel for the committee.

If the business was given direct to the company that might be so; but if an officer saw fit to give the business through one of his agents I don't see that the society would have suffered at all, said Mr. Tarbell.

Mr. Hughes asked how this differed from rebating.

I have never thought that it would ever be considered that a man who bought in a sense his own goods would be taking any undue advantage, said Mr. Tarbell. I was buying the society's goods, of which I am a by large part, as I carry one three-thousandths part of the total carriage. I paid the Equitable $135,000 for life insurance.

Are you more any part of the Equitable Life than any other policy holder?

Just Because It's He.

Only that I am a larger policy holder.

Is there any reason why you should get a return from an agent in placing your insurance, from the company, more than any other person should get in placing the same amount with the company?

Only because it is my business and I am giving my time to it. If that was a custom with all officers of insurance companies I think it might have been a justification. I thought it was all right when I did it and I still so believe.

You are paid to give your best efforts, are you not? asked Mr. Hughes.

Yes; but I am taking no advantage of the company if an agent writes my business at net cost, replied Mr. Tarbell.

He added, in reply to questions that anyone who gets an allowance or rebate from an agent is taking advantage of the agent, not the company, but if the agent is willing it does not seem to him that there is an advantage taken.

In other words, said Mr. Hughes, are you not instructing your agents, on pain of dismissal, that they shall not do the thing which, in fact, they have done on your own policy?

I have not so considered it, said Mr. Tarbell. Our agents are all permitted to give commissions to people engaged in the business if they place all the insurance they do or solicit with the Equitable.

Never Thought It Was Wrong.

That is not your case?

Not exactly.

Mr. Tarbell said he knows there is a statute against discrimination by insurance companies.

Do you mean to say that you think you can properly allow one rate of premium to one man who is not connected with insurance companies and in effect another commission to a man who is connected with an insurance company? asked Mr. Hughes.

I do not consider that there was any discrimination so far as the company is concerned, because they received the same premium on any business that was produced by the agent, replied Mr. Tarbell.

But did they not receive the same amount that they would have received if they were paid the entire premium, said Mr. Hughes.

No, sir. If I have done wrong regarding the matter, I am very sorry, Mr. Hughes, but I have acted in good faith.

Mr. Hughes asked if an agent were to insure him for $100,000 and give him his commission, whether that would not be an infraction of the rules against rebating and the witness said it would. Mr. Hughes replied, "But you do not see that it would be so if he insures your life and gives you the commissions."

Frick Did Not Investigate.

The statement of advances to agents was then introduced and the amount showed that Julius Bohm & Brother, a Metropolitan agency, was indebted to the society at one time to the extent of $266,000.

Mr. Hughes then said:

The Frick report says that the advance made to them amounted to a total of $42,272, or equal to 11 annual renewals, and that the combined account of J. Bohm and J. Bohm & Bro. showed annual renewals of $33,400. Will you state what correction is needed, if any, in that statement?

The statement of Bohm & Bro. show an indebtedness of June 30, 1905, of $130,000, said Mr. Tarbell. The total advances to J. Bohm and J. Bohm Brothers were in the neighborhood of $460,000 or more. The annual renewal interests were about $36,000 in 1904 and about $37,000 in 1906.

Where did the Frick committee get this $33,400?

I never knew anything about where the Frick committee got these figures. They did not get them from my department or the auditors. They made their report without ever making an investigation of the department.

Surplus Is Not to Blame.

Toward the close of his testimony Mr. Tarbell took occasion to make a statement in which he said:

I cannot believe that anything that has occurred in the life insurance business can be traced to a large surplus of a life insurance company because if a man is going to be dishonest he can be dishonest with the reserve dollar or any other dollar as easily as with a surplus dollar.

I am inclined to believe that the things that have done or that the things that have taken place occurred because a great many people have been affected during the last few years with what I might be permitted to term money madness, a desire to get rich perhaps too quickly. But these things can occur anywhere and they do occur anywhere. In fact, while I have no apologies whatever to make for anybody who has done wrong in his business, I think that those who have been derelict in their duty should be punished.

I don't know that it is to be wondered that some dirt should have crept into this business in some places and I am glad to see that there are men in this business who saw the dirt, men who endeavored to cause it to be swept out and who are glad to see the house-cleaning that is going on at the present time.

I could enumerate a great many ways in which life insurance has been of incalculable good to the entire country and even to the entire world.

Suggests Some Improvements.

I have one or two suggestions to make along the line on which this committee is working that I think would do much to clarify the situation.

Complete publicity.

The names of all principal executive officers with their salaries or other compensation, if any.

All accounts to be properly kept and spread upon the records of the company.

All commissions charged to appropriate account, with full information, including names of all parties receiving payments.

Profit and loss account to contain detailed information as to all profits and losses.

Complete transcripts of the advertising account, legal expenses account and profit and loss account, to be a part of the report to the superintendent of insurance. Violation of any of the foregoing to be a misdemeanor.

Any fictitious sales or loans to be a misdemeanor.

No officer of a life insurance company to accept an office in any other corporation carrying with it any compensation.

Get Out of Bank Business.

No life insurance company permitted to own a controlling interest in any bank, trust company or any other corporation; the holdings in any such bank, trust company, or any other corporation to be limited to not exceeding 20 per cent of the capital stock.

No life insurance company should be permitted to pay a commission out of first year's premium for securing the business, exceeding 50 per cent thereof, and the giving or taking of any rebate, directly or by the agent or the assured to be a misdemeanor.

A law making it the duty of the superintendent of insurance to thoroughly audit the books of all life insurance companies in this state at least once a year.

A law making it a misdemeanor for any officer of a life insurance company to give from the funds of the company any sum for political purposes or for any person or persons to receive, directly or indirectly, any such sum.

Gerald R. Brown, head of the bond and mortgage department of the Equitable Life, submitted a list of the office buildings throughout the world and other properties owned by the society. During the analysis of the statements of the value, expense and income of the main building at 120 Broadway, Mr. Brown said the janitor received a salary of $26,000 a year. Further questioning by Mr. Hughes however, brought out the fact that out of that he has to pay assistants, and witness did not think the janitor netted over $75 or $100 a month. This arrangement was made by the society after much calculation. The janitor submitted a payroll to the society every six months and to ascertain if these moneys are paid out for the purpose represented the payroll is checked by a clerk who looks up every man whose name is on the roll. Mr. Brown was testifying when adjournment was taken and he will be called again tomorrow.

KING'S SCHEME WORKS, BUT LANDS HIM BEHIND BARS

Shoots Blank Cartridge at Friend Whose Wife Pretends She Is Shot, Causing Very General Excitement in Glenwood.

A successful attempt to perpetrate a practical joke caused Leslie King to spend last night in No. 19 police station, alarmed a large portion of Glenwood with the report that a murder had been committed, and caused Inspector James McEvoy to accomplish a most remarkable and dangerous ride down a precipitous road in his desire to be early upon the scene and apprehend the murderer.

Leslie King, who, with his wife, boards with Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ivory at 210 Courtland street, Glenwood, prepared a little joke which he expected to play upon Ivory when he returned from work. King, his wife and Mrs. Ivory arranged the details. When Ivory appeared at the kitchen door last night about 8 o'clock he was greeted with the remark: "What have you been saying about my wife?" and looked into the business end of a 32-caliber revolver in the hand of King. Ivory instantly ducked, and as he did so the revolver cracked, and his wife, as had been previously arranged, clutched her breast, staggered and fell to the floor, exclaiming: "My God, I'm shot."

Never doubting but that the bullet intended for himself had stricken his wife, Ivory jerked open the door, ran to the office of Dr. F. C. Sawers in Second avenue, and excitedly told the doctor that his wife had been shot and asked him to come to the house at once. Then he ran for the police. Officer Peter McGinty went to the house, where the joke was explained. McGinty failed to appreciate it and remained on guard after sending word to the police station. Several boys had run to the police station with the news that a murder had been committed, and the sergeant there telephoned the news to the Oakland station.

Inspector McEvoy started for the house in his buggy, and accomplished the ride of over three miles in record-breaking time. The shorter route to Second avenue is by way of the Sylvian road, which is bordered on the left by a precipice over 50 feet high. Along this dangerous route the inspector made his way, arriving at the scene of the shooting 17 minutes after leaving the station house in Forbes street.

King was arrested and held as a suspicious person. A 32-caliber Smith & Wesson hammerless revolver, with four blank cartridges and one empty shell, was taken from him. Both the couples are newly married and the men are employed by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company as brakemen.

MUTUAL LIFE ECONOMISES.

Cuts President's Salary $75,000 a Year and Makes Other Important Changes.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—At the regular meeting of the trustees of the Mutual Life Insurance Company today, the offer of President Richard A. McCurdy to have his salary reduced from $150,000 to $75,000 was accepted, and further reductions were made, amounting altogether to $150,000. The names of the officials affected were not made public.

It was also stated that it was decided to place all the general agents on a salary instead of a commission basis.

Steal $10,000 Worth of Silk.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Silks valued at $10,000 were stolen from the William Skinner Manufacturing Company of Greene and Bleecker streets, Monday afternoon and tonight four persons, three men and a woman, were arrested charged with receiving stolen property. Most of the plunder was recovered. One of the prisoners, according to the police, confessed and told where the silk had been disposed of.

WIDSHIPMAN'S TRIAL

The second charge is of violation of the third clause of the eighth article of the rules for the government of the navy. The first specification is that Meriwether applied to Branch the names of sneak and coward and the second that he assaulted him. The third charge of conduct to the prejudice of good order and discipline, specifies that Meriwether engaged in a fight with Branch.

The sad incident in connection with the death of Branch under such circumstances has been widely noticed and has called attention to the existence at the naval academy of an unwritten code governing the student body, but quite outside the authoritative regulations and generally in violation of them. Under the "code" every detail of these fights is fixed, the midshipmen on duty abstaining from reporting them. These facts were very clearly brought out both by the judge advocate and in the cross-examination by Lieut.-Commander Robison for the defense.

The witnesses today included Branch's roommate, the referee and timekeeper of the contest, and all four seconds were examined in a greater or lesser degree about all the circumstances of the fight, the question of "code" and their ideas of their duty under the regulations, although this subject was not pressed to such a degree that the midshipman was put on his defense as to the binding force of his oath, upon entering the institution, to obey all its regulations. The "code" system was, therefore, not directly put on trial, although it was very thoroughly ventilated along some lines. Midshipman A. W. Fitch, who refereed the fight which was followed by Branch's death, stated he had officiated in 19 such contests and Midshipman McKittrick testified that he had taken part in nine.

Students Badly Hurt in Fights.

Detailed accounts were given of the arrangements by which midshipmen on duty acquiesced in absences without leave and other derelictions in order that the fight might go on, and the testimony also showed that although frequently severe injuries resulted from these fights and the recipients often had to be taken to the hospital, nothing further was ever heard of them. This the defense brought out on cross-examination, it being evidently intended to show that the authorities also winked at the code and the prearranged fights under it.

Branch had been one of the midshipmen who, according to the testimony, determined to make life "not worth living" for Meriweather because he would not abide by these rules, and from that the enmity arose.

Capt. Adolph Marix is judge advocate of the court and is assisted in the prosecution by John C. Rose, United States district attorney for the district of Maryland. Mr. Rose was assigned to the case by the department of justice at the request of the navy department. The defense is cared for by Lieut. Commander James K. Robinson and by James M. Munroe, two prominent local attorneys.

The testimony of Captain George P. Colvocoresses, commandant of midshipmen, was of great importance and counsel for the defense made a determined effort to show both that fighting was not regarded by the naval academy authorities as a grave offense and that midshipmen were not adequately informed as to fact of it being an offense. Commander Colvocoresses at the request of the judge advocate, laid before the court the gloves which had been given him as the ones worn by the participants in the fight and were almost without padding. Midshipman Harold V. McKittrick, a classmate of Branch, was then called.

Fighters Foul Each Other.

He acted as a second to Branch and said that the fight took place in Bancroft hall and the midshipmen officers made no report of it, that being according to the "code." The rounds were two minutes in duration with one minute intermissions. Early in the fight Branch had one eye closed, but up to the fifteenth round had something the better of it. Then Meriwether had it a little in his favor, till towards the end, when he appeared much fatigued and clinched to save himself. There were several minor fouls, none of which appeared intentional nor had any effect on the outcome of the fight. Once, toward the last, Meriwether fouled Branch by hitting in a clinch and offered to give up the fight, but this was not accepted by Branch and his seconds.

Another time Branch was on his knees and under the rules could have been hit, but Meriwether would not hit him. Both of these were points in Meriwether's favor. On cross-examination an effort was made to show by him that fights generally had the effect of bringing the ill-feeling to an end between the fighters. The witness said that it was always the custom to have a general handshaking at the close of the fight, and that this was done in this case.

Meriwether, he said, begged the pardon of Branch for the insulting language, he had used and the apology had been accepted. Other midshipmen connected with the fight were examined, but not all such length.

Tomorrow the medical officers, including Dr. J. M. Finney of Johns Hopkins university, Baltimore, who operated on Branch, will probably be called to testify.

GENEROUS BURGLARS GAVE MAN STREET CAR FARE

UNIONTOWN, PA., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—A daring holdup occurred yesterday afternoon near Leekrone. Two negro highwaymen relieved Thomas C. Matthews, a miner, of $28, and when he asked them to give him 20 cents for street car fare back here they granted the request.

SCORNED LOVER SEEKS REVENGE

Kills One Brother and Wounds Another of Girl Who Refuses His Love.

MAKES ESCAPE TO THE HILLS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NYACK, N. Y., Nov. 22.—Harry Britton, aged 18, was shot dead in his home here early this evening, and his brother Frank, aged 20, lies in a critical condition with two bullet wounds, which may prove fatal.

The tragedy grew out of the murderer's infatuation for the pretty sister of the boys, Miss Jessie Britton, 16 years old.

W. H. Jones, aged 35, is the slayer. For some time Jones has endeavored to pay attention to Jessie and wanted her to marry him. The girl repelled him, and her mother, who is a widow, objected to his coming to the house or having anything to do with her daughter. The girl's brothers emphasized the objections of the family to the man's attention and Jones became embittered against them.

This evening Jones called at the house and knocked at the front door. Harry Britton, the young brother, opened the door, and, seeing Jones standing at the threshold asked him what he wanted. Jones replied that he wanted to see Miss Britton and added something about shooting her. Harry remonstrated with the man, when Jones drew a revolver and shot the boy through the head.

Harry fell dead, and Frank then ran to the door. Jones fired two shots at him, wounding him badly, and then fled, leaving his hat behind.

Hundreds of citizens started out tonight to search for the murderer, who is believed to be hiding in the hills.

COMMISSIONERS BUY A LARGE NUMBER OF BONDS

Largest Purchase In Years Is Made by Sinking Fund Commission at Harrisburg.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, PA., Nov. 22.—The state board of sinking fund commissioners today bought $252,250 worth of state 4s at 105 and interest, from the Philadelphia Contributionship for the Insurance of Houses From Loss by Fire. This is the largest purchase of state bonds by the board in one day for many years, and is in line with its policy to take up all the bonds that are offered at this price.

Yesterday the board purchased $75,500 worth of bonds from Drexel & Company of Philadelphia, making the total purchases about $300,000 in the past three weeks. This board is composed of Secretary of the Commonwealth McAfee, Auditor General Snyder and State Treasurer Mathues.

The state treasurer today notified every financial institution in Pennsylvania in which the $4,000,000 surplus in the sinking fund is deposited, that they should put their affairs in such condition that they will be able to pay all sinking fund money at any time for the redemption of bonds.

PRESIDENT AMENDS CIVIL SERVICE RULES

Issues Executive Order to Make Laws Conform to the Changes Recently Made.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The President has issued an executive order amending the civil service rules in substance to conform to his recent order relative to the dismissal of employes in the classified service without hearing by direction of the President or head of an executive department. As laid down in the rule which is an amendment to civil service rule 8, this principle is prefaced by the following statement:

"No person shall be removed from a competitive position except for such cause as will promote the efficiency of the service."

Another difference from the order of October 17 is the substitution for the phrase "such removal will be made without hearing" of the words "such removal may be made without notice to such officer or employe." Another executive order just issued exempts from examination one examiner of tobacco and one examiner of tea in the Chicago custom house.

CHOOSE PITTSBURGH BOYS.

Local Yale Students Are Elected Members of the Junior Fraternities at Annual Election.

A number of Pittsburgh boys at Yale were elected members of the junior fraternities at the annual election last night. Donald Campbell Bakewell, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Bakewell, and George Burt Berger were elected from the class of '08, to the Alpha Delta Phi. Dwight Torrey Griswold of Erie, was chosen to the same fraternity.

Thomas Mercer Marshall, III., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Marshall, Jr., was elected a member of the Psi Upsilon frat, and Chauncey Merideth Du Puy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Du Puy of Allegheny, and Nathaniel Holmes, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Grier Holmes of Pittsburgh, were elected members of Delta Kappa Epsilon.

MISS ROOSEVELT IS ILL.

Need of Rest Said to Be Responsible for Her Condition, Which Is Not Serious.

HARTFORD, CONN., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—Miss Alice Roosevelt, the President's daughter, is ill at the home of Commander W. S. Cowles in Farmington. Mrs. Cowles is Miss Roosevelt's aunt and she has been there since Saturday last, arriving after the Harvard-Yale freshmen football game at Cambridge, where her brother Theodore, Jr., saw "strenuous life" on the Harvard side.

Miss Roosevelt's illness is not of a serious nature, and, although she is confined to her bed, it is more a demand for rest than anything else. Frequent communications with the White House notify the President's family of her condition.

GOULD'S NEW SECURITIES.

They Will Be Traded In on the New York Stock Exchange Hereafter.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(Special.)—On the recommendation of the committee on stock list of the New York stock exchange, new issues of Gould securities will henceforth be traded in on the exchange. They are $10,000,000 general lien and convertable 4 per cent 50-year gold bonds, and $15,685,400 capital stock of the Western Maryland Railroad Company.

The company on September 7, 1904, first listed its first mortgage 4 per cent bonds, an additional amount of which was listed today, making the total $33,184,000.

A STIRRING SERIAL FOR GAZETTE READERS

Beginning with the issue of tomorrow, November 24, The Gazette will start the publication of one of the most thrilling serials of recent years, "The Phantom Torpedo Boats," by "A. V.," author of "The Underground History," "The Revelations of an International Spy," etc. The story deals with the secret history of the Russo-Japanese war, and details some of the events leading up to the attack on the North sea fishing boats by the Baltic squadron. It is written in a style that cannot fail to hold the interest of the reader, as every chapter develops new situations. The inner workings of the foreign courts are laid bare, with all their intrigues and plots, one against the other.

"The Phantom Torpedo Boats" will be printed in the daily and Sunday Gazette, and readers should not miss a single issue. Be sure to order The Gazette so that you will get the entire story without interruption.

MONOPOLY HAS COUNCILS

It is not worth while to apply. We don't care to try again, although we would like very much to get a chance to do business in Pittsburgh and compete with the Allegheny County Light Company. The price they get from the city for street lighting is a mighty nice thing for the company. They charge the city $96 an arc light a year and we furnish arc lights of the same power to private consumers in Allegheny for $75 a year.

"If we had secured a franchise when we asked for it of Pittsburgh councils we would be ready to bid for the city light contract today and the city would be saving money."

The opinion is growing that the administration for the third time in three years will be compelled to abandon its plan to put a four-year light contract through councils and will agree to a one-year contract. Director Bigelow is holding conferences with the officials of the Allegheny County Light Company and says he will know before the public works committee meets just what will be done.

The South Side Electric Manufacturing Company promises to save the city $24 on every one of the 1,000 arc lights on the South Side if it is given a franchise by the city councils to put wires, poles and conduits in the streets. This statement was made yesterday by Louis Kimmel, one of the directors of the company, which will, on Monday, introduce in councils an ordinance granting it a franchise.

It has been ascertained that the Allegheny County Light Company, while charging Pittsburgh $96 an arc light, is supplying Wilkinsburg at the rate of $80 an arc light. Other boroughs of the county are being supplied by the company much cheaper than Pittsburgh.

The City Electric Company, which applied to the city councils for a franchise under the present administration about two years ago, and was refused the right to do business in the city, may make a second attempt. W. S. Miller, attorney for the company, has been discussing the matter with several members of councils. J. N. Pew, formerly a resident of Pittsburgh, but now of Philadelphia, is president of the company.

Mr. Miller said yesterday his company would like to have the franchise, but even should it get one now it would not be able to bid for the city contract before another year. An investigation has disclosed that the Duquesne Light Company is the only concern outside of the Allegheny County Light Company that has a franchise in the city.

MARSHALL FIELD, JR., MYSTERIOUSLY HURT

Son of Chicago Merchant Prince Is in Hospital and Family Won't Talk.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Marshall Field, Jr., is lying in Mercy hospital in this city, suffering from a gunshot wound, for which an operation was performed this evening. The wound is said to have been inflicted accidentally by Mr. Field himself, but details of the mishap have not been made public, and some friends of Mr. Field have aided by their reticence in investing the shooting with mystery. From the hospital comes the report that the operation was an abdominal one, performed by Dr. Arthur D. Bevans, in the presence of Dr. Frank Billings and others of the hospital staff. Word was sent out by one of the physicians that the wound was not serious and that Mr. Field would surely recover. Further than this the attaches of the hospital professed to know nothing of the circumstances of the shooting.

Sensational reports that Mr. Field had tried to take his own life were given no credence, because the nature of the wound was against that theory. Another story was that one of Mr. Field's valets accidentally discharged the gun while preparing the weapon for his master's hunting trip. No information as to the cause and nature of the mishap was given out by any members of the family. Marshall Field, Jr., is the only son of the merchant prince who recently married Mrs. Arthur Caton. He is of a retiring disposition and is not often in the public print.

MORTGAGE OF MILLIONS FILED BY NEW RAILROAD

Wheeling & Lake Erie Company Makes Arrangements to Carry Out Contemplated Improvements.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ZANESVILLE, O., Nov. 22.—A mortgage for $35,000,000 was filed with the county recorder this evening by the Wheeling & Lake Erie Railroad Company in favor of the Central Trust Company of New York City. This follows action of the stockholders at a meeting two months ago, and means that the vast improvements contemplated including new depots and additional terminal facilities here and in Cleveland, will be carried out.

It is given out that the new depot here is to be a double story structure, with an exit directly on the Fifth street viaduct. The mortgage also provides that an old indebtedness of $15,000,000 is to be paid off.

The mortgage covers the railroad company, the Wheeling, Lake Erie & Pittsburgh Coal Company of Pittsburgh, and the Toledo Dock Company of Toledo. George Gould, president of the Wabash recently visited this city and personally inspected the company's terminal properties here.

FORM NEW CLASSIS.

Two Foreign Congregations of Reformed Church to Have Their Own Organization.

At a meeting of the Allegheny classis of the Reformed church in the United States, held yesterday morning in Grace Reformed church, Dithridge and Bayard streets, permission was granted the First Hungarian Reformed congregation of Hazelwood and the Second congregation of Homestead to withdraw from the English classis and form one of their own. The new classis will be organized Tuesday, December 12, in the Hazelwood church, of which the Rev. Alexander Kalassy is pastor. The Rev. Alexander Harsanyi is pastor of the Homestead congregation.

At the meeting of the English classis the Rev. Louis Reiter of Meadville, who was recently transferred to the church at Harmony, was admitted as a member.

JUDGE PENFIELD RETURNS.

Declines to Talk of the Purpose of His Mission to Brazil for the President.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Judge William L. Penfield, solicitor of the department of state, arrived in Washington late last night, and reported at the state department today. Judge Penfield went to Brazil on a special mission for the president, and he called at the White House today to pay his respects and make a very brief report of his findings.

He declined to make public any statement whatever relative to these findings or to discuss in any way the subject matter of his mission. Ambassador Thompson, who returned on the same steamer from Brazil to this country, will remain in New York for a few days. It is believed that he desires a transfer to the City of Mexico.

SCHOOL BOARD IS WITH PROF. COTTON

Extends Sympathy to Teacher Who Is Victim of Angry Woman's Whip.

WILL INVESTIGATE FURTHER

Swissvale citizens who crowded about the office of Justice of the Peace Robert C. Smith by hand last night were disappointed when Mrs. George W. Fieldhouse waived a hearing and gave bail for court on the charge of assault and battery brought against her by Prof. Reardon E. Cotton of the High school. The people expected to hear all the details of the whipping which the woman administered to the teacher last Monday. There was more of an exciting nature at the Dennison school building, where the school board in special session investigated the affair.

At this meeting, W. C. Fawcett, chairman of the board, presided. All the directors were present. Mr. Fawcett told of a visit by Mrs. Fieldhouse to the Dennison school after the assault made by her on Prof. Cotton, in which she asked Miss Gertrude Ryan, a teacher, if her son had given her any trouble and told Miss Ryan of her attack on Prof. Cotton and showed the whip.

A motion of Mr. Addenbrook that sympathy be expressed to Prof. Cotton in his troubles passed. Mr. Addenbrook also moved that the directors institute a thorough investigation of the affair and that the parents, the boy and his classmates and all interested be called as witnesses. This was defeated.

Attorney Hayes, a member of the board, was asked if the board could take any legal action. He replied that it being a public building, no action for trespass could be instituted against Mrs. Fieldhouse neither could a charge of disorderly conduct be brought. He stated that under the act of 1895 defining disorderly conduct, which was written by Attorney E. E. Cotton, father of Prof. Cotton, disorderly conduct could only exist on the public highway or private property.

Immediately after the meeting and before the people departed an argument developed between Supt. Turrell, of the Swissvale schools, and George W. Fieldhouse, father of the boy, as to the discipline maintained in the school. The latter cooly held his seat, but Dr. W. T. Pyle, a member of the board told Prof. Turrel that if he did not hit Fieldhouse he would. Dr. Pyle pulled off his overcoat, threateningly, but friends interceded. During the excitement Mr. Fieldhouse left the building.

FRANCE STANDS PAT IN VENEZUELAN SPAT

Nearness of Warships Leads to Belief That Castro Intends to Modify His Attitude.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

PARIS, Nov. 22.—Inquiry at the foreign office today brought out the statement that the report that France accedes to President Castro's request to indicate what portions of the Venezuelan note to M. Taigny, the French charge d'affaires, are offensive is incorrect. The officials say the president has heretofore been completely informed regarding the offensive features of the note and therefore the report that France will give further explanations is characterized as "A bluff intended to delay and confuse the situation."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—With the French warships at Martinique, a day's cruise from Venezuelan waters, President Castro has begun to show signs of a possible intention to modify his attitude toward the French government so far as diplomatic relations between the two countries are concerned. Secretary Root is not yet in a position to make a formal announcement on the subject, but the tenor of the dispatches received thus far from Mr. Russell, the American minister at Caracas, is that President Castro seems now inclined to be responsive.

This government has never approved the language used by President Castro in his note to M. Taigny, the French charge, and its withdrawal will be a matter of satisfaction not alone at Paris, but at Washington also.

BRIDE WEEPS ALONE.

In First Flush of Joy Husband Is Torn from Her and Pines in Prison.

John Boni, an Italian who makes his home in Rankin, took to himself a wife yesterday afternoon, but had his honeymoon interrupted by being locked up in the Braddock police station, along with six of the guests who had been invited to attend the wedding. Boni was married in the Italian Roman Catholic church, Rankin. Arrangements were made for a reception to follow the ceremony and Shepherd's hall, Rankin, had been engaged and the necessary quantity of refreshments provided. It was understood and announced that the first dance was to be for the bridal party, including the bride and groom, the bride's maid and best man.

The band struck up a waltz and the quartet began to glide over the highly polished floor. But they were not alone. The other guests, about 75 in number, were unable to remain still with the inspiring strains of music filling the room, and they began to flock all over the floor. The groom and best man took offense at this and a general fight followed. A riot call was turned in to the Rankin police station and Chief of Police Walter Barnett responded with a squad of officers. He succeeded in placing the groom and six others under arrest. In the melee John Boni, the groom, received a bad cut on the shoulder; Mike Hocosh was cut on the right hand and bruised; Mike Ruschowich, a slight fracture of the skull. All were taken to the borough lockup while the bride wept for her husband.

GOVERNOR CANNOT SUPPLEMENT CALL

Pennypacker, in Reply to A. F. of L., Raises Point Regarding Special Session.

CONVENTION NEARS ITS END

Gov. Pennypacker, replying to the request of the American Federation of Labor that he issue a supplementary proclamation for the special session of the legislature to consider measures of interest to the miners, raises the question of the legality of adding to the original proclamation. The reply of the governor was read just before the convention adjourned last evening. It follows:

American Federation of Labor, Colonial Hotel, Pittsburgh.

Gentlemen—I have your letter of November 18, requesting that I issue a supplementary call for a special session of the legislature for the purpose of considering legislation defined in your resolution.

Have you consulted your counsel on the question whether or not under the constitution I have the power to make such a supplementary call?

Should such a call not be issued covering the subjects to which you refer, it is a satisfaction to me that there is now legislation after long consideration by the last session of the legislature, and that at my own suggestion a law as was passed creating the constabulary, which will in time, it is hoped, make the coal and iron police unnecessary. Yours very truly,

SAMUEL W. PENYNPACKER.

The letter was referred to the resolutions committee and will be acted upon today. The committee met last night to consider this letter and the reply of the Western Federation of Miners to President Gompers, which is another subject to be taken up today.

May Finish Today.

Unless there is too much debate on the brewery workers' troubles, the convention will end today. The election of officers is the most important business. It is not expected that there will be a contest for any office except that of seventh vice president. The retirement of John I. Kidd of the Woodworkers leaves the way clear for W. D. Huber of the Carpenters for fifth vice president. For the other position a contest is expected between W. J. Spencer, the incumbent, if he is a candidate for re-election, W. D. Mahon of the street railway men and Joseph P. Valentine of the molders. The defeat of Spencer in his fight against the steamfitters by a vote of over two to one is a card against him. Mahon starts with the support of the teamsters, which have over 700 votes in the convention, and his own organization, which has 300.

The next convention city will also be selected. Since the elimination of Denver from the race, Minneapolis is looking up. Lincoln, Neb., is not considered a factor. The western delegates, however, are not expected to be strong enough to overcome the sentiment in favor of a Canadian city, either Montreal or Toronto.

The troubles of the longshoremen and the seamen were debated at such length by a few speakers at the session yesterday afternoon that a majority of the delegates became seasick and left the hall for a few minutes at a time. The longshoremen opposed the report of the grievance committee, which ordered arbitration and that pending such action the longshoremen should discontinue the use of the name International Longshoremen, Marine and Transport Workers union, confining themselves to the simple title of Longshoremen. The debate assumed personal grounds.

Long, Tiresome Argument.

President Macarthur of the seamen opened for his side and was answered by Delegate Harrison of the longshoremen. Delegate Rosenberg of the seamen put in his oar for the greater part of an hour, and then President Keefe of the longshoremen took up nearly two hours, reading a mass of evidence in support of his case. It was during this tht the delegates went out for fresh air. Every class of workman from mule drivers on canals to men before the mast and captains of vessels was given due attention by Keefe. The hour of adjournment arrived and time was extended to allow Keefe to finish. He finally did and the convention, to shut off further debate, ordered the previous question.

The wrangle was kept up by delegates asking questions and finally Vice President Duncan ordered a vote. It seemed close and a roll call was demanded. There were 25 hands raised for it and it was not ordered, as it requires one-tenth of the 310 delegates to the convention to order one. Duncan ended the matter by declaring the committee report adopted. Keefe jumped to his feet and declared there would never be a meeting of the arbitrators, as his union would not agree to arbitration.

Brewery Workers Held Over.

This fight took up so much time that the brewery workers' differences were not reached. They were taken up in the morning and as a substitute for arbitration Secretary Morrison submitted a report that the different crafts in the brewery trade join their respective organizations. This was ordered printed and the matter went over until afternoon, but the seamen and longshoremen's fight was on then. The fight will be taken up this morning.

President Gompers vacated the chair at the morning session and Vice President James Duncan took his place for the reports of committees were made in the morning. That on the president's report was favorable to all its recommendations and was adopted.

Just previous to adjournment last evening a telegram was received from the Western Federation of Miners, stating they had sent a letter in reply to charges made against it by President Gompers. If they did not satisfy the convention a request was made that a sight draft for $1,000 contributed by the Federation be drawn and it would be honored at once.

Last night a number of social affairs and smokers were given for the delegates. The musicians held open house at their headquarters in Wood street. The carpenters gave a banquet for their national officers in Arnfeld's hall. The Young Men's Tariff club also gave a night in Bohemia, which was attended by a number of delegates. The Pattern Makers association held an entertainment for its delegates at the St. Charles hotel. William Mosses, secretary of the United Kingdom Patternmakers of England, and President James Wilson made addresses.

Tonight the carpenters will give another big smoker and entertainment in Kenwood lawn. A number of lodges of the East End have united to make it a success. Tomorrow night a mass meeting of teamsters will be held in Arnfeld's hall, 1211 Penn avenue. Con. P. Shea of Boston, president of the teamsters, and others, will speak.

DECISIONS ARE GIVEN IN PURE FOOD CASES

Three dealers charged with violation of the pure food laws paid forfeits of $50 each to Alderman Groetzinger yesterday morning. They were Max Arnold, charged with selling cherries containing a coal tar dye and benzoic acid; X. J. W. Burns, McKeesport, charged with selling potted ham, containing boric acid, and S. Walker, Homestead, charged with selling milk containing formaldehyde. Henry Reuter and George Brineliger of 821 Walnut street, McKeesport, charged with selling jelly containing benzoic acid, and W. H. H. Friend and G. W. Schilling, charged with selling cherries containing benzoic acid and a coal tar dye, were held for court. Four other cases were continued until November 28.

Farewell Reception for Mr. Francis.

A farewell reception will be tendered to Joseph Calvin Francis by the Cambrian society of Pittsburgh at the New Congregational church, Bithridge street, this evening at 8 o'clock. Mr. Francis was the corresponding secretary of this society, but resigned at the last regular meeting. He and his wife are leaving for Colorado this week. The program for tonight includes orchestral, instrumental and vocal music. Delegations from the Cambrian society of Homestead will be in attendance.

AN ITALIAN IS HURT WHEN CARS COLLIDED

In a collision of two Brighton road cars at Brighton road and Mary street, Allegheny, at 6:30 yesterday morning, the passengers were badly shaken up and both cars damaged. John Hunko, an Italian, had his arm severely cut by broken glass. The first car was standing at the corner at the foot of a grade and, owing to the heavy fog, was not seen by the motorman of the second car in time to avert the crash. Fifteen Italians were in the first car, but with the exception of Hunko, none were hurt.

Deaths Numbered 130 During Week.

There were 130 deaths in the city last week, as against 137 in the same week last year. The principal causes were: Typhoid fever 12, pneumonia 17, consumption 9, scarlet fever 6, apoplexy and paralysis 6, and violence 13. Twenty-seven were children under one year. During the week there were reported 70 cases of typhoid fever, 28 of scarlet fever and 14 cases of diphtheria.

In his testimony before the Hughes committee, Mr. Tarbell stated the Pittsburgh agency of the Equitable society is the most productive of any connected with the organization. This tends again to put Pittsburgh in its proper rank, as it is not in census reports. The city is a leader in industry and a center of wealth.

William S. Manning, otherwise Senator Depew's "rambunctious friend up the river," said one day he could tell things if put on the stand in the insurance investigation; next day he had been subpenaed by Mr. Hughes. Now he may tell. No one will hold his breath until the evidence is in, but everybody is prepared to listen. What about the legislature at Albany?

Secretary Bishop of the Panama canal commission suggests a canal with locks on the 30-foot level as the probable choice of commission and President. That sort of canal may fall short of the perfection of the sea level waterway recommended by the majority of the consulting engineers, but it will be a vast improvement over sailing "around the Horn."

The news that American promoters are endeavoring to secure a concession from the authorities of Venice for a modern transportation service of electric motorboats is a bit shocking to romantic lovers of the Queen of the Adriatic, but illustrative of American business enterprise. The gondola is poetical, but slow, and it is believed the swift electric boats would be well patronized by tourists, especially since their owners could afford to make the rates lower than those charged by the gondoliers. Venice with motorboats is not much worse, after all, than Jerusalem with trolley cars.

The decision of officials of the Pennsylvania lines west that not only engineers, but firemen, must have a thorough understanding of the mechanism of a locomotive, is a step in the right direction. Engineers and firemen should be familiar with all the parts of the locomotive and methods of emergency repair, as such knowledge will often prevent long delays on the road. Aside from this fact, the mechanical training which it is proposed to give the men will add to their general effectiveness. The more a man knows, the more he is worth to his employer.

An uncalled for sensation has been made out of the dispossession of an old lady residing on the South Side by the Jones & Laughlin Company. The proceedings on the part of the company were ordinary and by court process. The occupant of the property was a trespasser, has been removed, but has not been misused in any manner. Similar incidents are of almost daily occurrence. The report of the occurrence sent out to eastern newspapers by unreliable correspondents was in line with other fake stories emanating from the same sources and calculated to cast discredit upon the city of Pittsburgh.

The people of Alaska who propose to hold an international exposition in that far-away region are certainly ambitious. Possibly the report is not quite accurate, and the idea is to hold not an international exposition, but one devoted exclusively to Alaskan products and industries. This would be decidedly interesting, and with the increasing tide of summer travel northward and the inducement of low rates, a large number of visitors should be attracted to the show. Alaska has possibilities that are not generally appreciated and it would be well worth their while for more of our investors to take the trip.

The American charge d'affaires at St. Petersburg sends important information regarding the czar's grant of land to peasants. During the year 1906 payments on land granted the peasants will be diminished one-half, and they will cease entirely January 1, 1907, when the peasants become absolute owners. Those who have not taken up land, for lack of funds, will receive advances of money for this purpose. Whatever the motive which inspired the czar to this liberal action, and it has been called a clever piece of political policy, its benefits to the Russian peasantry are too obvious for comment.

Public Lighting.

Two companies will probably ask for franchises to furnish electric light in Pittsburgh, and the president of a third says it would apply if it had any reason to expect fair treatment. Mr. Geyer's story of the way in which his offer of 3 per cent on gross receipts was rejected, while the "reform" administration lent its influence for the grant of a free franchise to another company that has made no effort to do business, is a part of the disgraceful history of Citizens party control.

Some encouragement is drawn from the result of the recent county election, by companies in a position to compete for the city lighting contract. Of course, it is realized the same machine is in control that has rejected all offers of public compensation for franchises, but it is felt it may try to be decent for a couple of months in the hope of winning the coming city campaign. It is a favorable moment for urging competing ordinances, including fair compensation clauses.

In respect to the contract for public lighting that is soon to be made, it can be said without the fear of successful contradiction the city has been paying an exorbitant price for arc lamps. The rate could be greatly reduced and remain profitable. Under these circumstances a long-term contract at the old rates would be inexcusable. It is not important to the people whether the lights are furnished by one company or another, but it is of great importance that they should be furnished at a fair price.

Appalling Excesses.

Reports now coming from Russia describing the excesses of the peasants in the provinces are simply appalling. The rioting done by workmen in the towns produced horrible results, but the outburst of the peasants in the provinces is worse. It is the penalty inflicted on rural Russia for the fostering of ignorance and superstition. By popular ignorance and superstitions that appear grotesque to enlightened peoples, the Russian peasantry has been kept in leash for centuries by the autocracy and the priests. Now the bond has burst the mob is uncontrollable, for it has no reason.

For the outrages committed on the Jews there is no such excuse. Cossacks led the attacks and police were chief among the looters. The classes that should have protected peaceful subjects have been their tormentors. They have written a chapter of ineradicable shame for their country. They have brought upon thousands of law-abiding men, women and children misery and deprivation indescribable—despair that is deprived of the hope of law and order. The relief of these thousands is left to the sympathetic and charitable of foreign lands. The Gazette fund shows the people of Western Pennsylvania are responding.

If King Alfonso Comes.

Friends of Spain's youthful king say he is seriously contemplating a visit to this country next summer, his final decision awaiting the opinion of his learned counselors, who have not yet spoken their mind in the matter. Alfonso has recently visited England, France, Germany and Austria, and delights in travel. In view of the young king's decision to wed, and his evident inability to find a desirable matrimonial partner in Europe, his reported inclination to tour the United States is significant. A visit to this country from one who is not only a king and youthful, but unmarried, opens up a long vista of glittering possibilities to American society. The visit of Prince Henry, and more recently of Princes Louis and Alexander, simply raised "society" to the seventh heaven of delight. But a real live king, hunting a wife! The police forces of Washington and New York would have to be doubled. The poor little fellow would be dined and wined and feted to death. If his counselors are wise, they will wait at least until Alfonso marries before advising him to land on our shores.

But if Alfonso refuses to listen to advice and decides to have a look at America, he can profit much by a careful study of Prince Louis' career in this country and learn just what to avoid. Of course, he will give New York dentists a wide berth, unless he has a few thousand-dollar bills to throw away, but why not avoid New York altogether? It is a very small and unrepresentative part of the United States, anyway. As the home of the high handshake and the Gotham accent it has some pretensions to style, and on the opening night of grand opera makes a pretty good display of 16-candle power diamonds, but it conveys to the stranger a meager idea of what America is. Let Alfonso come to Pittsburgh and see where the work is done. Then, if he has time, he can run out to Chicago, sniff the stockyards and take a view of the city from the Masonic temple. Denver and the Rocky mountains, also, are worth seeing, it is said, but Alfonso could profitably put in his whole time in Pittsburgh. Incidentally, there are more pretty girls in Pittsburgh than in any other two American cities, and we don't believe the sole purpose of Alfonso's visit will be to look at the scenery.

The East vs. the West.

The suggestion that the winning teams of the east and the west should play one game to decide the football championship of the United States, is made each season by western colleges and as regularly opposed by representatives of eastern institutions. Unless all calculations should be rudely upset next Saturday at Cambridge, Yale is easily the eastern champion this year. In the west, Michigan undoubtedly holds the palm today. To the proposal that these teams shall meet, say in Chicago or New York, Yale men reply they would have everything to lose and nothing to gain by such a contest; that while the chances of their winning are overwhelmingly in the majority, some fluke might cause their defeat, and there is no use running the risk. Michigan men, of course, are eager to show their mettle and would welcome the opportunity. There are some differences between eastern and western methods of playing the game, due to the varying ideas of coaches, and such a meeting would afford experts grounds for some most interesting deductions.

Those lovers of football who advocate a Yale-Michigan game as a demonstration of whether eastern or western brawn is the mightier, should remember the eastern teams are largely made up of western men, while western teams are composed of men from their own immediate locality. Yale, Harvard and Princeton have the pick of men from every section of the country. This year's captain of Yale is a Minneapolis man, and several members of the team are from western states. No one denies a game between Michigan and Yale would be worth going many miles to witness, but any deductions drawn from the result as to the respective physical powers of the easterner and the westerner would be guess work.

Road Fund Deficiency.

Controller Cunningham's defense of the county against an imaginary aspersion on its finances was not called for. No one had intimated the county is in danger of bankruptcy—merely that a deficiency exists in the road fund. Mr. Cunningham states the balance in the road fund is $42,000. Against this, accepted estimates aggregating more than $291,000 are outstanding. This implies an existing deficiency of nearly $250,000. Salaries and necessary expenditures for the remainder of the year will consume the $42,000. Construction under way, not yet in the form of accepted estimates, will add another $500,000.

Under these circumstances the strictures of Commissioner Charles B. Price are altogether in place. The fact that other funds are in the county treasury, including sinking funds, has nothing to do with the case. The road fund is not enriched thereby. It is more pertinent that Controller Cunningham is accused of accepting road estimates without keeping an accurate record of them. The real question before the people, on which the commissioners desire advice, is whether the old rate of road building shall be increased, decreased or stopped during next year.

Shop Early.

With Thanksgiving not yet arrived, it may seem somewhat early to speak of Christmas shopping, that necessary preliminary to what has been termed "the great annual swap," but it is really not a bit too soon for the beginning of this important and by no means unpleasant duty. Considerations of prudence, in view of the inevitable rush which will set in two or three weeks later, should impel shoppers to early action, but there are additional and altruistic reasons why the matter should not be delayed. All the buying of presents which can be done as well now as later should take place in order to lighten the burdens of the store employes. Despite the additional help employed by the shops during the last two weeks of the Christmas rush, the energies of each individual clerk are strained to the utmost. A little unselfish planning now on the part of patrons will appreciably alleviate the Christmas week troubles of the men and women behind the counter.

The early shopper loses nothing from taking time by the forelock. All the progressive merchants in hustling cities like Pittsburgh and Allegheny have complete, unbroken lines of Christmas goods this early in the season, as a glance at the advertising columns of The Gazette, the chief medium for such announcements, will show. Employers and employes have an especially warm welcome for the early shopper. If it is the early bird that is rewarded with the fat worm, there are correspondingly appropriate benefits awaiting the early shopper. Less than five weeks remain before Christmas day.

Swiss guides are to be imported to explore the Rockies in an endeavor to popularize mountaineering in this country, so we shall possibly have one outdoor pastime that is more fatal than football.

When it was originally written "rambunctious," why do so many esteemed contemporaries persist in printing it "rantankerous" or "cantankerous?" The original word is most euphonious.

The janitor of an insurance company building in New York received $26,000 a year. The elevator man probably didn't get more than United States senators.

The football reformers might also reform some of the songs sung on the grand stands while they are about it. They cannot be called true poetry.

In a duel at Paris yesterday one of the participants received the sort of an injury which, in American football reports, is described as "trifling."

"Mr. Depew's rambunctious friend" goes on the stand today, and promises to be as meek as a lamb.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS ON WAYS OF WORLD

What Is the Cause of All This Worry and Hubbub in Life?

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Why do people worry and fret and fume, wear their nerves out, enslave themselves, and finally die with nothing to show they had ever lived?

This is what puzzles the philosopher. He sees so much in life that is worth living for, and then turns and sees so many intelligent beings rushing madly along, each trying to grasp wealth, fame, or that which they call pleasure.

He looks more closely and finds that the gambling spirit possesses the masses. The average man is so svaricious that he is willing, even anxious, to accept something for nothing, which is the primary element of the disposition to gamble.

Men whom he thought above this, men who would not bet on a game of cards, a horse race or a prize fight, whether in the ring or on the gridiron, will cheerfully and apparently conscientiously, bet on the rise or fall of stocks, wheat or pork.

The philosopher knows, and can understand that what one man gains is a loss to another, so that it is a skin game, pure and simple. One man is complimented on his winnings, is heralded as a successful financier, and pointed out as one of the wealthy set, but this only brings out more strongly the losses, the miseries, and the needs of those who lost in the game.

He meets a successful man, one who is accounted particularly shrewd, but when he investigates his shrewdness he discovers that it consists in his ability to take advantage of one man's simplicity and the credulity of another. He buys from one at less than real value, and sells to another at more than real value, pockets the difference, which he labels earnings.

Can you feel surprised when the philosopher tells you that he is worried and troubled more or less?

* * *

If you could get on some high place, a sort of Olympus, from which you could look down upon the whole city, and see the people rushing hither and thither, you would be strongly reminded of a colony of ants.

But if you could read the impulses and motives of each you would find that the spirit of man differs vastly from that of the ant. Instead of working for the good of the entire colony, as does the ant, you would find that man is working for himself, and not averse to taking that which belongs to his neighbor, in a business way.

Were you high enough above the city you would understand what the poet meant by the madding crowd, particularly if you could feel the impulses, and comprehend the motives of the individuals composing this tangled, writhing mass of humanity.

The chances are that ere you left high Olympus you would have concluded that the average man is a gambler, and that his ruling desire is to get all that his neighbor claims as his own.

* * *

Will this money madness ever cease, or ever be controlled? Will man go on forever seeking riches, clamoring for money, deceiving himself with the notion that success is measured by wealth, and happiness counted in dollars and cents?

The philosopher contends that it is the special province, the highest duty of the teacher and the preacher to combat this false spirit by teaching the young that riches do not bring joys, that money is not the source of happiness, and that success does not mean the accumulation of great wealth.

Are these instructors and leaders of the people doing this?

The show of wealth in churches and schools leads the common people, and the young, to believe that the chief aim in life is to get money.

Can you wonder, then, that so many of those educated in schools, and preached to in churches feel that they must get money, if not by fair means, then by foul, just so they get money?

Mr. Quiet Observer—I would like to answer "Miss Lizzie" of Irwin, through your column of Quiet Observations regarding the question of matrimony.

Not with the intention of solving the problems of happy marriages or unhappy divorces, but to demonstrate to "Miss Lizzie" that she has not solved it to my satisfaction, and I am one of that vast army of poor, weak men that she expects to attain such a high standard.

I admire the grand, lofty ideals that "Miss Lizzie" has set for the husband and wife, but I don't think it is to her credit to have three proposals on her list. That is not the kind of a pedigree we poor, weak men are looking for. And she is so sanguine of not dying an old maid. Don't advertise that three proposal business, "Lizzie," or you will have all the boys afraid of you.

I would not like to say she is a flirt without knowing a little more about her. And I don't want to think that she would trifle with such a sacred thing as a man's affections. But a man generally does not ask a girl to marry him until they are on such intimate terms that he thinks he has a right to ask her such a question,—or unless she has given him enough encouragement to make him pretty confident that the answer will be yes, unless he is a fool and does not know when he has a stand-in. One of these three men may have been such a big fool. But there surely would not be three men fools enough to bite on the same bait without some encouragement.

In the second place, I must confess to having a curiosity to know the girl that requires such a high standard of excellence in the man that shall be fortunate enough to win her heart and hand.

I think a safe rule to follow in solving this problem of marriage and divorce would be for us all just to follow the inclination of our natural affections, tempered by conscience, and then marry those we love, and then stick to them through thick and thin.

"For this cause shall a man leave father and mother, and shall cleave to his wife, and they twain shall be one flesh. What therefore God hath joined together let no man put asunder."

And if you ever become a wife, and wish to be put wise as to how to keep a man in a good humor and even tempered, just "feed the brute."

HOW BRAVELY NOW.

How bravely now I face the marching days,
With youth's strong armor to defy the years!
Naught now I know of the sharp sting of years,
Nor of the bleak and solitary ways
Where Sorrow calls her children. Naught dismays
My April spirit; and the night appears
Like some far-distant prospect without tears.
Youth, youth, is mine, and youth's strong, fearless gaze.

But when the twilight shall at length abide,
And I have neared the shadowy bourne and vast,
How will it be? * * * Shall the night overcast
My soul, and shall my sword have rusty sided?
Back to its scabbard? * * * Nay, when youth has died,
Old Age shall take me tenderly at last.

BRAINS OF BUSINESS STARS OF NO VALUE

Scientist Says Desire to Amass Wealth Has No Effect on Growth of Intellect.

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Now that J. A. Bottle, widely known on the stage as "Datas, the memory wonder," has sold his brain to a well-known specialist on mental diseases of this city for less than $1,000, the question arises, would science be benefited by dissection after death of the brains of such well-known personages as John D. Rockefeller, Russell Sage, Mrs. Hetty Green, Bernard Shaw, Andrew Carnegie and J. Pierpont Morgan? This is what Dr. Carleton Simon, to whom Datas agreed to will his brain, had to say regarding the brain of Mr. Rockefeller:

"The brain of an intellectual 'freak' like Datas is worth 100 per cent more to science than Mr. Rockefeller's. Science would value Mr. Rockefeller's brain as a relic, just as you may say, a chair which belonged to George Washington. The brains of Russell Sage and Mrs. Hetty Green, like that of Mr. Rockefeller, are those of warped mentalities. Their desire to amass wealth shows no great amount of intellectuality, and, therefore, no effect on the shape or growth of the brain."

Andrew Carnegie's brain was declared to be perfectly normal. In this instance the explanation was made that he had amassed his fortune by true business methods, and, having gained untold wealth, his normal brain had realized that its retention was unjust, and he had struck a balance by giving away libraries. In doing so, according to the specialist, he was training the mind of the public to appreciate the dangers of amassing great wealth. The brain of Mr. Morgan was classed as normal and of no great value to science. Like Mr. Carnegie, it was pointed out, he equalized his fortune by lavish living and clear and sane investments, the latter made, in the main, to protect his own interests.

Public Mourning for Jewish Dead.

With muffled drums, draped in mourning and playing dirges, 6,000 men will start from 98 Forsythe street at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning and march through the streets, stopping at all of the synagogues on the East Side, where prayers are to be offered for the welfare of the Jews in Russia. This parade will be followed by a benefit given at the Thalia theater in the afternoon, where "The Rioters of Kishineff" is being played, and in the evening a monster mass meeting will be held at the Windsor theater to protest against the treatment of the Jews in the czar's kingdom.

Husband With Negative Value.

Mrs. Kate Mueller, who keeps a restaurant and has prospered considerably, had her husband, Valentine, in the Lee Avenue court to day and charged him with being a nuisance. "I have got a little restaurant," said Mrs. Mueller, "and this big loafer keeps annoying me. He acts so he drives customers away. I can lick him any time, but down at my place there is always a knife or a club around, and I'm afraid if I get started at him I'll kill him. Now, judge, I've got $2,000 in the bank, and he wants me to give him half of it. I'll promise, judge, to give him $500 of this and allow him $4 a week if he'll keep away." And thus the case was settled.

President Will Touch Button.

The electrical exhibition to be held at Madison Square garden for two weeks, beginning December 12, will be formally opened, it is announced by the President, who, by the pressure of a button in the White House, will set in motion the machinery. The exhibition in addition to modern electrical machinery for securing maximum power from minimum expenditure in industrial work, will include practically all the latest electrical devices of a popular nature, from electric heating, lighting and cooking apparatus to motion pictures and talking machines. A complete electric kitchen, where will be cooked the food served in the restaurant, will be one of the features.

President's Relative Arrives.

When the Red Star liner Finland from Antwerp docked here today one of the first persons to descend the gangplank was a tall, slender woman, wearing unusually handsome sable furs and carrying a silken-haired Pomeranian spaniel. She was Miss Carow, a sister-in-law of President Roosevelt, on her way from her villa in San Mauricio, Italy, to spend several months at the White House. She was accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. M. L. Moore. No one was at the pier to meet her, the ship having docked earlier than was expected.

Cash for Hanna Memorial.

Subscriptions to the $100,000 fund of establishing a memorial chair to the late Senator Mark A. Hanna in the Western Reserve university are being rapidly received. W. G. Oswall, secretary of the association, is at the Hotel Manhattan in the interest of the fund. It is designed to establish a chair of political science in memory of the senator. Senator Hanna's home city, Cleveland, has contributed the bulk of the sum desired, and the balance is being rapidly made up by outside contributions.

Curzon claimed that this striker, named Spero, had taken two bags of sugar and a bag of starch from his wagon this morning.

FIRST CANDIDACY OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN

In the Matter of Sangamon River Improvements Found His First Opportunity.

Helen Nicolay in "The Boy's Life of Abraham Lincoln," in the December number of St. Nicholas, has this to say of Lincoln's first opportunity in politics:

"The people of New Salem, like those of all other western towns, took a keen interest in politics; 'politics' meaning in that time and place, not only who was to be president or governor, but concerned itself with questions which came much closer home to dwellers on the frontier. 'Internal improvements,' as they were called—the building of roads and clearing out of streams so that men and women who lived in remote places might be able to travel back and forth and carry on trade with the rest of the world—became a burning question in Illinois. There was great need of such improvements; and in this need young Lincoln saw his opportunity.

"It was by way of the Sangamon river that he entered politics. That uncertain water-course had already twice befriended him. He had floated on it in floodtime from his father's cabin into Springfield. A few weeks later its rapidly falling waters landed him on the dam at Rutledge's mill, introducing him effectively if unceremoniously, to the inhabitants of New Salem.

Start in Political Career.

"Now it was again to play a part in his life, starting him on a political career that ended only in the White House. Surely no insignificant stream has had a greater influence on the history of a famous man. It was a winding and sluggish creek, encumbered with driftwood and choked by sand-bars; but it flowed through a country already filled with ambitious settlers, where the roads were atrociously bad, becoming in rainy seasons wide seas of pasty black mud, and remaining almost impassable for weeks at a time. After a devious course the Sangamon found its way into the Illinois river, and that in turn flowed into the Mississippi. Most of the settlers were too new to the region to know what a shallow, unprofitable stream the Sangamon really was; for the deep snows of 1830-31 and of the following winter had supplied it with an unusual volume of water. It was natural, therefore, that they should regard it as the heaven-sent solution of their problem of travel and traffic with the outside world. If it could only be freed from driftwood, and its channel straightened a little, they felt sure it might be used for small steamboats during a large part of the year.

"The candidates for the legislature that summer staked their chances of success on the zeal they showed for 'internal improvements.' Lincoln was only 23. He had been in the county barely nine months. Sangamon county was then considerably larger than the whole state of Rhode Island, and he was of course familiar with only a small part of it or its people; but he felt that he did know the river. He had sailed on it and had been shipwrecked by it; he had, moreover, been one of a party of men and boys, armed with long-handled axes, who went out to chop away obstructions and meet a small steamer that, a few weeks earlier, had actually forced its way up from the Illinois river.

Announces His Candidacy.

"Following the usual custom, he announced his candidacy in the local newspaper in a letter dated March 15, addressed 'To the People of Sangamon County.' It was a straightforward, manly statement of his views on questions of the day, written in as good English as that used by the average college-bred man of his years. The larger part of it was devoted to arguments for the improvement of the Sangamon river. Its main interest for us lies in the frank avowal of his personal ambition that is contained in the closing paragraph.

"'Every man is said to have his peculiar ambition,' he wrote. 'Whether it be true or not, I can say, for one, that I have no other so great as that of being truly esteemed of my fellowmen by rendering myself worthy of their esteem. How far I shall succeed in gratifying this ambition is yet to be developed. I am young, and unknown to many of you. I was born, and have ever remained, in the most humble walks of life. I have no wealthy or popular relations or friends to recommend me. My case is thrown exclusively upon the independent voters of the county; and if elected, they will have conferred a favor upon me for which I shall be unremitting in my labors to compensate. But if the good people in their wisdom shall see fit to keep me in the background, I have been too familiar with disappointments to be very much chagrined.'"

Lincoln's Integrity.

Frederick Trevor Hill in his article, "Lincoln the Lawyer," in the December Century, speaking of his integrity, writes:

"No man ever believed in his calling more thoroughly than Lincoln, and he had no patience with the much-mouthed charge that honesty was not compatible with its practice. 'Let no young man choosing the law for a calling yield to that popular belief,' he wrote. 'Resolve to be honest, at all events. If, in your judgment, you cannot be an honest lawyer, resolve to be honest without being a lawyer. Choose some other occupation rather than one in the choosing of which you do, in advance, consent to be a knave.'

"If the writer of those lines abated anything of his boyish integrity under the stress of the workaday duties of the law, his theories in regard to its practice are neither interesting nor instructive. But if he lived them out and proved them practical, they are of the first importance, and they have a direct bearing upon his much-disputed place in the profession. In either event, however, it is fair to test Lincoln the lawyer by his own standards, to inquire whether his conduct as a member of the bar conformed to the reputation which he earned as a clerk in Offutt's store, to compare his professional ethics with his private principles, to ascertain whether he compromised with his conscience in the interests of his clients, and to judge his legal career accordingly."

STORIES FOUND IN THE LOBBIES

Interesting Happenings Concerning the People Who Are Traveling.

Twenty-seven members of the senior class of the engineering school connected with the University of Wisconsin arrived in the city last night for a three-day study of industrial and economic conditions in and about Pittsburgh. The party is headed by three members of the university faculty, including H. J. Thorkelson, professor of mechanical engineering; M. C. Beebe, associate professor of electrical engineering, and G. C. Shand, assistant professor of electrical engineering. Accompanying the engineering students are two fellows in economics of the university, J. L. Coulter and E. B. Smith. The latter will make an especially close study of the economic side of industrial operations, while the engineering men will visit a number of large steel mills, glass plants and other concerns. The party has already visited Niagara Falls, Buffalo and Dunkirk, N. Y., having come from the latter place last night. The entire party is registered at the Hotel Antler.

Druggists Have Good Meeting.

Members of the Western Pennsylvania Retail Druggists Association, Inc., attended an interesting meeting at the Hotel Colonial last evening. Col. Jesse B. Duble of New York, the silver-tongued exponent of principles of the National Association of Retail Druggists, was the honor guest, and delivered an enthusiastic address. Addresses were made by a number of the members. The meeting was in the form of a luncheon and smoker. H. J. Siegfried, president of the Western Pennsylvania association, presided at the business session, and Secretary B. E. Pritchard was toastmaster. The meeting was well attended.

New Use for Glass.

The use of glass for the dressing of wounds as put in practice by Dr. Aymard of Paris, is so sensible and simple a proposition that the wonder is it was not invented ages ago. The glass may be curved in any fashion to suit the shape of the wounded part, and, when applied, gives the physician opportunity to see the condition of the hurt without removal, as is necessary with a bandage of cloth and lint. Dr. Aymard asserts, moreover, that the wound heals more rapidly under glass than when dressed with lint, as he has proved by many experiments. If this be true, and there is no reason for doubt, it will soon be a matter of general practice and will revolutionize the treatment of wounds.—Baltimore American.

A Road Suggestion.

It is proposed to construct a macadamized road, 440 miles long, across the state of New York from New York city to Buffalo. The road will pass through the interior cities of Albany, Utica, Syracuse and Rochester, thus providing for the greater convenience of urban as well as rural communities. It would give greater immediate utility to our scheme of patchwork road improvement in Pennsylvania if such a road as is proposed in New York should be extended from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh, with a branch to Lake Erie.—Philadelphia Record.

Of Mutual Benefit.

Probably one of the most pleasant pieces of news received in Charleroi since the founding of the town was the information received here yesterday afternoon that the contract had been let for the new river bridge to be constructed at North Charleroi by the Mercantile Bridge Company. It is doubtful if any enterprise that could have come to our city would have stirred up the enthusiasm that this one did, for it means to Charleroi practically as much as a new factory of large proportions.—Charleroi Mail.

Not a Complete Law.

The statement of Mayor McClellan that he did not spend any money in his canvass for re-election may be truthful enough, but it is not satisfactory. What the public would like to know is how much the Tammany organization expended for him. The law that only requires a statement from the candidates is incomplete.—Philadelphia Press.

No Reciprocal Entertainment.

Prince Louis did not express himself with much enthusiasm about the prize fight arranged for his entertainment. It is not likely that he will try to reciprocate at some future time by having Heidelberg students carve one another in a series of duels for the entertainment of eminent Americans.—Washington Star.

Ought to Have Lost Him.

PRICE AND KIRKER ARE HONOR MEN IN THE RACE

Official Count of the Votes in the County Is Completed—Plummer Is Given Plurality of Almost 29,000 Over Berry.

The official count of the vote cast at the general election on November 7 has at last been completed. It shows this county gave J. Lee Plummer, the Republican candidate for state treasurer, a plurality of 28,804 over William H. Berry, the Democratic-Prohibition candidate. Berry has a plurality over Plummer in the state of 88,250.

The vote in the county was very heavy. The total cast for state treasurer was 114,938. The last presidential vote was 113,466. Berry received 5,321 votes in the Lincoln column. This party had estimated its strength at 15,000. In the Democratic column Berry got 30,882 votes. This poll will be of assistance to Col. J. M. Guffey when it comes to electing Democratic state delegates. It will give the county at least 31 votes in the convention and make it the largest delegation. In Philadelphia the Democrats gave Berry 29,858 votes. In the Quaker City he received the big end of his votes from the Lincoln party.

Charles B. Price, a Republican candidate for commissioner, received the highest vote on the county ticket. J. Denny O'Neill, the fusion candidate for recorder, had the honor place on his ticket. There is friendly dispute between W. B. Kirker and Mr. Price on the question of pluralities. Kirker defeated Mentel by 6,412 votes. He holds that Price's plurality is got by comparing the vote of Price and Clark. This gives Price a plurality of 5,917. Price says his plurality should be ascertained by taking the difference between his vote and that of Alexander Dempster. By this plan of figuring Price leads with a plurality of 7,902. Republican County Chairman T. J. Ford was asked to decide the dispute and he said: "I am out of politics." Price received 2,524 more votes than Campbell.

The totals for the three cities were not made separately and until this is done it will be impossible to learn the exact plurality of the Citizens over the Republicans in Pittsburgh.

Below are the tables showing the vote for state and county officers and the pluralities of the winners. The first table gives the vote for state candidates as follows:

ACCUSED OF AIDING A RELATIVE'S ESCAPE

Adelson Is Charged With Conspiracy Because Father-in-Law Jumped His Bail.

Charged with conspiracy to aid his father-in-law to jump his bail and escape trial for the alleged burning of his store, Isaac J. Adelson, a bookkeeper who resides at 149 Crawford street, was arrested last night and lodged in jail, later to be released on $3,000 bail.

On October 1, the jewelry store of Samuel Shamberger was burned in Butler, Pa., the building and the stock remaining in the store being destroyed. Both were heavily insured. The police claim the expensive part of the stock was removed the night before the fire. The peculiar circumstances surrounding the fire led to the arrest of Shamberger.

Adelson is the son-in-law of Shamberger, and is alleged to have persuaded Samuel Lando, a Pittsburgh merchant, to go on his father-in-law's bail bond for $3,000. Lando accommodated the young man, but soon after his release Shamberger disappeared. Lando believes the son-in-law knows of Shamberger's whereabouts and it is claimed that Adelson was seen with Shamberger, after the father-in-law disappeared from Butler.

The charge of conspiracy against Adelson is made by Lando, who wishes to have Shamberger brought to trial and his $3,000 saved. Adelson was in jail only an hour or two last night until he was released on bail. He was committed by Alderman Reilly, and gets a hearing today.

OLD SCHOOL HOUSE BELL IN BED OF PINE CREEK

Workmen engaged in excavating for the bridge for the Pittsburgh & Butler street railway in Etna yesterday found the old Etna school house bell, which has been imbedded in Pine creek for over two years. The bell, which is over 80 years old, was hung in the first school house of Etna. Later it did service as a fire bell on the West Etna hose house, which was washed away by a flood in 1903. At that time a search was made along the creek for the bell, but no trace of it was found until yesterday, when it was found 300 yards below the site of the old house. The bell was turned over to the Etna school board, who will determine its future disposition.

AMERICAN RAILS WILL BUILD LONDON RAILWAY

United States Steel Corporation Receives a Large Order from the London County Council.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Word reached here today that the United States Steel Corporation, through its Lorain Steel Company branch, has submitted the lowest tender in competition with the leading British rail mills for rails required by the London county council for the reconstruction from horse to electric motive power of the first section of the street railways to be operated in the northern sections of the British metropolis.

The price quoted is about $31, delivered, which would mean that the contract would net the Steel Corporation a shade above $24 50 a ton, as the freight rate by rail and ocean from the mills to the other side, plus the lightering and landing charges in London is about $6 50 a ton.

The lowest British bid was around $34 50 a ton, or about 15 per cent more than that for the American rails.

ADVOCATES A PEACE LEAGUE.

General Booth of Salvation Army Addresses Two Large Gatherings at Berlin.

BERLIN, Nov. 22.—General Booth, of the Salvation Army, who is traveling through Germany, addressed two big gatherings here today, in the Circus Busch. He made special mention of the relations between Great Britain and Germany and said the most influential men in Great Britain were of the opinion these relations should always be as peaceful as they are at present.

"Can we not," said General Booth, "have a peace league with the heads of monarchs, presidents of republics, the churches and the press to advocate it, so that we shall be able to leave to the coming ages an example of the real fatherhood of God and the true brotherhood of man?"

WANTS TO SAVE BONDSMEN.

Catholic Priest Will Return to This Country After Absence in Italy.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—The Rev. Father L. A. Monda, the Italian Catholic priest, who fled from Connellsville to Italy after being released from the Fayette county jail under bail of $2,500, has written his bondsmen, the Fasana Bros. of New Haven, that he will return and stand trial on charge of assault. He states he expects to arrive here January 2 next. He says he is returning chiefly to prevent his bondsmen from losing the $2,500.

He speaks in confident terms that he will be acquitted. Monday was traced to Naples, Italy, but the Italian government refused to give him up, agreeing to punish him there. This has never been done. The Fasana brothers, who are truck gardeners, have paid over to the county all but $600 of the $2,500.

TAKING $1,000,000 WORTH OF HORSES TO NEW YORK

SACRAMENTO, CAL., Nov. 22.—Four special trains, operating on passenger schedules, are carrying to New York the shipment of horses from the Rancho del Paso, John Mackey, superintendent of the Haggin ranch, accompanied by General Agent W. H. Snedaker, of the Illinois Central railway, traveled on the last car of the fourth special. The shipment, it is understood, is valued at $1,000,000, and is insured for practically that amount. The cost of the transportation of the 600 horses to New York was about $60,000.

DAVIDSON PLANS ENORMOUS HAUL

Allegheny Tax Collector Declares His Intention to Advertise All Delinquents.

REVEALS WYMAN'S SCHEME

A brief announcement stamped on the foot of the tax statements issued from the office of Delinquent Tax Collector Harry M. Davidson of Allegheny explains the object of the introduction into councils of an ordinance providing for the abolition of the delinquent tax office after the expiration of the incumbency of the present administration. The measure was put into select council a week ago by Dr. Andrew Easton of the Third ward, who, it is understood, was acting for Morris Einstein, the Wyman leader in the select branch. The announcement referred to is as follows:

Final Notice—An ordinance has been introduced into councils abolishing the office of "delinquent taxes," and said ordinance compels me to collect, advertise and lien all taxes in my hands. You are hereby notified that I will positively advertise all 1905 taxes on December 22 and 29, 1905, in five daily newspapers. H. M. DAVIDSON, Collector.

The March and September installment of taxes became delinquent on October 1 of this year, but it is not customary to advertise such delinquents until the year after they are due. This is Davidson's last year as collector of delinquent taxes, and it is his intention to make a grand clean-up before leaving the office. It is virtually collecting two years' taxes in one year, on the basis on which the delinquent tax office is run. The same thing was done three years ago by John Hastings, who managed to gather in about $97,000 the last few months he had the office.

Scheme Stands Revealed.

When the ordinance was presented at the last meeting of select council by an administration member it caused no end of comment and speculation. At that time some members of councils declared it was a dare thrown at the Republicans in both branches who fought to abolish the office two years ago. This opinion had substantiation in the fact that the measure provides the office shall cease to exist after the first day of April, 1906. That is the day the Wyman administration gives up the reins of government and can no longer profit by the remunerative office. For this reason councilmen declared Mayor Wyman had the ordinance introduced as a bit of spite work, simply to retaliate for the desperate ends he was put to to save the office two years ago when there was a demand for its abolition.

With the mailing of 6,000 statements to delinquents bearing the foregoing "final notice," the reason for the scheme was revealed. Few of the Republican members of councils believe that the administration has any sincere desire to abolish the office for public good. The fight put up by Wyman and his cabinet members two years ago to retain the office established the attitude of the administration in regard to the delinquent tax office.

Collector Davidson could not be found yesterday, but it was learned in his office that it was his purpose to get all he could out of the office before he retired. "That seems to be the policy in this office," remarked one of Davidson's clerks when he was spoken to. "A man would be a fool not to clean up all he could."

Have Plan to Defeat the Game.

It is said among Allegheny councilmen that the administration will be beaten at its own game, as plans have been made to call a special meeting of the finance committee next week to have action taken on the ordinance now in that committee. More than enough members of the finance committee necessary to have such a meeting called have already signified their willingness to ask Chairman Morris Einstein to call a meeting next week. The regular meeting will not be held until December 11. Immediately following the meeting of the finance committee a call will be issued for special meetings of both branches of councils. Councilmen John Miller of the Second ward and Charles P. Bernhart of the Third, were spoken to last night concerning the contemplated special meetings. Mr. Bernhart said:

"The game Wyman is trying to play is plain to everyone. The administration does not want that office abolished until the city hall gang is out of power. A number of us have met and talked the thing over and plans are made for special meetings of the finance committee and both branches of councils. If everything develops as indications point, we will have that office abolished before Davidson has time to make his liens. I mean that we expect to do away with the delinquent tax office before the middle of December, so that Davidson need not spend the city's money advertising all delinquents. If Chairman Einstein does not call a special meeting voluntarily to act on the matter, we have enough men in the committee to call a session without him. The sentiment and the votes in the finance committee are largely in favor of immediate abolition of that office. And we have enough votes in common council to pass the measure in amended form."

At the time the first fight was made for the abolition of the office, the measure passed finally in the select branch and was defeated for lack of a legal majority in the common. Since then the personnel of councils has changed. The Republicans have almost the entire common branch while apparently the administration can control a majority in select.

Cheap Dinner Man Is Fined.

C. Ogden Meade, alias C. Ogden Harris, the man who proposed to furnish Thanksgiving dinners on payment of $1, was fined $50 or to serve 60 days in the workhouse by Magistrate Kirky yesterday morning. Harris is the name under which he was arrested, but he told the police his right name was Meade. He admitted the company he claimed to represent had no existence, but said he intended to start one when arrested.

MRS. JANE GRAHAM NEARLY ROUNDS OUT A CENTURY

Remarkable Woman Who Saw Queen Victoria Crowned and Had Never Paid But $2 for Doctor's Fees Passes Away.

Within a little more than five years of the century mark, and ill for only a day before she died, Mrs. Jane Graham, probably the oldest resident of the Penn avenue district, died at the home of her son, Francis, at 236 Jones avenue, off Sixteenth street, at 12:30 a. m., Wednesday. Able to recall events that happened years ago, active bodily and mentally, Mrs. Graham was a remarkable woman. Born in Cheltenham, Gloucestershire, England, on December 23, 1815, she would have been 55 years of age had she lived until next month. She spent her early life in Manchester, and was in London for the coronation of Queen Victoria, whom she saw, and she was able to recall perfectly incidents of that occasion.

Mrs. Graham's maiden name was Wilcox. She was married in 1829 to Andrew Graham, a soldier in the British army, who rose to the rank of captain and served not only at Gibraltar, but at other posts in the foreign service. He died about 30 years ago. Mrs. Graham received a pension from the British government.

A quarter of a century ago, Mrs. Graham came to Pittsburgh and had since resided in the district, where she lived, at the time of her death. She made her home with her son, Frank, a retired iron-worker, who is himself 75 years of age. The old lady was remarkably active and retained excellent health until the day before her death, when she was forced for the first time to take to her bed. She had done her own housework and had sewed and mended for her son. Mrs. Graham was able to read without glasses and took great delight in daily perusing her Bible. One of her grandsons stated that the old lady had not been ill a day in her life until about a year ago, when feeling not altogether right she consulted a physician. The $2 which she paid for that was all the money she had spent for medical attendance, at least since coming to Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Graham was the mother of 11 children, five of whom survive her. They are Francis, Mrs. John Cousins of Jones avenue; Mrs. Jane King of Verona; Andrew, of Australia, and William, of 4330 Mifflin street. She also leaves 36 grandchildren and a large number of great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Graham was a lifelong member of the Episcopal church and always took a deep interest in religious matters. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Cousins, the Rev. Joseph B. Rawlins of Philadelphia, an evangelist and friend of the family, officiating. Interment will be made in the Allegheny cemetery.

The Death Roll.

Mrs. Martha Boyd Wakefield.

Mrs. Martha Boyd Wakefield, widow of the Rev. John S. Wakefield, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Martin Bossart, 7334 Race street, Wednesday afternoon. The deceased was in her eighty-second year, and is survived by the following children: Mrs. Lizzie Overholt and Mrs. Carrie Cadman of Wilkinsburg; Mrs. John Brothers and Mrs. Harry Daily of Canton, O.; Frank Wakefield of Syracuse, N. Y., and Mrs. Martin Bossart at whose home she died. Mrs. Wakefield spent most of her life in Westmoreland county, having lived for many years in Latrobe, where the Rev. John Wakefield made his home while serving the different charges in the Pittsburgh conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. Dr. Daniel Dorchester of Christ Methodist Episcopal church, of which the deceased was a member, will be assisted in the funeral services by several ministers who knew her as "Mother Wakefield." The services will be held at 10 a. m., tomorrow at 7334 Race street, and at 1 o'clock the funeral party will leave Wilkinsburg station for Beatty station, where the burial will follow in the Unity ceremetery.

George J. Vogel.

George J. Vogel, aged 44, died yesterday afternoon at his residence, Braddock avenue and Henrietta street. Mr. Vogel, who has been a contractor and architect for 23 years, was born in Youngstown, O. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Mary Alexander of New Castle, Pa., and by a brother and sister. He was a member of the First Presbyterian church, Braddock. The funeral will be held at the residence at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Miss May Pemberton Pickard.

Miss May Pemberton Pickard, aged 25, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Pickard of Davis street, died at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Miss Pickard was ill only a short time and her death was unexpected. Yesterday was her birthday and the family, assisted by a few personal friends, were planning to make the anniversary as enjoyable as possible for the sick girl. Her parents and one sister, Stella, survive.

Bert Gibson.

Bert Gibson, formerly a Pittsburgh traveling man was killed last Sunday by a train at Lincoln, Ill. He was 31 years old, and for many years represented the Logan-Gregg Hardware Company. He was a brother of Mrs. A. Bion Boggs of Ben Avon; of Mrs. J. N. McGinnis of Graham street, East End, and of Mrs. R. W. Smith of Perrysville avenue, Allegheny. His home was at New Castle, Pa.

Mrs. J. W. Biddle.

LENOX, MASS., Nov. 22.—Mrs. J. Williams Biddle of Philadelphia died at her summer residence here today at the age of 81 years. She is survived by one son, Dr. Thomas B. Biddle, and two daughters, Mrs. Richard Cadwallar and Miss Emily Biddle of Philadelphia. The body will be taken to Philadelphia for burial.

Miss Elizabeth Adams.

Miss Elizabeth Adams, aged 50, a sister of M. S. Guthrie, well known in local mail service, died Tuesday at her home in Allegheny. She was born in Cadiz, O., where she received her early education. She is survived by three sisters, Rachel and Catherine Adams and Mrs. Nellie Matthews.

Belt Catches Patrick Foley.

Patrick Foley, a machinist at the American locomotive works, Beaver avenue, Allegheny, while fixing a belt yesterday afternoon, just before quitting time, was caught in it and his right leg was broken in two places. He was taken to St. John's General hospital. Foley lives at 12 Said street, Allegheny.

Must Not Loaf on Corners.

Charles Urethduer, aged 16; William Schwobel, aged 17, and Vincent Rozaski, aged 15, were arrested last night. It is alleged the boys are members of a crowd that has been loafing on the corner of South Twelfth and Breed streets and have become so disorderly and insulting that passersby and persons residing in the neighborhood complained to the police.

INSTALL TWO MINISTERS.

New Pastors Will Preside Over Fourth and Park Avenue Presbyterian Churches.

The Rev. Dr. Samuel Callen, formerly of Waterloo, Ia., who was called about a month ago to the Fourth Presbyterian church, Evaline and Liberty streets, was installed last night. The Rev. Dr. W. S. Fulton presided. The sermon was delivered by the Rev. Dr. J. M. Duff, the Rev. Dr. S. B. McCormick delivered the address to the pastor and the Rev. Dr. William P. Shrom delivered the address to the congregation.

The Rev. Samuel L. Boston, who was recently elected pastor of the Park Presbyterian church, Park avenue and Luna street, was also installed last night. The Rev. U. S. Graves, moderator of the Pittsburgh presbytery, presided and asked the constitutional questions. The charge to the pastor was made by the Rev. Dr. A. D. Carlisle, and the sermon was delivered by the Rev. Dr. F. W. Sneed. The charge to the people was delivered by the Rev. Dr. G. W. Chalfant and the installation prayer was offered by the Rev. O. N. Verner.

WELL-KNOWN DAUPHIN COUNTY JURIST DEAD

Judge John Weiss Passes Away from Effects of a Stroke of Paralysis Suffered a Week Ago.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, Nov. 22.—The funeral of the late Judge John H. Weiss, who died here this morning, will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Judge Weiss, who was stricken on Monday, November 13, with paralysis, sustained another attack afterward, which rendered him unconscious, and he did not recognize anybody up until the time of his death. His family was at his bedside when he died.

Judge Weiss was born in Schaffertown, Pa., in 1840, was educated at the Millersville State Normal school and Jefferson college, before its consolidation with Washington college, and was admitted to the Dauphin county bar in 1865.

He was appointed judge of Dauphin county by Gov. Stone in March, 1899, and on the death of Judge Simonton, four years later, he became president judge. He was a close friend of the late Senator Quay and was for many years chairman of the Dauphin county Republican committee prior to his election to the bench.

MILLIONS ARE NEEDED AT ONCE

Canal Commission Will Ask for Vast Sum to Carry on Its Work.

CONGRESSMEN FEEL LIBERAL

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.

The financial status of the Panama canal comission, made public today by Chairman Shonts, shows that the commission needs $16,000,000 to see it through the current fiscal year, and will need a great deal more to carry on the work for the succeeding year. Altogether the appropriations that will be asked for this enterprise at the forthcoming session will amount to many millions of dollars. Besides spending the entire $10,000,000 cash appropriated by congress and devoted to construction expenses, salaries and purchase of materials, the commission is now in debt, probably to the extent of about $1,000,000. To wipe out this indebtedness, to carry the present payroll and to make payments on contracts already authorized, the commission will demand $16,000,000, the money to be made available by January 1, and to cover expenses up to the end of the present fiscal year, June 30. This sum will be asked as an emergency appropriation, and, if made, will have no relation to the further appropriation which must be made to continue canal work during the next fiscal year of 1906-7. Estimates have not been made for the needs of the next fiscal year.

The figures for immediate needs are larger than expected, and it is certain that they will be closely scanned before such a sum is voted. Contracts already authorized, some of which are now due and all of which will be due long before June 30, amount to $9,000,000. This sum is demanded to pay for equipment and plant, such as dredges, steam shovels, locomotives, cars, tools, installations of water and sewer systems, erection of hospitals and barracks for workmen. The payroll is now about $600,000 a month, which for seven months amounts to $4,200,000. Adding the million indebtedness, the certain obligations reach $14,200,000. The remaining $1,800,000 is wanted for "leeway." This is to make other contracts for plant and to increase the payroll or the force at work as it may become necessary.

The largest item of the indebtedness is $600,000, which is owing to the Panama Railroad Company for services rendered by the railroad to the commission. The report was circulated today that this money was borrowed by the commission, in its distress, from the railroad. However, it is officially stated that this is a debt and not a loan. Congress will demand a definite explanation of this matter, as the commission has no authority to borrow money. It is stated here that, because of its inability to get this money, the Panama railroad has been forced to borrow. The charge is made that the transaction, indirectly at least, involves a loan.

Congressmen now in Washington are in favor of a generous treatment of the canal project. Speaker Cannon has declared in favor of promptly giving the commission all the money it needs. But it is believed that a congressional investigation of these expenses and of the whole financial policy of the commission is certain to occur directly after congress convenes.

WILL AGREE ON DATE FOR CELEBRATING CENTENNIAL

First Important Step Toward Observing 100th Birthday of Christian Church to Be Taken Today.

The first joint conference of the centennial committee of the Christian church and the Pittsburgh committee, to devise ways and means for celebrating the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Christian church in America, will be held this morning at 9 o'clock at the Seventh Avenue hotel. The local committee, appointed yesterday, is as follows: The Rev. W. R. Warren, chairman; Robert S. Latimer, the Rev. John G. Slayter, the Rev. Wallace Tharp, the Rev. W. H. Graham, the Rev. T. E. Cramblet, Bethany, W. Va.; the Hon. Thomas W. Phillips, New Castle; the Hon. M. M. Cochran, Uniontown, and the Rev. O. H. Phillips, Braddock. The centennial committee was appointed at the national convention of the church, held at Omaha. The members are the Rev. J. H. Garrison and the Rev. George L. Snively, St. Louis; Mrs. Helen E. Moses, Indianapolis; S. M. Cooper, Cincinnati; the Rev. George W. Muckley, Kansas City, and the Rev. W. R. Warren, Pittsburgh.

The members of the centennial committee will remain in Pittsburgh until after Sunday, at which time the simultaneous revival of the Christian church will close. The date will be set today for some time in 1909. The headquarters for this movement, the greatest in the history of the church, will be established in Pittsburgh.

The Rev. Mr. McLean addresses today's noon meeting at the old Third Presbyterian church. At the close of the meeting Mrs. Moses, secretary of the Christian Women's Board of Missions, will hold an informal reception.

The 20 ministerial students from Bethany college, West Virginia, who have been in Pittsburgh for the past three weeks assisting with the revival services, returned home yesterday morning. They were enthusiastic over the reception accorded them.

"THE MINISTER'S OWN LIFE."

Theme of Dr. David R. Breed at Convocation of Ministers Today.

Interest is growing daily in the convocation of ministers and elders of the presbyteries of Pittsburgh and Allegheny, being held in the Second Presbyterian church, Eighth street, and at the meetings held yesterday the attendance was large. The general topic for the day was "Our Life." "Worldiness" was the theme of the sermon at 11:30 a. m., by the Rev. Dr. William O. Campbell, of Sewickley, who dwelt on the unworldliness of Christ, stating that everyone should try and imitate the life of the Master.

David R. Breed, D. D., of the Allegheny Theological seminary, preached at 2:30 p. m. on "The Minister's Own Life," his principal point being that ministers ought to lead holy and upright lives. At 3:30 a prayer service and conference on "Loss of Power in the Home" was held, with Dr. Breed and the Rev. T. Ross Paden of Westminster church, Allegheny, as leaders. The Rev. Dr. David Gregg, president of Allegheny Theological seminary, preached a strong sermon in the evening at 8, on "The Minister's Personal Evangelism."

PRICE AND CUNNINGHAM ARE NOW LOCKING HORNS

Commissioner Insists That the Road Fund Is $1,000,000 Short and Denies He Is Untruthful. Hot Shot for the Controller.

County Commissioner Price and Controller Cunningham are getting into an argument over the announcement by the former that there will be a deficit in the county road fund of about $1,000,000.

"I see that Controller Cunningham intimates," said Mr. Price yesterday, "that I am either untruthful or not familiar with official business. I have never said that the county was on the verge of bankruptcy, but I have shown the road fund is short almost $1,000,000.

"It is possible that Controller Cunningham does not know of this deficit. While he has written his acceptance across the face of about $300,000 worth of unpaid contractors' estimates, there does not appear to have been any record kept of this in his office. Some weeks ago we stopped paying estimates because there was not enough money in the fund to meet these obligations. There was just enough to pay salaries and meet the small urgent bills.

"In order to make the estimates good as collateral, the contractors had the controller write his acceptance across the face of the paper. This means they will be redeemed early in the new year. The contractors can have them discounted at the banks by paying the cost of the discount.

"There has been about $300,000 worth of this paper made negotiable by the acceptance of the controller. A few days ago, when I wanted to get the exact amount of these outstanding obligations, I supposed the information could be got in the office of the controller. To my amazement, I ascertained there was not a scratch of a pen to show how much paper had been accepted. In my opinion this is bad bookkeeping, to say the least. The county controller should know the amount of the I O U's in circulation. If a person wanted to be dishonest it would not be difficult to change the figures on these accepted estimates."

CARSON FILES HIS ANSWER FOR STATE

Attorney General Makes Reply to the Petition of Enterprise Bank Directors.

Attorney General Hampton L. Carson filed in common pleas court No. 2 yesterday afternoon an answer to the petition of the directors of the Enterprise bank, who have asked that the judgments entered against them for bonded state funds be opened and they let into a defense. Attorney General Carson represents State Treasurer Mathues.

In his answer the attorney general reviews the history of the state deposits placed in the Enterprise bank since October 27, 1897, when the bank got its first state money. He admits the copy of the account of the state with the bank attached to the petition of the defendants is correct, that the amount of money on deposit in the Enterprise bank the day it was declared insolvent was $1,026,000, and consisted of money belonging to the general and sinking funds. He contends that none of the money for which bonds were given by the directors and bonding companies was withdrawn by the state of by any state treasurer, and the entire amount remained in the custody of the bank up to the time the judgment was entered. The dates upon which bonds were given the state are set forth and the amounts named in the bonds are told. Carson says that of the $1,313,009, the amount of all withdrawals by the commonwealth since May 24, 1898, the sum of $1,185,000 was withdrawn since June 27,1902, which, he says, was subsequent to the time the bonds were given.

It is stated in the answer that the bonds of the surety companies have not been issued upon, because each of the sureties are corporate and do not dispute their liability. He also denies the commonwealth does not contemplate enforcement of any liability against any one or all of the trust companies, for the full amount of any liability. He therefore, denies that the liabilities of the defendants have been fully met and discharged by the Enterprise bank or by any other person or corporation. He asks that the petition be dismissed.

Attorney Thomas P. Trimble, who is counsel for the Clarke estate, said yesterday:

"It will be some time yet before anything can be told about the Clark estate. The holdings of Mr. Clark extend over such a vast territory that the work of tracing them is necessarily slow. We have found interests in Vancouver, Colorado, Georgia, California, New Mexico and across the gulf to British Honduras. These interests are exclusive of the properties owned in this vicinity."

CANAL COMMISSION AGAINST SEA LEVEL

Will Take Adverse Action on Experts' Suggestion to Save Time in Construction.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]
WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—It was authoritatively made known today that the Isthmian canal commission will take adverse action upon the sea level project, which eight of the 13 members of the advisory board of consulting engineers have favored. The commission consists of T. P. Shonts, as chairman, Gov. Magoon of the canal zone, Brig.-Gens. Ernst and Haina, Rear Admiral Endicott and B. M. Harrod. There is one vacancy on the board which there is a possibility may be filled by the appointment of John F. Stevens, the chief engineer of the canal. Mr. Stevens is opposed to the sea level idea, toward which his predecessor, John F. Wallace, inclined. Gens. Haina and Ernest favor the lock canal idea and so does Mr. Harrod. Mr. Shonts and Judge Magoon, not being engineers, will undoubtedly fall in line with the desire of the President and the secretary of war that a lock canal be built because it will take less time and cost less.

Chairman Shonts returned to Washington today and immediately had a talk with Maj.-Gen. Davis, chairman of the advisory board.

WORKS OLD BUNKO GAME.

Stranger Gets $25 in Exchange for a Confederate Note.

His unfamiliarity with United States money and eagerness to share in the good luck of a stranger who pretended to have just found a $50 bill, cost Ralph Walsh, a genteel-looking young Englishman, who has only been in this country a short time, $25 yesterday, when he was "worked" with a $50 confederate note. On Smithfield street, near the Columbia hotel, Walsh was accosted by the stranger, who picked up the bill and said that inasmuch as Walsh witnessed the find, he should share in the good luck.

Walsh was willing and gave the stranger $25 in bills of small denominations, taking the other bill in exchange. At the hotel Walsh presented the bill to the clerk, telling him how easily he had just made $25. The clerk's statement that the bill was worthless put a different light on the matter, however, and Walsh reported the bunko to the police.

Mr. Stevens' Trip Is Delayed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—In view of a statement by General Davis, chairman of the advisory board of engineers, that the first draft of the board's major and minority reports will not be completed before December 15, Chairman Shonts, of the canal commission, can Mr. Stevens, chief engineer of the commission, not to sail from the isthmus before December 6.

Fire Destroys Leetsdale Store.

The general store of Fezcht & Wood, at Leetsdale, was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning, entailing a loss of $5,000. The fire originated in the feed room. Benjamin Fezcht, with his family, occupied the second story of the building, but received warning in time to escape uninjured.

STEEL CORPORATION BUYS IMMENSE SITE

Purchases Twenty-Five Hundred Acres in Indiana for Great Steel Plant.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]
NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—E. H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel Corporation announced today that about 2,500 acres of land in Indiana on the shore of Lake Michigan, has been purchased in the interest of the United States Steel Corporation. The statement follows:

"A large body of land, approximating 2,500 acres, located on the shore of Lake Michigan in the state of Indiana has recently been acquired in the interest of the United States Steel Corporation or its subsidiary companies. The Illinois Steel Company probably in the near future will make important improvements on this property for manufacturing purposes. The extent of the improvements will depend upon the attitude of the public authorities in Indiana and Illinois respectively. Formerly the concentration of plants of this company has been carried out at its location at South Chicago. During the past 10 years its works known as North works and Bridgeport works, located within the city limits of Chicago, have been partially removed to the South Chicago location. This location is well adapted to its business in many ways; and the same would be further developed if there were sufficient room at that point.

"The disposition of the Indiana officials seems to be to encourage the location of industries in Indiana in every reasonable way and therefore the recent purchases have been decided upon. In any event there will probably be erected on this site blast furnaces, open-hearth furnaces, by-product coke ovens and various mills, for the manufacture of a diversity of steel products."

New York Board of Trade Favors Abolition of Tariff on Philippine Products.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Resolutions favoring abolition of American duties on Philippine products and the repeal of the new law to regulate shipping between this country and the Philippines were adopted today by the New York board of trade.

The board declared itself opposed to the appointment of special agents of the United States in foreign countries with the diplomatic rank and title of commercial attache. The department of state proposed this innovation in the American consular system and asked the New York board of trade's opinion thereon.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

JESUS A TEACHER OF PURE JUDAISM

That, Dr. Emil G. Hirsch Tells His Hearers, Is What the Jews Consider the Son of God.

RELIGION OF THE PROPHETS

"Were He to come today, we would open the gates of the synagogue and He would hear the songs His own people sang, hear the doctrine His mountain teachers taught. He taught no new religion; He lived the religion of the prophets. As it was not the whole Jewish people who rejected Him so the Jews of today do not reject Him as the just Jew, the teacher of righteousness and repentance. We Jews place Him among the sublime company of the few who stand nearest to the throne of God."

With these words did a famous Jewish rabbi, Dr. Emil G. Hirsch, close last night, at Carnegie Music hall, his lecture to Jews on "The Man of Nazareth." That the Son of God did not seek to found a new religion, but that His teachings were strictly Jewish, and that all His sayings, supposed to be the basis of Christian doctrine, should be taken as the efforts of a reformer teaching righteousness and repentance and trying to lead the people back to the old religious moorings instead of carrying them away from them, was the object of the lecture.

The lecture was delivered under the auspices of the Columbia Council of Jewish Women. The hall was crowded and Dr. Hirsch was listened to with the deepest interest. It was evident that to many in his audience the conception was novel; that they did not know that the Jewish theologians recognized in Christ a teacher of their own religion, one who did not even claim divine origin and who, while thinking Himself that Messiah, who in the mind of only a few Jews was to be the deliverer from sin instead of from Roman bondage, was far from the intention of founding a new religion.

When the Savior Was Born.

In explaining the conditions present when Christ was living Dr. Hirsch said the Pharisees were started as a political party, the nationalists of the day, impatient of the foreign yoke, becoming in time the opponents of the priests, who bore the foreign domination with equanimity as it did not interfere with their privileges. The Pharisees were a patriotic party, although they became in time a class, an intellectual aristocracy. The sadducees were the priestly party, an aristocracy of birth, with no interest in the struggle for freedom from Roman bondage, for under the Romans the temple worship went on and the taxes for the temple were collected with the same rigor as the taxes imposed by the Romans for state purposes. Between the Pharisees and the Sadducees was hostility, each sect or, rather, party, being equally intolerant of opposition. Then there was the ascetic sect or party of the Essenes, who submitted to voluntary poverty, had community of goods and practised celibacy.

In these times the Galilean teacher, Dr. Hirsch said, was born. In the mountains of Galilee, his native province, Jewish patriotism was at its deepest. "In the Galilean mountains lived liberty." Every Galilean mother hoped that the child she expected to bear might be the Messiah, the deliverer of the Jewish people from bondage. Three Galileans claiming to be the Messiah had already been crucified by the Romans. As the Messiah expected by the majority of the Jews was to be a deliverer from the Roman yoke the Romans punished all messianic pretensions with death.

Had a Corner on Doves.

The Galilean was gifted with eloquence, rare among the rude mountaineers. In early days he was a dreamer of dreams for the benefit of his people. Dr. Hirsch sketched, from his standpoint, the growth in the mind of the Galilean of an ideal held by only a few Jews of that day, that the Messiah was to be the deliverer of the people from sin; that he was that Messiah, the man of peace, destined to lift up the lowly and the ignorant, despised by Pharisees and Sadducees. He went out, multitudes followed him from village to village, he preaching, like the prophets, righteousness and repentance, until he finally entered Jerusalem.

He went to the temple and there he found the money changers and the venders of pigeons carrying on their traffic. The Sadducees had the privilege of changing into "holy money," shekels, the money brought by the pilgrims on their visit to the temple, for the coin of the Romans could not be received in payment of temple tithes; the high priests had the privilege of selling the doves used in sacrifice in the temple.

"It appears," said Dr. Hirsch, "that the priests, anticipating by some centuries our American plan, had created a corner in doves, an artificial dearth in the shekel. Jesus overturns the tables and drives out the money changers. There his fate begins. The privileged priestly class cries out: 'He is an anarchist; He is disturbing the social equilibrium; He has overturned vested rights; He has reduced our income; society totters to its ruin; He is a dangerous man!' Oh, you are familiar with the expressions they must have used on that occasion. They pick on an utterance of His that can be twisted into apparent disloyalty to the Roman dominion, and they denounce Him to the Romans. There was no other motive for the undoing of Jesus than the hostility of the priestly class, whose monopoly he ended by overturning the tables in the temples."

Lord's Prayer in Judiac Teachings.

Analyzing the sayings of Jesus, Dr. Hirsch contended they were doctrines of Judaism, and he endeavored to show that the Lord's prayer could be found in Judaic teachings; that the fatherhood of God and brotherhood of man taught by Jesus was Jewish; that the supposition of the Christians that Christ said the Jews were taught to hate their enemies, was based on misunderstandings or mistranslations of the original Aramaic. Dr. Hirsch said the golden rule was Jewish, and that the severe morality, indicated by the injunction to offer the other cheek to the smiter, and give up the nether garment to the despoiler of the upper garment, were oriental figures of speech, found in the talmudic lore.

The lecturer said Jews were in full concord with the so-called doctrines of Christ in the gospels, for they were Jewish teachings and that there was a great gulf between the teachings of Jesus and the theology of Paul.

According to Dr. Hirsch Christ's parables are like hundreds of other Jewish parables, except that they are the most perfect of all parables, finely worked out and wonderful for the immediateness of the application.

"It is asked," said the lecturer, "if no new religion was taught, why did they cry 'Crucify Him?' I answer, thousands of Jews thought themselves the Messiah, and none was killed by the Jews. 'He called Himself the Son of God!' Every Jew considered himself the son of God. 'He worked miracles!' Miracles prove nothing. I myself do not believe that Moses worked miracles. 'He broke the Jewish Sabbath!' Every act of alleged Sabbath breaking committed by Jesus squares with the Jewish law on the subject, and was allowable under the law. 'The whole Jewish people rejected him.' Would they have done so if he had not taught a new religion?' The mob, not the people, cried out for his death. Who hired the mob? The priest, whose privileges he had attacked; the Sadducees, whose supremacy He threatened; the Pharisees, the latter hating Him because he associated with the lowly, the ignorant, the publicans and the fallen.

Trial Breaks Every Statute.

The trial of Jesus breaks every statute of Jewish criminal law. He was tried in the house of the high priest; trials should be held in the temple, in a hall provided for the purpose; the decision was handed down at once, yet the law specifies that a certain period must elapse between the trial and the decision; the trial was held at night, and the law plainly states that it must be held in the day time. Thus, illegally tried and condemned. He was turned over to the Romans and punished by a Roman form of punishment, crucifixion, and this inscription was nailed on the cross, 'Jesus of Nazareth, King of the Jews,' to show that He was punished by the Romans as a traitor, as having asserted kingship."

THOUGHT HIGHWAYMEN WERE HIS INITIATORS

Young College Student Sandbagged and Robbed While on His Way to Fraternity Rooms.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CARLISLE, PA., Nov. 22.—George A. Weaver, a wealthy young man of Altoona, Pa., who is attending the Dickinson School of Law here for his first year, was sandbagged, dragged into an alley, robbed of $56 and left unconscious by two burly robbers last evening, as he was on his way to the rooms of the Delta Chi fraternity, an organization of the Greek letter type, by whom he expected to be initiated into mysteries galore.

As he was leaving the main law school building at 9 o'clock, two roughly-attired men stepped from a dark alley and grabbing Weaver endeavored to gag him. "Aren't you beginning a little early, boys?" he sputtered between the man's fingers, thinking the initiatory ceremonies were coming with a quicker rush than he expected.

The answer he received was a terrific blow on the head from a sandbag, which felled him unconscious to the ground. His assailants dragged him into the alley and rifled his pockets of $56 in cash. They made their escape. Weaver recovered consciousness two hours later and crawled to a nearby physician's, where he is now recovering. The members of the fraternity, for which the unfortunate young man mistook his assailants, scoured the city most of the night in an unavailing search for the miscreants.

ALUMNAE OF ST. JOSEPH'S ACADEMY HOLD MEETING

Representatives of Former Scholastic Years from All Over the State Attend the First Gathering.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

GREENSBURG, PA., Nov. 22.—The inaugural meeting of the alumnae of St. Joseph's academy was held today at Seton Hill. At 6 o'clock a Cecelian mass was sung in the convent chapel. The morning trains brought numerous representatives of former scholastic years and at 10:30 o'clock they met in the auditorium of the school for the election of officers.

Miss Padden of Allegheny was unanimously elected president of the alumnae association. Miss Anastasia Casey of Altoona was elected secretary, and Miss Dunlevy of Pittsburgh treasurer. Thirty-three vice presidents were chosen, representing the various towns and cities which have sent pupils to the academy since the opening in 1883.

A banquet was served at 1:30 o'clock in the green dining room. Covers were laid for 120 persons. The Rev. J. L. Brennen, chaplain, acted as toastmaster. Responses were made by the Rev. E. M. McKeever of St. John Baptist church, Pittsburgh; Miss Padden, Miss Dunlevy, Miss Moran and Miss Powers. The musicale given by present pupils of the academy took place at 4 o'clock in Cecelian hall.

CHANGES IN EMPLOYES AT WINDOW GLASS PLANT

JEANNETTE, PA., Nov. 22.—Important changes took place today in the American window glass plant, consisting of a reconstruction of the management. Thomas R. Moore, formerly of Anderson, Ind., becomes superintendent of the flattening house and cutting room. Theodore D. Warrick has succeeded Thomas R. Moore as chief of the factory inspection. Louis B. Schmertz becomes superintendent of tank No. 3 and John McKinlee of tank No. 2. The company will play their employes by check instead of cash.

Woman Burned by a Bonfire.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—While trying to put out a bonfire near her home at Dunbar today, Mrs. Maggie Hardy, wife of Samuel Hardy, was probably fatally burned. She had left the fire and when in the house saw the flames licking the walls of the building. By great efforts she saved the house, but her dress caught fire.

Son of Alexis Thompson Marries.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—Word was received here today announcing the marriage of David Thompson, son of Alexis W. Thompson of this city, ex-president of the Republic Iron and Steel Company, to Miss Millie Caffer at Birmingham, Ala., last Monday.

HAS STRENUOUS TIME WITH SIX HIGHWAYMEN

BROWNSVILLE, PA., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—Orrin Moore, a blacksmith, near here, shot one of the negroes who robbed him early today, and it is believed the wounded man will not recover. His name is not known. Six negroes waylaid Moore, cut open his pockets and took $13 and his door key. Moore made his way home with a bullet hole in his coat, when one negro tried to enter Moore's home later with the stolen key. Moore shot him near the heart.

MINISTER CELEBRATES HUNDREDTH BIRTHDAY

Aged Pastor Has Used Tobacco During His Life, but Does Not Advocate Its Usage.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ALLIANCE, O., Nov. 22.—At his home near North Benton, east of here, the Rev. John Schaeffer today celebrated his 100th birthday. The affair took place at his own home, where he was surrounded by a large number of friends and relatives, who were summoned by invitations written by the minister himself.

The aged gentleman was born in Northumberland county, Pa., and came to this part of Ohio about 70 years ago, taking up a section of government land. The original log house erected by him is still standing, although he now occupies a fine residence erected almost entirely by his own hands.

In early youth he was a member of the Lutheran church, but later became affiliated with the Disciples, and became minister. He is well-versed in both English and German languages, and is noted for his writings. The Rev. Mr. Schaeffer has used tobacco during the greater part of his life, but does not attribute his extreme age to any beneficial effect of the weed.

Sends Own Obituary to Friends.

STROUDSBURG, PA., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—Edward Lloyd of New York city, who was reported dead, has returned from the Pike county woods, and today sent newspapers containing his obituary to his friends. Lloyd went hunting, and a report got abroad that he had been accidentally killed.

GREENVILLE, PA., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—The Rev. Dr. D. G. McKay, for nine years pastor of the First Presbyterian church, has received a unanimous call from the First church of Indianapolis, one of the largest and wealthiest congregations of the denomination in the west. He will probably accept.

WOMAN RECEIVES FLOWERS FOR HER OWN FUNERAL

BELLEFONTAINE, O., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—Reported to be dead, Mrs. Margaret Wolfe today received a large box of flowers intended for her funeral. Matthew Wolfe, of Jackson Center, while sick in bed, heard his mother had died in this county, and being unable to go to the funeral he sent the flowers with a note expressing his sadness at being unable to attend. The package was opened by the mother, who was as well as usual, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Van Kirk.

PROMINENT FARMER DIES.

J. McAllister Kuhn, of Butler County, Ends Life's Toil—Was Well-Known Throughout County.

BUTLER, PA., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—J. McAllister Kuhn, one of the best-known farmers of Butler county, died last night at his home, near Hooker. He was 67 years of age and was born and reared in Allegheny township, this county. During the civil war he was a member of the One Hundred and Thirty-seventh Pennsylvania volunteers, and fought in the battles of South Mountain, Chancellorsville and Antietam.

He was an elder in the Concord Presbyterian church, and was a Republican in politics, and held several offices. He is survived by his wife, formerly Ann Campbell, one daughter, Mrs. Jessie Coulter of Verona, and two sons, Frank Kuhn of Concord township, and Rev. Detner Kuhn, of Alexandria, S. D.

Railroad Men Will Build Clubhouse.

WILL INVESTIGATE THE STEEL COMPANY'S MINE

John Mitchell Talks to a Large Mass Meeting of Miners from the Brownsville Region.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BROWNSVILLE, PA., Nov. 22.—President Mitchell and District President Dolan addressed a mass meeting of miners from this region today. Mr. Mitchell advocates close organization and moderate methods and urged upon all non-union men the need of joining if they want anything done for their interests. He said it he could bring it about, there will be no more reduction in wages.

Referring to the river mine of the United States Steel Corporation located here, he said the union would soon find out why the scale is not observed. Out of 400 men only 25 are union. It is stated they work nine hours.

Patrick Dolan, referring to the same mine, said complete organization of the miners was the remedy. To order a strike there meant a fight in every United States Steel mine and a fight with the Pittsburgh Coal Company. He knew the miners did not want to do anything rash. He said they hoped to adjust it soon.

Burgess Jefferies and Steve Whetzell introduced the speakers.

BURGLARS OVERLOOK QUART OF CURRENCY

LATROBE, PA., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—Burglars last night entered the general store of Mrs. Adelaide Depsidites of Monastery slope and after ransacking the entire lower floor carried away clothing and merchandise valued at more than $900. The robbers broke open the cash drawer, which only contained a small amount of money, and overlooked a quart measure almost filled with currency which had been placed on a shelf in readiness to be moved to a place of safety and forgotten. Entrance to the building was gained by forcing open the rear window.

INDIAN WARRIORS BEATEN AT CANTON

Professional Team Crosses the Goal Line Once and Also Makes a Safety.

THE FINAL SCORE IS 8 TO 0

CANTON, O., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—For the second time in a week the Carlisle Indians met defeat at the hands of an Ohio football team when they were defeated here today by the Canton Athletic club eleven, composed of professional ex-college players, 8 to 0. The game was fiercely contested, both sides being forced to punt frequently. Fumbling was frequent and three Indians and one Cantonian were put out of the game for slugging. After fighting hard and losing the ball twice on downs, Canton took a brace and by slow work carried the ball down the field from the 50-yard line for a touchdown. Canton scored a safety when, after a blocked punt from the Indians' five-yard line, Rayl downed Bowen behind the line. Mt. Pleasant went into the fray after Canton had secured its touchdown and seemed to inspire his teammates to better work.

In the second half both elevens played like demons and neither goal was in danger at any time. Hardy, the semi-professional baseball player, starred for Canton, and Pierce, Archiquette and Mt. Pleasant made brilliant plays for the Redmen. Five thousand people attended today's game. The field, except in spots, was in good condition.

The Canton admirers of the sport are now confident that the local team can defeat Massillon's Tigers, who defeated the Indians a week ago at Cleveland. The game today was a decisive defeat for the dark-faced Pennsylvanians and at no time during the afternoon were they nearer than Canton's 35-yard line, not having but one first down. In defeating the Indians the Canton players carried the ball about three times as far as their opponents. The principal play of the Canton eleven was an attack outside of Carlisle's tackles, and the entire play was in Carlisle's territory. It was admitted by Kinney, Carlisle's coach, that Canton was the hardest proposition and put up the best line of defense that his team had encountered this season. Canton's safety was made on a kick blocked by Hall on the Indians' 18-yard line. The longest run of the day was 19 yards, while the longest by the Indians was but four yards. In a skirmish play Pierce bucked Wallace for four yards. Lineup:

Canton—8.		Indians—0.
Volk (Jackson)	L.E.	Wahoo
Ernest	L.T.	Bowen
Rayl (Helmberger)	L.G.	Dillen
Kaufman	C.	Scott (Hunt)
Hall	R.G.	Exendine (Pierce)
Wallace	R.T.	Pierce (Exendine-Thompson-Scott)
Sutter	R.E.	Jude
James	Q.B.	Libbey (Mt. Pleasant)
Pearson	L.H.	Albanez
Hardy	R.H.	Charles (Archiquette)
Ozersky	F.B.	Dubois

Touchdowns—Ozersky. Kicked goal—Hardy. Referee—Gaston of W. and J. Umpire—Thompson of Georgetown. Safety—Rayl. Time of halves—25 minutes.

WUP SOPHOMORES BEAT EAST LIBERTY ACADEMY

The W. U. P. sophomores defeated East Liberty academy yesterday afternoon on the latter's floor by the score of 24 to 12. The game was fast and interesting, the soph's team work being very good. Bates and Morton played the academy forward closely, while the sophs forwards played their usual good game. Sherbon's dribbling and Wylie's shooting were the features. Lineup:

W. U. P. '08—24.		E. L. A.—12
McGuiness	R.F.	Young
Wylie	L.F.	Walnwright
Sherbon	C.	Stubler
Bates	R.G.	Rush (Nuttall)
Morton	L.G.	Langdon

Field goals—Wylie 5, McGuiness 3, Sherbon 3, Walnwright, Young 3, Langdon. Foul goals—Walnright 2, Morton 2. Referee—Lewelin. Scorer—Keenan.

Allentown Loses by Close Score.

The Knoxville five defeated Allentown in a fast game at Young's hall by a score of 22 to 20. Lineup:

Knoxville—22.		Allentown—20.
Kuntzler	R.F.	Brown
G. McBride	L.F.	Wilhelm
McQuillen	C.	Miller
W. McBride (Geddus)	R.G.	Vaughn
Ulam	L.G.	Dressler

Field goals—Dressler 2, Brown 6, Wilhelm, Vaughn, Kuntzler 3, Ulam 3, McQuillen 2, W. McBride. Foul goals—McQuillen, McBride 2.

The Homewood Preps are still without a game for Thanksgiving morning. All 55 and 60-pound teams address Alan Chandler, 7223 McPherson street, Pittsburgh. All players must report this evening for practice.

The Hillside A. C. has Saturday and Thanksgiving open, and would like to hear from some lightweight team. Address T. B. Rogers, Park and Shetland avenues, city.

All players of the Hillside A. C. are urgently requested to report at a special meeting to be held at the Shetland Pharmacy, Park and Shetland avenues, this evening at 7:30.

The Hillside Tigers last Saturday defeated the Turtle Creek Tigers, and it was the first defeat sustained by Turtle Creek. The latter would like to hear from the Hillsides for a game on December 2 on their grounds or at Turtle Creek. Turtle Creek has the rest of the season open. For dates address R. M. Pifer, box 514, Turtle Creek, Pa.

Athletics practice on Baum field this evening. All are to report.

The Army A. A. will practice tonight, and all players are to report at Keystone park not later than 8 o'clock. The Army A. C. is without a game for Saturday, and a good 90-pound team should write to William Wing, 2764 Smallman street.

W. U. P. PLAYERS ARE READY FOR STATE

With the Penn-State game just a week off, the W. U. P. training camp is the busiest place in Allegheny these days. Coach Mosse was considerably encouraged yesterday afternoon by the reappearance in practice of one or two of the men who have been on the hospital list for the last few days, but the squad still lacks the strength which would be expected so short a time before a championship contest. The regular halfbacks are on duty now, and the quarterback position, which has had a good reserve list all season, is not giving the coach any trouble. The question of a suitable center is still a bugbear in prospect of a hard game so near at hand.

Mosse will not take any chances on the Geneva game day after tomorrow. For years the Geneva aggregation has made the W. U. P. game its star attraction at Beaver Falls, and a rivalry, none the less active on account of its friendly character, has existed for a long time between the two institutions in their athletic relations. The Geneva management is making great preparations for the game on Saturday and it seems likely that the whole Beaver valley will turn out to see its old heroes on the local eleven buck up against the Covenanter team. It is planned to take a large delegation of rooters from Pittsburgh to represent W. U. P. A special train with excursion rate tickets will be run over the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad.

The Carlisle Indian football team will arrive from the west this morning. The Indians will have the privilege on the W. U. P. grounds at Exposition park during the next two days preparatory to their game with W. and J. here on Saturday afternoon. The two teams will not, however, practice together. All arrangements between W. U. P. and W. and J. managements have been completed with the most perfect harmony. The feeling between the two institutions has never been friendlier than at the present time, and the W. U. P. people will leave Exposition park in the hands of friends when they journey to Geneva. W. U. P. will put its strongest team in the field Saturday and hopes to score a great victory.

Cornell.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—Although the Cornell varsity is doing a lot of hard work and showed up fairly well in a hard scrimmage against the freshmen eleven tonight, there seems to be something lacking from the right kind of effective work which will be needed if the Red and White expects to defeat Pennsylvania. Perhaps the greatest weakness at present is in the interference. It is extremely slow in getting started, a fault that the coaches have been attempting to correct since the Princeton game. With the interference backward in getting off, the backs are greatly delayed in getting their starts and consequently the whole force of the attack is lost. In addition to this the linemen are too slow in charging on the offensive. This is also partly due to the slowness in which the plays are started. These results were brought particularly to notice in the latter half of the Columbia game, when the Cornellians were pretty well worn out, and they were also evident today in the scrimmage against the freshmen. The youngsters were pushed back over their goal line four times in about 30 minutes, and were not allowed to make a single first down on the varsity. Still, and especially if Pennsylvania is to be vanquished, twice as many scores should have been made. The spirit of the men seems to be all right, but the execution of the plays is anything but effective.

Harvard.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—Harvard's football eleven this afternoon had a hard scrimmage before the Yale game on Soldier's fields this afternoon. The work was snappy and fast and caused a new feeling of hope among the coaches. In 15 minutes of clean football the varsity scored twice against the scrub and on defensive work put up as effective an article of football as has been seen this season. Three times the scrubs were given the ball on the 15-yard line, but each time they were thrown for a loss. There was no getting through the regular line, which held like a stone wall. Parker at center put up a wonderful game and Montgomery, who took Brill's place at left tackle, also played well. Besides Brill, neither Leary, Foster nor Capt. Hurley participated in the scrimmage, all of these players being held in reserve for the final struggle against the Elis on Saturday. Today's practice practically brings the season's training to an end. Tomorrow there will be light signal practice, immediately after which the eleven will go to Marblehead, where they will stay in seclusion, only coming back to Cambridge for their recitations, until the game.

Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—As the regular meeting of the Princeton football team has not been called to choose a captain for next year, there is considerable wonder as to who will take charge of the Tigers in 1906. Captain Cooney, who led the team so valiantly through the present season, will undoubtedly be offered the captaincy again, but there is some questions as to whether he will again accept the responsibility. Although Princeton has probably had more junior captains than any other of the big six, yet it remains a fact that nearly every time the same man has acted as captain for two years straight, the eleven met defeat the second time. This has almost become a hoodoo at the Jersey college. If Cooney should refuse the captaincy the most likely man for the position would probably be H. Dillon, 1906, who played right guard this year.

FRESHMEN AGAIN LOSE TO THE SENIOR TEAM

STANDING OF THE CLUBS.

	W.	L.	Pct.
Seniors	2	0	1.000
Juniors	1	1	.500
Sophomores	1	1	.500
Freshmen	0	2	.000

For the third straight time this season the freshmen went down to defeat in the university gymnasium yesterday afternoon at the hands of the seniors. The freshmen were never in it for a minute, and the seniors scored at will. The teamwork of the seniors was the feature of the contest. They seemed to have struck their speed of last year, and the team at the present time is easily the fastest in the league.

Marsh was the bright individual star for the seniors, and as usual scored a few field goals on sensational shots. Trax was at his old place at forward during the first half, and showed up well. At the beginning of the second half he was relieved by Whyte, who also displayed fine form. Gill's jumping at center brought forth much applause. McIntyre and Holliday played the best game for the freshmen. Lineup:

Seniors—30.		Freshmen—5.
Marsh	L.F.	Holliday
Trax	R.F.	McIntyre
Gill	C.	Johnson
Mulhelm	L.G.	Smith
Bender	R.G.	Weber

Goals from field—Marsh 7, Gill 2, Whyte 2, Trax 3, Mulhern, Holliday, McIntyre. Goals from foul—March 2, Smith. Referee—Printy. Umpire—Techeats. Timekeeper—Shaefer. Time of halves—15 minutes. Substitutions—Trax for Bender; Whyte for Trax.

Altoona's Dog Show Opens.

ALTOONA, PA., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—The Altoona Kennel club's dog show opened at 9 o'clock this morning in the Casino at Lakemont park with a fine assortment of blooded canines on exhibition and many distinguished dog fanciers were present. The show will continue the rest of the week. The judging will begin on Thursday under the direction of Prof. Frank E. Doyle, late physical instructor at Yale college, one of the best dog judges in the country, and Miss Eleanor Goodall of Philadelphia.

There was an exciting match last night played on the East Pittsburgh alleys between the East Pittsburgh Eagles and Tar Heels of Braddock. The Tar Heels put the tar on the Eagles for two out of three games. That heavy bowler, Harry Votel, produced the high score with three two's. He also was there with the best average. Higgins also turned up a good game. Scores:

Turtle Creek Juniors would like to arrange a match game with McKeesport of the Monongahela section when they have an open date, either on their alleys or on the Colonial's alleys. Answer through The Gazette.

The following bowlers are requested to be at the Wylie avenue alleys at 9 p. m. tonight, as something of importance will be presented for their consideration: E. L. Wilson, Duncan; A. Smith, Devore; Orth, Howard, Schwinn, Charles Cavanaugh, McTigh, Stimel; Brother Pennen, Nelsen, Ambrosiomini, Boyle, Gill, D. Jackson.

Any duckpin roller desiring to roll on either the Wylie avenue teams are requested to be present at an open meeting tonight on the above alleys.

Capt. Rugh of the Liberty Ducks of the Allegheny County Duckpin league wishes to postpone the match with Mt. Washington scheduled for next Monday, until Wednesday. Call up 9149 R-Highland and ask for Lou Seibel. The Liberty team also wishes to know the location of the alleys.

The Harvards want a game away from home for next Wednesday. Call up 9149 R-Highland.

A. H. Vannes, secretary of the Amateur league, requests Capt. Driesch of the Commercials to postpone their game with the Y. M. I. until Friday night.

The Gershbiens and the Langs, former members of the Barbers' league, will meet on the Club alleys tonight in their second series of games. A large crowd of rooters will be present. All players are requested to be on hand at 8 o'clock sharp.

Indications point to a splendid entry list for the tournament on the new Federal alleys next month. The prizes are so large that they will attract all the best bowlers in the county.

All the members of the Braddock team are requested to report on Serg's alleys this evening no later than 7:30.

The proposed match between Dan Houlahan of Millvale and Joe Millert of St. Joseph's Casino is called off. Dan Houlahan and John Tommas of St. Anthony's Casino offer to roll any two members of St. Joseph's for $50 or $100 a side.

CONSOLIDATION STILL THE TALK AT CHICAGO

American League Baseball Magnates Meet, but Do Precious Little Work.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—The American Baseball league met in annual session today. The session was harmonious. Routine business occupied the time. What business is to come up for consideration tomorrow is problematic, as all the members of the league refused to discuss the affairs of the organization. It is said, however, that the proposed amalgamation of the American and National leagues will come up for discussion. The tentative plan of proposed amalgamation, it is said, is for a combination of the two present major leagues into a major and a minor league. In Boston, Philadelphia and St. Louis the teams of the American and the National leagues are to be consolidated, and in other cities, where the two leagues now conflict the present National league clubs are to be taken into the new National league, while the American league clubs in those cities are to be thrown back into the minor league, which is to retain the name of American league, but which is to belong to class A of the minor leagues.

If this plan should be carried out it would leave Comiskey of the Chicago club and Farrell of the New York American league club out of the consolidation scheme. According to the proposed amalgamation plan, it is said, the new National league would be made up of the best eight cities in the country, with Ban Johnson as president of the new organization.

Nearly all the members of the league attended today's meeting. The board of directors first held a meeting in President Johnson's office and went through the formality of awarding the pennant to Philadelphia.

It was decided that postponed games on any trip must be played on the next trip.

C. W. Somers of Cleveland was elected vice president of the league and Chicago, Washington, New York and Cleveland were chosen to represent the league on the rules committee, which will meet a similar committee of the National league some time before the opening of the playing season next year and remedy any defects in the present rules.

Those present at today's meeting were: President Ben Shibe, Manager Mack and Secretary Hough of the Philadelphia club, Frank Farrell of New York, F. J. Navin of Detroit, President J. F. Kilfoyle, Secretary W. Bernhard and Charles W. Somers of Cleveland, President R. L. Hedges and John E. Bruce of St. Louis, Hugh McBrien of Boston, Manager Jacob Stahl of Washington and Charles Comiskey of Chicago.

CHAMPION CRESCEUS SOLD.

Famous Trotting Stallion Bought by a Western Man for $21,000.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Cresceus, the world's champion trotting stallion, record 2:02¼, was sold at auction today for $21,000, at the Old Glory horse sale here to M. W. Savage of Minneapolis, Minn. Only one other bid was made, which was for $20,000, offered by P. H. Maguire of New York. Mr. Savage is the owner of Dan Patch and Directum. George H. Ketcham of Toledo, O., was the former owner of Cresceus. This sale was regarded as the final passing of Cresceus from the racetrack by those who crowded Madison square garden. When Cresceus was led into the space reserved for him he was cheered heartily. The bidding was brief. P. H. Maguire opened it with $20,000, and after a short silence Mr. Savage said $21,000 and Cresceus was sold at that figure.

Baron Gale (3:11¾), who won the Kentucky futurity two years ago and for whom $20,000 was said to have been refused after the race, sold today at $2,900 to W. L. Elwood of DeKalb, Ill.

GIRL KICKERS WIN OUT.

Defeat a Military Academy Team by a Score of 12 to 0.

SOUTH NORWALK, CONN., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—A team of girl football players from Mrs. M. E. Mead's select seminary, Hillside, defeated the second eleven of the Overlock-Selleck Military academy of Norwalk yesterday by the score of 12 to 0, and the academy has voted to take the colors and the letters from the pupils for the month as a punishment. The game was played in regular style and regalia, and was witnessed by Rev. George Drew Egbert of the Norwalk Congregational church; Edward H. Gumbert, superintendent of the public schools, and the professors from the academy, who acted as officials.

The girls showed an inborn superior knowledge of the game. Basketball had tried their nerves and rounded and strengthened their limbs so that when they rushed the center it was with surprising determination. They were also fleet of foot, and made two touchdowns. Miss Mary Rider, the captain and heaviest girl, who played center, showed herself an adept at kicking goals.

STATEMENT BY W. AND J.

Claims That Allegheny College's Protest Against Bridges Is Unfounded.

WASHINGTON, PA., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—The faculty committee at Washington and Jefferson college have made public a statement sent to Allegheny college, Meadville, in regard to protests by that school against M. O. Bridges, the tackle on W. and J. football team, who played on Allegheny college team earlier in the season. Allegheny college claimed W. and J. had no right to play Bridges after his having played in regular games there. They also accused Bridges of receiving money for playing football here, that he had admitted signing a contract and being given money for it by representatives of the local university. In the statement issued by W. and J. it is pointed out that no four-year residence rule holds here and never did; that State, Georgetown, Dickinson and Lafayette have no such rule, and that Allegheny herself violated this rule in playing Bridges, who played last year at Cumberland university. Professional players are denied, and that any charges of this kind cannot be substantiated.

The local authorities will now consider the incident closed. They today denied that Allegheny college had cancelled two baseball games with W. and J. as negotiations for these contests had been dropped when suitable dates could not be secured.

The local university team had a fast practice this afternoon, the last one of the week. Tomorrow and Friday the players will be given nothing but formation and signal work. The three coaches were in the scrub line-up and made good gains through the varsity. The latter braced, however, and mowed down the scrubs for several touchdowns. The sale of seats continues unabated here and fully 1,500 people are expected to witness the contest with the Indians.

Royalty Favors the Water Sport.

ROME, Nov. 22.—King Victor Emmanuel, the ministry of marine and several public institutions have promised important prizes for autoboats if the next contest for the Mediterran cup takes place as proposed between Palmero and Toulon, in which case important Italian firms will participate.

SCHOOL BOYS ON THE GRIDIRON

Swissvale and the Scholastics Play a Hard and Fast 0 to 0 Game.

COLLEGE MINIMS SUCCESSFUL

At Swissvale yesterday, before an enthusiastic crowd, Swissvale High tied the strong Scholastic team of Braddock. Swissvale secured the ball on the kick-off, and gradually carried it up to within Braddock's five-yard line. Here the Scholastics made a stand and secured the ball on downs, but being unable to make first down, were forced to kick. Hopkins, Swissvale's quarterback, caught the ball and ran it back 15 yards. Swissvale then rushed the ball up to within half a foot of Braddock's goal line. Here time was called. Although the Swissvales were outweighed 10 pounds to the man, they played a faultless game, the Scholastics not being able to make first downs once. Swissvale's goal was never in danger. Line-up:

Swissvale—0.		Scholastics—0.

COLLEGE MINIMS WIN IN EASY FASHION

Encouraged by repeated cheerings on the part of the student body of the college, with their colors conspicuously displayed and with banners waving aloft, the Pittsburgh College Minims, accompanied by a loyal band of rooters, set out yesterday afternoon to do or die. Emsworth was their destination. Having taken the scalps of the best teams in their class in Pittsburgh, and with unblemished record they sallied forth to tackle the Emsworth Tigers. How well their expectations were realized is evident from the score, which records their magnificent success in trampling under foot the colors of the Tigers. It was the long end runs of the visitors and the failure of the opposing line to retard the onward rush of the backs that gained the victory for the Minims. Individual work was of the highest order, but what surprised the spectators was the excellent team work of the collegians. Lineup:

P. C. Minims—39.		Emsworth Tigers—5.
Monahan	L.E.	Lundy
Smisko	L.T.	McCulliffe
Carroll	L.G.	Hopkins

WILL INCLUDE FAIR MEMBERS

Bank Clerks' Association Gallantly Proposes to Admit Women to Organization.

JUDGE MILLER SCORES GRAFT

What will probably be the last "stag" banquet held by the Bankers and Bank Clerks' Mutual Benefit association, took place in Hotel Schenley last night, with over 400 men identified with Pittsburgh's greatest financial institutions gathered in the large banquet hall.

Following the serving of the menu, President Edward E. Duff announced that the board of managers had agreed to call a special meeting on December 13 to recommend a change in the constitution whereby women may become members of the organization, and further recommending that a trust company be selected as trustee for the funds of the association, which in its 32 years of existence had accumulated a surplus of $60,000.

The speakers of the evening, introduced by Toastmaster W. S. VanDyke, were: The Hon. J. J. Miller, judge of the orphans court; the Hon. W. S. Shallenberger, second assistant postmaster general, and D. L. Gillespie, president of the Pittsburgh central board of education. The Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander, who was on the program for an address, was absent because of illness.

Judge's Opinion of Graft.

Judge Miller, in an eloquent address on "Social and Fraternal Co-operation," made direct reference to the recent "graft" investigations and made a strong plea for high character. He said in part:

"Business is business" is a much misapplied term. Too much of business success is gained by every kind of crooked work. President Roosevelt has rightly said: "A scoundrel who fails can never be as dangerous as a scoundrel who succeeds." It is sad to learn of the indictment of United States senators, of government employes selling information and of insurance officials, who have the most sacred of trusts, using the moneys of others for investments from which they stick the profits into their own pockets.

This seems to be a remarkable age for graft. It is no wonder the people are awakening and are giving us such men as Taft in Ohio, Folk in Missouri and Jerome in New York. Once hour above the dollar mark. What you are and what you do counts for more than what you possess. The life honestly lived, the battle bravely fought, the death courageously met, is far better than great profits in the stock market.

Assistant Postmaster General Shallenberger showed how the government was indirectly responsible for furnishing an improved passenger railroad service. He stated that mail carrying contracts were awarded to roads having the fastest schedules. He told of four parallel roads from Chicago to Omaha who wanted a fair division of mail matter among them, which was denied with the statement that the fastest road would get all the mail.

Improving the Mail Service.

He spoke of the improvement of the mail service between Chicago and New York since the establishment of the new 18-hour trains, and told at length of the vast improvements being made and the quickened service of the postoffice department. He also made a plea for personal and civic righteousness, and declared that the strength of a bank lay in the personal character of its officers.

Mr. Gillespie discussed "The Banker and the Layman," and spoke in a happy vein.

Previous to the banquet the annual election of officers was held. Two tickets were in the field, and the contest was spirited, 463 ballots being cast. The result of the election is as follows:

President, H. W. Oliver, Union Trust Company; vice president, Everett E. Kehew, Keystone National bank; treasurer, Alexander MacIntosh, Pittsburgh Bank for Savings; recording secretary, Evan C. Thomas, Mellon National bank; corresponding secretary, H. F. Borchers, Colonial Trust Company; directors, Edward E. Duff, Safe Deposit and Trust Company; Thomas M. Jones, Columbia National bank; C. H. Cook, Fidelity Title and Trust Company; H. W. Loos, Federal National bank; I. M. Fickelson, Whitney, Stephenson & Co.; S. Clark Reed, People's National bank; trustees, C. M. Gerwig, Industrial National bank, and C. A. Painter, Scully, Painter & Beach.

LIKES TO WATCH DANCERS.

Boy Falls Off Fire Escape While Peering in a Window.

Nelson Reis, aged 15, an orphan who has been living at 37 East Robinson street, Allegheny, fell from the fire escape of the Waldorf, at Parkway and Sandusky street, last night at 9 o'clock, and was bruised about the head and sides. A ball was being held in the Waldorf and the boy had climbed the fire escape to the third floor to watch the dancing, when he slipped and fell to the street.

A boy companion took Reis to the Allegheny General hospital, where his injuries were dressed. He then went to where he had been stopping in East Robinson street, but the residents there notified the police the boy was hurt seriously and could not receive proper attention there. He was taken to the hospital. The hospital authorities think his condition is not serious.

CHOP SUEY SOCIAL.

It Will Be a Feature at Elks Social Tonight.

Pittsburgh Lodge No. 11 B. P. O. E. will give an entertainment in their rooms, Fifth avenue and Jumonville street, tonight. The affair will be in the form of a "Chop Suey" stag social. The cooks have been selected from the best Chinese restaurants in the city, and six Chinese waiters will serve the guests. An entertainment by the Elks' Mammoth Minstrel company of Lodge No. 11 will be given from 8:15 to 10:30 p. m. As soon as the shows at the various theaters are out some of the best talent will go to the lodge room.

The affair will be in charge of the Denver club, which committee consists of William M. Benham, William Hehn, James D. O'Reilly, Major William McKee, M. G. Livingston, William C. Zeigler and Samuel Sussman.

"Big Mitt" Man Is Heavily Fined.

David C. Hughes, the colored chef, who alleged that J. H. Doss alias the "Bingo Kid" and Thomas Scott, fleeced him out of $1,650 and a diamond ring by handing him the "big mitt" in games of cards, failed to show up at the hearing of the accused at Central police station yesterday. The case against Doss was held over. Scott was ordered to forfeit $100 serve 90 days in the workhouse.

SOLE SURVIVOR TELLS HIS STORY

Only Miner Living Through Harwick Disaster Is a Witness in Cunnningham Case.

GULLIZITCH GETS TEN YEARS

Judge Brown adjourned court yesterday during the trial of Mine Inspector F. W. Cunningham, charged with involuntary manslaughter in connection with the Harwick mine disaster, so that he might have time to read a copy of the report of the mine inspectors sent to investigate the causes leading to the explosion. The case will be resumed this morning.

Assistant District Attorney William D. Grimes made an effort to have this report introduced as evidence in the case, and the defense objected. These objections were based on certain paragraphs in the report, and it became necessary for the court to read the document, which consisted of two score of closely-typewritten pages.

Adolph Guneo, a miner of Harwick, who was in the mine on the morning of the explosion, and is the sole survivor out of 179 men in the death trap, testified. His face was covered with scars from the burns received. Guneo told of the part he had played in the tragedy which resulted in the death of his father and imperiled his own life. He stated he had gone into the mine with his father about half an hour before the explosion occurred. He said he was standing in the main entry a short distance from the bottom of the shaft when suddenly there was a roar and a blinding flash and he was thrown violently to the ground. Guneo said he lost consciousness at once and remembered no more until he came to in the hospital several days later. He said there was gas in the mine and also considerable dust, but that he had no idea what had caused the explosion.

When the First Explosion Occured.

A. G. McDaug, a miner, who has worked in the Harwick mine since the explosion and was a member of the commission which undertook to locate the scene and cause of the explosion, testified regarding the different entries and chambers in the mine. He was shown a blue print of the inner workings of the mine and pointed out with his finger the spot where the commission had decided the initial explosion had taken place.

Thomas Gullizitch pleaded guilty of voluntary manslaughter for the death of James Zidzunas, and was sent 10 years to the penitentiary. The victim and his slayer, together with three other men, were in a saloon in McKees Rocks. A fight followed over who should pay for drinks, and Gullizitch used a knife, stabbing his victim in the stomach. Judge Macfarlane took considerable testimony before pronouncing sentence.

Ten more women, victims of the Allegheny graft crusade, entered pleas of no defense to charges of keeping disorderly houses and selling liquor illegally. They were: Sue Stevenson, Leon Sanford, Ida Dunn, Lydia Howard, "Essie" Knox, Grace King, Mabel Russell, Leah Gray, Margaret Jessop and Grace Brown.

Ignatius Klien, a Duquesne junk dealer, was convicted on a charge of purchasing a quantity of brass from some small boys, which they had stolen from the Carnegie Steel Company. Barney Held, for violating pure food laws, was fined $100 and costs.

Fifteen Thousand for a Hand.

When the sealed verdict in the case of William A. Scheu against the Pennsylvania railroad was opened yesterday morning, it was found that the jury had given the plaintiff $15,000. Scheu was a fireman on the West Penn division and had a hand maimed and was otherwise injured in a wreck at Cheswick. He was represented by Attorney Rody P. Marshall.

In the United States courts the cases of Harry and Sarah Goldsmith against the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, in which $20,000 is asked for the death of a son in the Duquesne limited wreck at Layton, and Edward Cluff, an insurance agent of Brooklyn, who wants $10,000 for injuries from the Pittsburgh Railways Company, are on trial.

Judge Buffington gave the jury binding instructions to find a verdict of $10,821.68 in the suit of James Robinson of Montreal, a director of the International Mercantile agency, against Herman Bantling of Johnstown, to recover $10,000 on a note. It was shown that Bantling received 400 shares in the agency at $25 a share and gave his note, the object being to make his neighbors believe he had bought stock so that they might also be induced to buy stock in the agency.

Suit was entered in the United States court by the National Metal Weather Strip Company of Allegheny against James Bredin and others, doing business as the Chamberlain Metal Weather Strip Company of Detroit, Mich., for the alleged infringement of a device for making weather strips.

H. J. Curl, who sued for $10,000 for injuries received in an elevator accident at the Colonial hotel, compromised the case for $2,800.

Partner Asks for a Receiver.

William J. McIntyre filed a bill in equity against C. M. Beighley, asking the dissolution of a partnership between them, and the appointment of a receiver. McIntyre says the firm handled eggs in Swissvale. He says Beighley refused to allow him to examine the books or tell him the amount of earnings. He also says the defendant took down the partnership sign in front of the store.

Prothonotary George Pearson received the opinion of Judge J. A. Beaver of the superior court, confirming the conviction of Frank Joy in criminal court of conspiracy, with J. P. Graham, to defraud John H. Fisher. Graham did not appeal his case. Judge Beaver says there is nothing in the record by which to try the competency or relevancy of the testimony in the case, and for this reason the lower court must be affirmed.

Henry Paurak sued Andy Stakwick and and wife for $5,000 damages, and had a capias issued for Stakwick. Paurak alleges false arrest.

Decrees in divorce were granted Grace Ritter from Adalbert Ritter, and Eliza J. Allen from William M. Allen, both on grounds of desertion. The master in the suit of Annie E. Cumming against James B. Cumming recommends a decree on grounds of desertion.

A petition in involuntary bankruptcy was filed against Frank Grimm, a hotelkeeper of Snowden township, by creditors with claims aggregating $1,005.42. They allege that Grimm allowed James L. De Long to secure a judgment against him for $5,250. Joseph Carr, a clerk, of Pittsburgh, filed a petition in bankruptcy. He has no assets and his liabilities are $20,925.

M'ILVAIN DISMISSES MEN WHO "VOTED WRONG"

Allegheny Public Works Director Discharges Six City Employes Who Oppose Citizens Ticket at Recent Election.

The policy of punishment inaugurated by the Allegheny administration, following the defeat of the Citizens party ticket on the North Side at the recent election, had another demonstration yesterday when six employes in the bureau of water got notice of their dismissal. They were discharged, Director McIlvain declares, "for the good of the service," which in Allegheny City hall means for voting the Republican ticket, or working against the administration ticket.

All the men discharged held minor positions and have held them since shortly after Mayor Wyman assumed the duties of chief magistrate. For almost three years they have been retained as good and efficient workmen, but because the election precincts in which they live gave Republican majorities at the last election they are no longer fit to serve the city.

McIlvain is still going through his payrolls and comparing the figures of past elections with those shown as a result of the election on November 7. The men live in districts that show a decided falling off from the figures favorable within the past three years to the Wyman administration, are those whose jobs with the city are most in danger.

Considerable "knocking" is going on among payrollers wishing to curry favor with the city officials by casting discredit upon other employes who are suspected of playing false on election day. Coincident with the dismissals yesterday Director McIlvain announced the names of those who were appointed to fill the vacancies. The changes are as follows:

BABE MURDERED; MOTHER MISSING

New Born Infant Strangled to Death—Conductor's Victim May Be Richard Flynn.

SUPPOSED TO GE BRICKLAYER

County detectives and the Wilmerding police are searching for Mrs. Mary Luidick, the mother of an infant which was born on Monday and strangled to death by a piece of strong tape tied around the neck.

The woman kept a boarding house in Watkins street. She came from Johnstown two years ago, where her husband deserted her. On Monday afternoon Dr. S. E. Nowry was summoned to the house and the woman gave birth to a child. Before the doctor's next visit, it is said, the mother strangled her infant and threw it into an outhouse. Several school children passing by claim to have seen the mother carry the baby into the outhouse.

They reported the matter to the Wilmerding police, who found the body of the infant with the tape tightly drawn around its neck. Chief of Police Davenport went into the house and the mother escaped by the rear. She is believed to have found a refuge with foreigners in Wilmerding. The police arrested 19 boarders and another woman in the house. The body of the infant was removed to the morgue.

The man who was knocked from a Western avenue car and killed by a blow from the conductor on the Sixth street bridge Tuesday evening is believed to be Richard Flynn a bricklayer. Three bricklayers, members of the local union, called at the morgue last night and viewed the body. They said they were almost positive it was the body of Richard Flynn, with whom they had worked on the Mt. Washington tunnel and at Trafford City. They said Flynn had a brother, John Flynn, who, when he came to Pittsburgh, frequented a saloon in Wylie avenue, near Fifth avenue. They said they would make a search for the brother. If the dead man at the morgue proves to be Flynn the Bricklayers' union will attend to the interment and also look after the prosecution of the conductor.

Anthony Makuc was killed by a fall of slate yesterday morning in a mine of the Carnegie Coal Company at Oakdale. He was a single man, aged 40. Another miner was badly injured at the same time and is at his home in South Fayette township.

Rosario Sviglio, aged 28, a laborer, of 248 Seventh avenue, West Homestead, died yesterday morning at 10 o'clock while at work on a railroad siding. He displayed symptoms of ptomaine poisoning and an autopsy was ordered by the coroner.

A Baltimore & Ohio passenger train killed an unknown Italian east of Bessemer yesterday. The man was supposed to have been a laborer employed on the railroad. His body is at the morgue.

EXPLOSION AND FIRE.

Sick Man Is Carried from Burning Residence, but Is Not Apparently Any Worse.

An explosion of gas in the three-story brick residence of Jeremiah Dunlevy, 214 Dithridge street, yesterday afternoon started a fire which, together with the force of the explosion, caused a loss of about $1,000.

Mr. Dunlevy, founder of the pork packing firm of Dunlevy & Bro., has been ill with pneumonia for over a week. When the explosion occurred the family became alarmed and two men carried Mr. Dunlevy to the residence of J. G. Corcoran next door.

About 1 o'clock yesterday a strong odor of gas was noticed in the house and an inspector of the Philadelphia Company was sent to investigate the cause. The inspector arrived at 2 o'clock and entered the cellar. Immediately afterward the explosion occurred. Capt. John McElligott, of engine company No. 14, was passing and hearing the explosion, sent in an alarm. The gas had filled a register pipe leading from the cellar to the upper rooms and the explosion tore holes through the plastering and set fire to the partition.

Owing to the careful work of the firemen the fine furnishings of the rooms were only slightly damaged. Most of the damage was caused by water dripping through upon the furniture and the falling of plaster from the ceilings and walls.

It was at first feared that the exposure to which Mr. Dunlevy was subjected would produce serious results, but at a late hour last night he was reported as being in very good condition. No one was injured by the explosion.

Shea Announces Candidacy.

Con P. Shea, head of the teamsters, whose name denotes that he is not a German, last night announced that he was a candidate to represent the American Federation of Labor as a fraternal delegate to the German Trades' union congress next year. Shea was among his German friends, the musicians, at their smoker, when he made the announcement. He believes that some good German will coach him in enough phrases to enable him to get along in case he is chosen.

LAUNCH WOMEN'S TRADE UNION

Nearly 200 Workers of the Weaker Sex Hold Meeting to Form an Organization.

ELECT OFFICERS NEXT WEEK

The launching of a Woman's Trade Union league in Pittsburgh was attended with a great deal of enthusiasm last night. Nearly 200 women united in this effort for better protection in shops and factories, more perfect sanitary conditions, better hours and higher wages. The movement was given an impetus through the support of the American Federation of Labor, under whose auspices the meeting in Old City hall was held last evening. Speeches were made by men and women showing the need of organization not for the men alone, but for the women, in order that conditions under which they are employed may be improved and not be a menace physically and morally to womanhood of the nation. The headquarters of the United Mine Workers, Diamond street, were placed at the disposal of the new Woman's Trade Union league, for its meetings, and during the coming week a meeting will be held for formal organization and the election of officers.

Miss Gertrude Barnum of Chicago, secretary of the American Woman's Trade Union league, presented the cause of the working woman outside the union, where there is no united effort to keep up the wage standard, and sought to enlist as well the sympathy of the non-working woman, the wife or daughter of the working man, who through her demand for union-made garments helps the cause of improved labor conditions. Organization of the purchasing power in the economical world was made one of the strong arguments for the organized labor of women. The sanitary conditions in some of the Pittsburgh factories are regarded as excellent by Miss L. E. Fredericks, who is an organizer of the Garment Workers union, while others she described as deplorable.

The success attending the organization of the textile workers of Fall River, Mass., was described by John Golden of that city, as he urged the organization of the local women. In the audience were scores of representatives of the laundresses and garment workers in Pittsburgh and Allegheny together with the wives and daughters of the delegates to the Federation of Labor, whose co-operation was also enlisted in the new organization. A number of club women were also in attendance, including Miss Kate C. McKnight, president of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, who was an interested listener.

CAPTAIN COWLES LEAVES BATTLESHIP MISSOURI

Relative of the President Is Relieved of Command and Will Be on Duty at the White House.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—Captain William S. Cowles, brother-in-law of President Roosevelt, was relieved from command of the battleship Missouri, at the Charlestown navy yard today, by Captain Edwin C. Pendleton. Tomorrow, he will proceed to his home in Farmington, Conn., where he will remain until December. Then he will report to the chief of the bureau of navigation for duty as a naval attache at the White House.

The ceremony connected with Captain Cowles leaving the ship was attended with more formality than usual. A bugle sounded the assembly call and the Missouri's band took up a position nearby, while the entire ship's company of seamen and marines were drawn up in columns at each side of the quarterdeck.

Captain Cowles appeared, and after saluting the men, said: "I am sorry to leave you boys." He read his orders from the navy department, at Washington, and turned the ship over to Captain Pendleton.

LARKIN THINKS HE HAS DISCOVERED A MYSTERY

State School Funds $10,000 Less Than Last Year, but City Treasurer Can Explain.

The state treasurer yesterday paid into the city treasury $127,569.72, which is the last installment of this year's school appropriation due the city. The city last week received $100,000 from the state. Controller Larkin was wondering yesterday why the city received $10,000 less this year than last and announced he was going to start an investigation to clear up the mystery.

All that the controller needs to do is to call on City Treasurer Steel, who last week received a circular letter from the state treasurer explaining that the regular appropriation this year was the same as last, but the amount received by the city this year was $10,000 less than last year because of a special appropriation made for 1904 and 1903 to meet a deficit caused by the former governor vetoing a portion of the school appropriation a few years ago.

RAIL TONNAGE IS GROWING RAPIDLY

Figures Promise to Eclipse Those of Banner Year in History of Business.

STRUCTURAL PLANTS RUSHED

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Herald Building, Herald Square, NEW YORK, Nov. 22.

An official of the United States Steel Corporation says the rail tonnage on the books of the company is between 1,600,000 and 1,700,000 tons.

If this is correct the important rail mills of the country must now have an aggregate unfilled rail business of between 2,300,000 and 2,500,000 tons, or within about 500,000 tons of the banner year's output of the United States.

The unfilled rail tonnage has not decreased to any extent since the last figures were issued by the United States Steel Corporation, as new orders have been sufficient to offset deliveries. There has been renewed buying on the part of railroad companies over the last few weeks. It is estimated that new rail orders since the first of the month aggregate 200,000 tons.

Within the next few years a pronounced increase in open hearth rail production is looked for. The open hearth rail production of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company is expected to show a steady increase. The Sloss-Sheffield is considering the question of erecting an open hearth rail plant, while the Republic Iron and Steel Company is expected to become an independent factor in the open hearth rail market.

Railroads have been heavy buyers of structural material within the last few days, the tonnage eclipsing the best record for a similar period this year. The tonnage for railroad material booked by the American Bridge Company so far this month aggregates 40,000 tons, and the tonnage from other scurces 20,000, making a total of 60,000 tons. It is expected that 80,000 tons will have been booked by the close of the month, which breaks all previous monthly records for the current year. In May, 1903, the structural steel tonnage ran above 100,000 tons. Inquiries in the market indicate that December will also be a very busy month from the standpoint of structural steel.

A representative of the Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Iron Company says that if any negotiations looking toward a combination of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company and Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Iron Company are under way President Maben of the Sloss-Sheffield company and James T. Woodward of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company are not familiar with them. He expressed the opinion that no attempt was being made by the insiders to merge the properties.

"QUEEN OF SHEBA" GIVEN.

Marie Rappold, a Brooklyn Artist, Makes a Distinct Hit as the Heroine of the Play.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(Special.)—Tonight the first and most ambitious new production of the season, was made before a large audience at the Metropolitan opera house. The novelty (for it was virtually a novelty, as it is close upon 15 years since it was heard in New York), was Carl Goldmark's "Queen of Sheba," which in Germany ranks with "Aida." Over 1,200 new costumes, specially designed in Vienna, and magnificent new scenery, painted in the same city, were brought over for this production, one of the most elaborate and costly ever seen here or abroad.

The great scenes in Solomon's temple have made an immense impression, and the performance has so far been a triumph for the artists concerned, including Miss Walker as the queen, Mr. Knote the hero, Assad, Mr. Van Rooy the Solomon, Mr. Blass the high priest, Miss Allen as Astaroth and Mme. Marti, Rappold, a Brooklyn artist who made her debut in grand opera tonight, as Salamith, the heroine. Mme. Rappold has a pure, beautiful and flexible voice and a charming stage presence. The pageants, processions and ballets were much admired. Mr. Alfred Hertz conducted.

A Great Detective Story.

B. Fletcher Robinson was the man who suggested "The Hound of the Baskervilles" to Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. Mr. Robinson writes detective stories himself, and a thrilling tale of his, entitled "Nero Among the Nihilists," will be published complete in next Sunday's Gazette.

Burton Was Given Cash.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 22.—William D. Mahaney, vice president of the Rialto company, testified today he gave Senator Burton $500 in cash on March 26, 1903. He told the senator that day there would be no further use of his services.

THE WINNING STROKE

If more than ordinary skill in playing brings the honors of the game to the winning player, so exceptional merit in a remedy ensures the commendation of the well informed, and as a reasonable amount of outdoor life and recreation is conducive to the health and strength, so does a perfect laxative tend to one's improvement in cases of constipation, biliousness, headaches, etc. It is all important, however, in selecting a laxative, to choose one of known quality and excellence, like the ever pleasant Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., a laxative which sweetens and cleanses the system effectually, when a laxative is needed, without any unpleasant after effects, as it acts naturally and gently on the internal organs, simply assisting nature when nature needs assistance, without griping, irritating or debilitating the internal organs in any way, as it contains nothing of an objectionable or injurious nature. As the plants which are combined with the figs in the manufacture of Syrup of Figs are known to physicians to act most beneficially upon the system, the remedy has met with their general approval as a family laxative, a fact well worth considering in making purchases.

It is because of the fact that SYRUP OF FIGS is a remedy of known quality and excellence, and approved by physicians that has led to its use by so many millions of well informed people, who would not use any remedy of uncertain quality or inferior reputation. Every family should have a bottle of the genuine on hand at all times, to use when a laxative remedy is required. Please to remember that the genuine Syrup of Figs is for sale in bottles of one size only, by all reputable druggists, and that full name of the company—California Fig Syrup Co., is plainly printed on the front of every package. Regular price, 50c per bottle.

You Are Paid for What You Do.

The Boss Is Paid for What He Knows.

He draws probably twice as much money as you do—and does less real work.

The worker who has to ask the boss how to do everything remains a worker.

The man who knows how to do it without asking usually becomes boss himself.

The man who learns all the boss knows—who takes other men's ideas and applies them or improves on them—is sure to rise.

The only way men learn anything is from each other. That is why The Workers' Magazine of The Sunday Gazette is the best educational medium for workers. It is crowded full of what other men know and bristles with lessons in business and trade.

It is THE magazine for the workers, by the workers and of the workers.

SOCIETY

Contributions to this department must bear the name and address of the writer to insure attention.

THE dancing season was formally opened last evening when Mr. and Mrs. William Bacon Schiller gave a beautifully-appointed cotillion at the Pittsburgh Golf club. The affair was planned in honor of Miss Eupaemia Bakewell, the debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Bakewell of Shady avenue. Mrs. Bakewell was to have given a tea for her daughter early in the month but, owing to illness, has had to postpone the event until the new year. She and Mr. Bakewell, however, will give a dance for their daughter on the evening of December 26, at the Pittsburgh club. About 60 dancing couples were present last evening at Mr. and Mrs. Schiller's entertainment. Three figures of a cotillion were danced, two before supper and one after, with George S. Oliver and Miss Bakewell leading the first and third, and Clinton L. Childs leading the second. The favors in the first figure were miniature footballs for the men and golf clubs for the girls. Both favors were tied with the colors of prominent colleges. In the second figure the girls were given dainty crepe fans, while the men received whips tied with bright ribbons. The last was a chrysanthemum figure, both men and girls receiving great ragged blooms as the favors. Mrs. Schiller was assisted in distributing the dainty trifles by Mrs. Harry Darlington, Mrs. William Nimick Frew and Mrs. Thomas McK. Cook. The Golf club is an ideal place for a dance, especially one of an informal nature, and last night it presented an unusually attractive appearance. The ballroom walls were adorned with smilax and palms broke the straight lines of the apartment. On the supper tables in the first floor, clusters of delicately shaded pink roses were artistically arranged. The debutante bouquets aided in the decorative scheme in the ballroom.

McConway-Lincoln Engagement.

At a simple little tea which Miss Mary Guffey gave yesterday afternoon, announcement was made of the engagement of Miss Josephine Eaton McConway, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McConway, to Kirke Porter Lincoln, a nephew of the Hon. H. Kirke Porter and a son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Lincoln of Amberson avenue. Miss Guffey's tea was given in honor of Miss McConway and her visiting friend, Miss Helen Barnhart of Grand Rapids, Mich., both of whom received with the hostess and her mother, Mrs. James M. Guffey. The guests included the younger married women, the older girls and those in the debutante set of which Miss McConway is a member, while the assistants were Miss Katherine Reed, Miss Narcisse Kennedy, Miss Marguerite Preston, Miss Jeanette Browne, Miss Mary Kenney, Miss Edna Schoyer, Mrs. Colbert Anderson MacClure, Miss Ethel Byram, Mrs. Henry Arthur Guffey, Miss Edith MacFarland and Miss Marie McKelvy. To the aids the delightful little secret was disclosed, and they, in turn, circulated it among the others present, the news coming as a complete surprise to all. No time has been spoken of for the wedding, but it will not take place until the return of the McConway family from their European tour, which they will begin when sailing from New York on January 6. They expect to remain abroad for six months. It is said the marriage of the younger daughter will take place before that of Miss Margaret McConway and Scovill McClean Buckingham of Watertown, Conn., whose engagement was announced some months ago. The decorations for the tea, although simple, were exquisitely dainty. A small vase of red roses harmonized with the mahogany furnishings in the handsome library, while a great cluster of white chrysanthemums on a magazine stand brightened the room. Only ferns were used in the oak-furnished room, the green showing up fresh and strong in contrast to the red walls of that apartment. The tea table, over which Mrs. Lincoln and Mrs. McConway presided, had a centerpiece of white roses, oncidium orchids and farleyense ferns. Clusters of pink roses carried out the predominating color in the dainty rose and white drawingroom, where the guests were welcomed, and in the great hall a touch of bright color was given by a jar of large ragged chrysanthemums.

Reception Honors Are Shared.

The honors of Mrs. Adolphus Edward Nieman's reception yesterday afternoon were shared by Mrs. Charles H. E. Succop, a recent bride, and Mrs. Otto C. Reymann, formerly of Havre, France, who is now living in Edgewood. The hours were from 2 until 5 o'clock and during that time the hostess was assisted by Mrs. J. Grant Anderson, Mrs. Herbert E. Anderson, Mrs. John D. Brown, Mrs. William J. Langenheim, Mrs. Louis Meyran, Mrs. Grace Scott Lowry, Mrs. J. Augustus Phillips Jr., Mrs. William M. Rea, Mrs. William P. Sargent, Mrs. James Wellington Chesswright, Mrs. John S. Craig, Mrs. Guilford B. Sweeney, Mrs. Charles F. Nieman, Mrs. Robert Ferree, Mrs. John A. Scott, Mrs. E. H. Myers, Miss Emma Louise Myers and Miss Irene Succop. American Beauty roses carried out an effective decorative scheme in the drawing room of Mrs. Nieman's residence in Stratford avenue, where the reception was given. Pink chrysanthemums and pink-shaded candles carried out the colors in the dining room, while red roses were used in the hall. The same decorations were used in the evening, when Mr. and Mrs. Nieman gave a card party for Mr. and Mrs. Succop. Six-hand euchre was played at 15 tables.

McNair-Kelley.

Miss Alice Glendenning McNair and Wesley Hamilton Kelley were married at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's father, James A. McNair, in Arch street, Allegheny. The Rev. H. J. Giles, pastor of the Arch Street Methodist Episcopal church, performed the ceremony, with little Miss Dorothy McNair acting as her sister's flower girl and William Kelley serving as his brother's best man. The bride, given away by her father, was gowned in white crepe de chine and duchesse lace, with a tulle veil fastened by a spray of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bride roses. Little Miss Dorothy wore a dainty lace-trimmed frock of sheer white material and carried white roses loosely arranged in a fancy basket. These same flowers were combined with chrysanthemums in the decorations. The mantels throughout the lower floor of the house were banked, and smilax was festooned about the doorways and over the windows. White roses formed the centerpiece on the bride's table, at which covers were laid for 18. After an eastern trip Mr. and Mrs. Kelley will keep house for the latter's grandfather, Arthur Glendenning, in Sandusky street, Allegheny. They have announced at-home days for after December 25.

Mrs. McKelvy's Reception.

Great clusters of pink and white chrysanthemums through the various rooms, and a centerpiece of yellow and lavender orchids on the tea table, were the decorations at Mrs. William McKelvy's reception yesterday afternoon. The guests were received by the hostess and her mother, Mrs. J. P. E. Kunkler of Washington, D. C., who is here spending some time with her daughter. Assisting through the house were Mrs. Richard Beatty Mellon, Mrs. James Henry Lockhart, Mrs. John McKelvy, Mrs. Edward H. Bindley, Mrs. Charles H. McLean, Mrs. Jesse T. Lagear, Mrs. William Peebles, Mrs. James Dickson, Mrs. William T. Wallace, Miss Grace Kelley, Miss Marie McKelvy and Miss Jane Peebles. Mrs. McKelvy will give a second reception for her mother from 3 until 6 o'clock this afternoon.

Frick-Shaw.

Miss Daisy Frick, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Frick of Verona, was quietly married last night at the home of her parents to James Shaw, also of Verona. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. F. Cummings of the First Baptist church of Oakmont in the presence of the immediate families of the couple only. Her sister, Miss Gertrude Frick, was bridesmaid, and Charles Donahue acted as groomsman. After the wedding supper the couple left for an extended wedding tour of the west, and upon their return will make their home in Verona.

A New Social Register.

The Pittsburgh Social Register for 1906 has just made its appearance. The Register indicates that during the past year there have been 67 marriages, 18 more than in 1905. The Register embraces the prominent families of the city, grouping them together, with the club memberships, societies and universities opposite the names of the men. In the back of the book under the title of "Married Maidens," is the key to the present married names of the women.

Preps Will Give Annual Dance.

The annual dance of the Allegheny Preparatory school will be given on the evening of Thursday, December 28. The following are the chairmen of the committees: Dance, Miss Ella Hastings; decorations, Miss Jane Lockhart; music, Miss Marguerite Thompson; invitations, Thomas Walker; refreshments, Clarence Stifel.

Pittsburgh Attorney Marries.

WAVERLY, Ia., Nov. 22.—Miss Anne Bowman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bowman of this city, was married here this afternoon to Mr. Robert T. McElroy of Pittsburgh, Pa. The wedding took place at the residence of the bride's parents.

Letters from Bridal Couple.

Letters were received in Pittsburgh yesterday from Mr. and Mrs. Robert Perry McCurdy, a bridal couple of the month. They were in San Francisco last Saturday, but were to leave shortly after in their automobile for Los Angeles. El Paso will be visited before returning to Pittsburgh, where Mr. and Mrs. McCurdy will be at home in Baum street. They expect to reach this city early next month, but will not be at home until after January 1. Mrs. McCurdy's mother, Mrs. Mary A. Brown, and her son, N. F. Brown, will leave early next week for a visit of a couple of weeks in Philadelphia, their former home. They will have apartments at the Aldine hotel.

Golden Wedding in Sharpsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Williams of Sharpsburg, two of the oldest and best-known residents of the borough, have issued invitations for the celebration of their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Monday evening. The invitations are quite unique, being printed in gold ink and having at the top of the page the words, "Tipton, England, 12 o'clock noon, 1856," and at the bottom the following: "Sharpsburg, Pa., U. S. A., 8 o'clock p. m., 1905." Mr. Williams is the founder and head of the firm of Joseph Williams Company, manufacturing chemists. He was born in Worcestershire, England, in 1831, and was educated in the public schools of his native land. From early youth he made the study of chemicals a specialty, and until he was 28 years of age was employed in some of the largest chemical works of England. At that time he came to Pittsburgh and was engaged as engineer and master mechanic by a number of iron manufacturers. Mr. Williams married in 1855, Mary Ann, daughter of James Waterhouse, of Worcestershire, England, and 11 children, two daughters and nine sons, were born to them, five sons of whom are living. Mr. Williams retired from active business about a year ago, but is president of the company which bears his name. He came to Sharpsburg in 1859 and was engineer for the old Lewis rolling mills of Sharpsburg, now owned by Moorehead Brothers. He is a charter member of lodge No. 75, I. O. O. F., and has been a lifelong Republican. On Monday the aged couple will be married with proper ceremony for the fourth time, as they have solemnly renewed their wedding vows on the occasions of their twenty-fifth and thirty-fifth wedding anniversaries. Many friends and relatives will join the couple in their celebration on Monday and a feature will be a good old-fashioned English supper, prepared under the direct supervision of Mrs. Williams.

Miss Griffin's Coming-Out Tea.

Another East End debutante, Miss Ethel Marie Griffin, made her formal entrance into society yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Frank A. Griffin gave a prettily-appointed tea at her home in Howe street from 4 until 6 o'clock, during which time her daughter and the latter's visiting school friend, Miss Dorothy Guthrie of Zanesville, received with her. They were assisted by Mrs. Elias A. Weart, Mrs. Winfield Scott Watson, Mrs. Pitt Osborne Heasley, Mrs. W. L. Van Kirk, Mrs. Frederick O. Van Gorder, Mrs. Charles Edmund Beeson, Mrs. John C. Haymaker, Miss Ruth Wilson, Miss Nellie Weart, Miss Margaret Watson, Miss Florence Keil, Miss Sara Keil, Miss Alda Pollard, Miss Florence Gregg, Miss Jeannette Pontefract, Miss Martha McCance, Miss Marion McKibbin and Miss Helen Smith of Wheeling, W. Va. All the debutante bouquets were arranged about the drawing room, on the mantel shelf and on the frames of the doors and windows. The centerpiece on the dining-room table was of Madame Chatenay roses and above it fell a chandelier shower of pink roses and white chiffon. Each light was shaded in pink and the doors and windows were draped with smilax. Wicker screens, at the base of which rested small ferns and tropical plants, concealed a stringed orchestra in the hall. Miss Griffin and Miss Guthrie will share honors at a bridge party which Mrs. J. Goodrich Ruple will give this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Weart will give a luncheon for the same honor guests.

D'Invilliers-Butts.

ALTOONA, Pa., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—The wedding of Miss Josephine D'Invilliers, formerly of this city, and Mr. George Whitfield Butts of New York, which took place at high noon today at "Chantilly," the beautiful home of the bride, at Cresson, was one of the most brilliant social events in the history of Central Pennsylvania. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert Kiernan of the St. Aloysius Church at the Summit.

Owing to the prominent positions of the families in the east the ceremony was an unusually brilliant one. Three of the bride's sisters were members of the bridal party, Livingstone Whitney of New York was best man.

The bride is a granddaughter of the late Camille D'Invilliers of the Philadelphia stock exchange. Her father, Charles D'Invilliers, is an engineer of the maintenance of way of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. Mr. Butts is a mechanical engineer, who is taking one of the special apprenticeship courses in the Altoona shops recently instituted by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

Luncheon and Dinner for Dr. Mabie.

Dr. Hamilton Mabie, one of the editors of the Outlook, who came to Pittsburgh to lecture before the Twentieth Century club, was honor guest last evening at a dinner which had for its host and hostess Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Ammon of the Kenmawr. Covers were laid for 14, the guests including Dr. Mabie, Dr. and Mrs. William J. Holland, Miss Mary Louise Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. William MacClay Hall, Jr., John B. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Kay, Miss Julia Morgan Harding, Miss Beulah Kennard and Frank C. Osburn. The centerpiece was of yellow chrysanthemums and large bunches of luscious grapes, and for favors there were single-stemmed American Beauty roses and boutonnieres of violets. The dinner was served at the Union. Dr. Mabie was also guest of honor at a luncheon given by Miss Harding early in the day.

Ladies' Day at Monongahela Club.

A number of dinners were given at the Monongahela club last evening on the occasion of the annual ladies' day at the club. Among the hosts were D. D. Williams, H. B. Miles, E. J. Kent, William Irwin Mustin, S. A. Martin, James E. McNary and Joseph Kerr Atkins. At the close of the dinners the two dining-rooms, newly decorated in green and gold, was cleared, and dancing became the feature of the evening. The reception committee included Charles L. Taylor, James M. Dalley, Gordon Montgomery, E. P. Ebberts, W. D. McGill, J. S. McGill, J. B. Lanahan, Dr. Harvey C. King and J. K. Atkins.

Mrs. Munroe's Aids.

Those who will assist Mrs. Robert Munroe, Jr., at her tea this afternoon are Mrs. S. L. Boggs of Salt Lake City, Mrs. John DeV. Singley, Mrs. E. M. West, Mrs. W. J. Carlin, Mrs. Joseph Boggs, Mrs. Frederick Davidson, Mrs. J. I. M. Wilson, Mrs. E. R. Munroe, Miss Emma Gilchrist, Miss Olive Munroe, Miss Nellie Fleming, Mrs. James Munroe and Mrs. C. Perry Kiefer. Mrs. Munroe entertains from 2 until 5 o'clock this afternoon at her home in North St. Clair street to meet her two sisters-in-law, Mrs. Charles Munroe and Mrs. S. B. Hartwell.

In Honor of Two Recent Brides.

Mrs. William Metcalf Parkin and Mrs. Benjamin Dangerfield, Jr., two recent brides will share honors this afternoon at the tea which Mrs. Charles Parkin and Miss Alice Parkin will give at their home in North Negley avenue. The two hostesses have chosen as their assistants Miss Alice Dangerfield, Miss Florence Dangerfield, Miss Alice Torrance, Miss Estelle Brown, Miss Helen Wood, Miss Hazel Chapmann, Miss Margaret Scott and Miss Olive McCutcheon. The hours have been divided into two sets, from 2 until 4, and from 4 until 6 o'clock.

Future Events in the Social World.

Mrs. Howard Morton has cards out for an at-home next Wednesday afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock, at her residence, Fifth avenue and McPherson boulevard.

Mrs. Robert A. McCready of South Negley avenue, will entertain at cards on the afternoon of Monday, November 27.

Mrs. William L. Coyle of Dithridge street will give a dance in Conservatory hall, Tuesday evening, December 26, in honor of her son, Dickson Kearns Coyle, a Cornell freshman.

Notes of Society.

An entertainment will be given in the Eighth United Presbyterian church, Allegheny, this evening for the benefit of the Sunday school.

A delightful little dance was given in Conservatory hall last evening in charge of J. B. Yohe, J. Howard Moore and Dr. R. C. Chambers.

The Ladies' Aid society of the First Presbyterian church of Crafton will give a musical entertainment this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Ford.

The Women's Industrial society of the Fourth Presbyterian church, Evaline street, near Liberty avenue, will hold its annual hot supper and bazar this and tomorrow evenings.

A luncheon was given yesterday by Mrs. Samuel Graham at her home in Edgeworth. Covers were laid for 12 and the affair was in honor of the hostess' house guest, Miss Lafland of Philadelphia.

The second lecture in the course being given under the auspices of the Sewickley Methodist Episcopal church will be delivered in the church this evening. The Rev. N. L. Brown of Leechburg will be the speaker, his subject being "The Battle of Gettysburg."

Young Man Crushed by a Tree.

SALEM, O., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—Orlo Camp, aged about 18 years, was instantly killed at 2 o'clock this afternoon by the falling tree which he and two companions had sawed off in the woods, four miles south of Salem. The trunk jumped from the stump, striking young Camp and crushing him.

THE CLUBS

Contributions to this department must bear the name and address of the writer to insure attention.

American School of Art.

"The day of American art is here." American artists are the leaders in the art world of today, which could not be better indicated than by the fact that when King Edward VII. wanted his coronation portrait painted he passed over English artists and gave the commission to an American."

This was the conclusive statement made yesterday before the New Era club in a letter especially written to be read before the club by Harry Wilson Watrous of New York, secretary of the National Art league of America, who was given entire charge of the art department of the St. Louis exposition last year. The letter, written at the request of Mrs. F. G. Thomas, a cousin of Mr. Watrous, was read to the club by Mrs. Thomas, and was an interesting presentation of the facts concerning the existence of an American school of art as observed by Mr. Watrous. The writer is one of the best known genre painters in America, and has been called the Massonier of America, his specialty being small figures.

Also interested were the club women in the program for the afternoon, which dealt entirely with art, that two parties were formed to visit the Carnegie art galleries next Monday and Wednesday evenings under the personal direction of M. Raymond Gros. Other parties will visit the galleries later. M. Gros spoke of the present exhibition in the Carnegie art galleries, calling attention to individual artists and their work, as shown in this year's exhibition.

The program, which was presented under the direction of Miss Jeannette Eaton, also included a paper by Mrs. W. H. McKenna on the "Renaissance of Art in Glass." This was supplemented by Mrs. George Francis Brown, who spoke of modern art glass work, and invited the club women to inspect some windows recently put in a church in Crafton. Mrs. Franklin G. Pierce spoke of "Statues to Women in America," and the musical numbers were rendered by Miss Grace Flagg.

Celebrates Thirtieth Anniversary.

Notable was the anniversary luncheon of the Woman's club of Pittsburgh yesterday afternoon. The guests were received by the officers of the club and the members of the committee of arrangements in the reception room of the Schenley. At 1:30 o'clock, lead by Mrs. Charles I. Wade and Mrs. Minnie Ourey Roberts, the only original members of the club present on this, its 30th birthday anniversary, they passed into the library where the luncheon was served at one large table effectively decorated with yellow daisies, yellow being the club color. The candles were shaded in yellow and the prevailing colors were yellow and white. The souvenirs, small white satin boxes, were filled with yellow and white bonbons. Only two of the three guests of honor were present—Miss Kate C. McKnight, the president of the state federation, and Mrs. Levi Bird Duff, a member of the state board of directors. Mrs. Ida M. Houghton of Bradford, vice president for Western Pennsylvania, was unable to attend.

The address of welcome was delivered by Mrs. James S. McElvy, who introduced the toastmistress, Mrs. Jane A. Hall. Short addresses were made by Mrs. Charles I. Wade, Mrs. William J. Glenn, Mrs. Sarah Archer, Mrs. Charles W. Gerwig, Mrs. Florence R. Wade, Mrs. Hugo Rosenberg and Miss Cara Reese. Mrs. C. I. Wade told of the beginning of the women's club in Western Pennsylvania, for the Woman's club was the first club organized in Pennsylvania and is the second oldest in the country, Sorosis in New York being the first. Mrs. Glenn talked of the club women of today and the work which she is doing; Miss Reese claimed that club women are over-organized and that there is a reaction setting in, not for fewer clubs, but for more conservatism, less pushing ahead and more and deeper insight into the work which they are aiming at. Mrs. Rosenberg's theme was the need of more tenement reform and more work in behalf of the foreign people in our cities. Many women, members of other clubs, were guests at the luncheon yesterday, among them being Mrs. Henry J. Bailey, Mrs. Powers of Carnegie, Mrs. John Cowley, Miss Julia Schoenfeld, Miss Julia Morgan Harding and Mrs. Samuel A. Ammon.

Captured Prizes at Cat Show.

Mrs. Richard Hardy of 7502 Trevonia avenue, Wilkins place, Swissvale, returned yesterday from Rochester, N. Y., where she attended the fifth annual championship show of the Lockhaven Cat club of Rochester, held last week. Only young Persian stock were entered by Mrs. Hardy, among the different kinds being sable tabbies, orange tabbies, blacks and tortoise shell. They took four first prizes, four second prizes and two specials in novice and senior kitten classes in very close competition, 300 entries having been made at the show from catteries all over the country. The American Cat association has been recently organized and incorporated with its own constitution and by-laws and a stud book recognized by the United States government. The object is to raise the standard of thoroughbred cats and promote the interests of breeding and exhibition of cats. In order to be registered in the association's stud book, a cat must show a certified pedigree of three generations back of both dam and sire, and in registering a cat, or in championship competition, only entries under these rules are recognized. The next show of the association will be held in Cleveland in the latter part of January. Mrs. Hardy is one of the charter members of the association, being a very successful breeder of cats, as is shown by the prizes she has taken at the many shows she has attended.

Men and Women Co-Operate.

Many attended the meeting of the Sewickley Woman's club in the Edgeworth club house yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Edward Stieren, chairman of the department of the home civics, was in charge of the program. The honor guest was Leon Brumbaugh, president of the Burroughs club of Wilkinsburg. His address dealt partly with the protection of trees, plants, birds and animals and a number of valley men interested in this subject were present. The civic committee of the Sewickley Valley Business Men's association and the association's president, George H. Hegnar, were also present and made plain the working of the newly formed association to the club, whose civic committee will join forces with the men's civic committee for work in the valley. The two committees include the following people: Woman's club—Mrs. Edward Stieren, chairman; Mrs. Dewitt B. Nettleton, Mrs. Edward A. Woods, Mrs. Samuel Gilson, Mrs. Wallis J. Tener, Mrs. George P. Rose, Mrs. William Way, Mrs. Frank McCleary, Mrs. James Todd, Mrs. John Booth, Mrs. Phillip P. Knapp, Miss Anderson, Mrs. John Findley and Mrs. Edwin A. Stowe. Business men's civic committee—Paul J. Quinn, chairman; Walter E. Patten, James Stinson, John S. Caughey and S. C. Ritchey. Next Wednesday Prof. William Libby of Princeton university will address the club on "Lost Cities of Palestine."

Formulate Plans for the Year.

The first meeting of the Professional Women's club this fall will be held this evening in the Allinda school, Fifth avenue, Bellefield. Circular letters have been sent out to the members of the club asking for suggestions as to the form of work to be taken up by the club this year. Heretofore the club has existed purely as a social body, giving monthly social or semi-monthly entertainments. Some of the members have desired that the club take up a definite form of work, to be in line with the other women's organizations in the city, and among the suggestions made have been the endowment of a private room in some one of the hospitals for the use of professional women, the furnishing of a room in the Young Women's Christian association's new building, soon to be erected, or some special civic work. The officers of the club are Miss Catherine R. H. Woolston, president; Miss Jeannette Eaton, vice president; Mrs. E. D. Whiteman, secretary, and Miss Georgia Ralph, treasurer.

Lecture on Civic Improvement.

E. G. Rontzahn of Chicago, secretary of the National Bureau of Civic Co-Operation, will lecture on Wednesday evening, November 29, before the Civic club of Allegheny county in the Twentieth Century club house. The lecture will be illustrated profusely with stereopticon views. The occasion will be the annual meeting of the Civic club, when the reports of the departments will be presented and new officers elected for the coming year. The nominating committee is composed of Miss H. J. Patterson, Mrs. E. H. Mattern, Mrs. R. B. Scandrett and Miss Sophie Keenan. Following the lecture there will be a reception, and refreshments will be served. The committee of arrangements includes Mrs. W. W. Wishart, Mrs. William F. Whitman, Mrs. W. C. Lynne, Mrs. Albert Pettit, Mrs. Mrs. J. J. Turner, Miss Adelaide Lare, Miss Frances Barnstall, Miss McClure, Miss Swan and Miss Dermitt.

Reception to Club Members.

Mrs. Kate Foster of Carnegie will entertain the Woman's club of that place at a reception tomorrow. Mrs. Foster is president of the club.

Another Crusade in First Ward.

In order to assist in the reformation and cleansing of the First ward, Allegheny, the Methodists throughout the county have decided to build an institutional house for lower Allegheny, under the auspices of the Allegheny Evangelization union. The building will be located in the First ward because this district is considered the best field for the work. The committee is in receipt of about $10,000 of the $50,000 which will be expended for the ground and building. The Rev. George L. C. Richardson has been selected as superintendent of the new union.

THE STEINWAY IS SUPREME

Say all the good things you can about other makes, there yet remains one thing true only of Steinway Pianos—They are BEST

That is not merely an assertion. It is a fact disputed by none. For no one ever says "just as good as the Steinway." The Steinway difference is too distinctive, too universally acknowledged to permit of contradiction. No one attempts such a foolhardy task.

And this supremacy is not only acknowledged to be national in scope. It takes in the civilized world, from the crowned heads to the great discriminating middle class. And why?

Four generations, all in the immediate Steinway family, have during the past ninety years devoted their entire material thought, energies and facilities to the one finality—the building of the master type of piano—the Steinway.

There are many other pianos, but only one Steinway.

TAX BILLS SAID TO BE ILLEGAL

Assistant Controller Morrow Attacks Ordinances Introduced by Roenigk.

COMMITTEE MEETS FRIDAY

Assistant City Controller Morrow asserts the two ordinances introduced in councils last week by A. G. Roenigk, providing for the exoneration and refunding of city taxes and water rents without authority of councils, are illegal. The ordinance relating to water rents contains an additional provision requiring contractors to pay water rents in advance for new houses in process of construction.

Upon the recommendation of the city auditor an ordinance was being prepared to incorporate this feature but, it is said, Mr. Roenigk, hearing of it and wishing to obtain the credit, took the matter into his own hands and to the clause relating to building contractors added the other very radical features which the assistant controller claims are illegal. The ordinances will be considered at the meeting of the finance committee tomorrow.

The finance committee will also consider the appointment of a sub-committee to prepare the annual appropriation and tax levy bills. Directors Bigelow and Moore both have their bureau of superintendents preparing estimates of appropriations, which they think they will need for next year. These they will present to councils and have referred to the sub-committee.

Director Moore said yesterday that his estimates for 1906 would not be any larger than his appropriations for this year, except that he would ask for money to rebuild the engine house in the Thirty-second ward.

A call for the finance committee to meet tomorrow was issued yesterday. Calls for the public works and surveys committee to meet tomorrow will probably be issued today. A large number of bills are before all committees. The light contract will be considered by the public works committee.

NEXT WEEK'S AMUSEMENT.

Thanksgiving Promises Fun and Music With One or Two Dramas as a Side Dish.

"Fantana," one of the most talked about musical comedies of recent years, with Jefferson DeAngelis, Toby Claude and Julie Sanderson, will be at the Belasco next week. The attraction is musical, humorous and beautiful, appropriate qualities for a Thanksgiving entertainment.

McIntyre & Heath, in Klaw and Erlanger's newest production "The Ham Tree," a musical novelty by George V. Hobart, will be the attraction at the Nixon next week. "The Ham Tree" is described as a "Laughing Trust," and comes directly from three months' run in New York city. The company includes, in addition to McIntyre & Heath, W. C. Fields, the comic juggler; Frederick E. Bowers, the popular song tenor; the stately Jobyne Howland, Carolyn Gordon, Belle Gold, Alfred Fisher, Forrest Huff and David Torrence.

Messrs. Stair & Nicolai will present the third edition of their popular attraction, an American racing play, entitled "His Last Dollar," at the Alvin next week. David Higgins will be seen in the leading role, supported by Eleanor Montell and a strong and capable cast of players. The story of the play is modern, in that it deals with the experience of a rich Kentuckian, who seeks to become richer by means of stock speculation.

The Mittenthal brothers will offer Langdon McCormick's latest success, "The House of Mystery," at the Empire commencing Monday, November 27, with a special Thanksgiving matinee Thursday. "The House of Mystery" is said to be one of the best plays written by Mr. McCormick, dealing with a plot and characters original and new to the stage, while the scenic equipment is said to be admirable in every respect.

Every name in the continuous bill at the Grand next week is one of vaudeville distinction. Will M. Cressy and Blanche Dayne will be seen in "Town Hall Tonight," said to be Mr. Cressy's funniest sketch. Rose Wentworth's wonderful horses will be a feature. Others are Madame Siapoffski, the Russian operatic prima donna; the Avon Comedy Four, the Moors, amazing wire performers, and Taylor Holmes, the clever monologist.

Phil Sheridan's "City Sports," one of the big burlesque and extravaganza combinations, will be at the Gayety next week, headed by Dan McAvoy and his famous "Fifth Avenue Girls." This is one of the headliners of vaudeville, McAvoy being one of the most popular comedians in the profession. This act, in conjunction with the "City Sports" company, insures a combination of talent.

The idea of a handsome young woman asking a tough piano mover to act as her father and guardian, strikes one as funny, but how much funnier it is to see Edmond Hayes portray this character. Edmond Hayes will be at the Academy with the "Brigadiers" Burlesque company next week.

AFTER THE NICKELODEONS.

Building Inspectors Order Better Protection from Accident for Patrons.

The accident of last Saturday in one of the small moving picture establishments on Penn avenue, in which 30 children were injured, has moved the bureau of building inspection to investigate the other "Nickelodeons" about the city. Superintendent Samuel A. Dies, Assistant Superintendent John P. Brennan and Murray A. Livingston, city ordinance officer, have begun an inspection of the 12 places of the sort listed by Director of Public Safety Moore.

At 849 Liberty avenue the removal of the entrance door was recommended and other improvements suggested. Rigid orders were given at 120 Sixth street and at a place on Smithfield street. The absence of magazine boxes to protect the celluloid films from fire and the lack of take-off wheels to reel up the films as used, were found to be the greatest danger.

INGRAM BOOST CLUB WILL PUSH BOROUGH TO FRONT

Postal Cards Sent to the Residents to Invite Co-Operation—Project of the Officials of the Local Civic League.

What is to be known as the "Ingram Boost club" is now being organized in that borough by the Ingram Civic league. All the residents are invited to become members and lend their assistance in booming and beautifying the borough. Last week the residents of the borough received postal cards from the promoters of the organization, who are Percy F. Smith and Prof. M. J. McMahon, officials of the Ingram Civic league.

Last summer the league offered two prizes to the residents of the borough, one for the best-kept lawn and the other for the prettiest flower bed. David N. Glass won the prize for the best-kept lawn and Mrs. J. M. Swearingen received the award for the most beautiful flower bed. The prizes consisted of diplomas neatly framed.

The postals sent out by the organizers of the "Ingram Boost club" read: "Join the Ingram Boost club. No initiation fees, no monthly dues, no meetings; obligation, 'say a good word about the town of Ingram when you can.'"

The postals were mailed from Pittsburgh and they were a source of mystery to the residents of Ingram. However, the residents were not long in conferring with each other and it was learned the officers of the Ingram Civic league had decided on this plan of "don't knock, but boost the town of Ingram."

STEEL COMPANY HAS TITLE TO LOTT PROPERTY

Jones & Laughlin Secure Land at Court Sale—Say Widow Tore Up Papers.

The Jones & Laughlin Steel Company yesterday issued a statement explaining their right to the title of the Lott property at South Twenty-sixth and Sydney streets, of which Mrs. Lott was disposed last Saturday, after a battle lasting half an hour betwen officers of the company and Charles Lott, who was finally arrested for trespassing. The statement of the company follows:

In the latter part of 1902 the steel company began to acquire about a block of property in the Twenty-fifth ward for the purpose of enlarging its works. The prices paid to all owners were so satisfactory that early in 1903 this whole block was under contract of purchase, including the house and lot of ground formerly owned by Joseph Lott, but then occupied by his widow and one daughter. Joseph Lott, the father, died February 27, 1887, leaving a widow, Ursula Lott, three daughters and one son. Under the intestate laws of Pennsylvania the title to the house and lot became vested in these children, subject to the dower interest of the mother. When the steel company made an offer for this property of $8,000 it was quickly accepted by the children, because the price offered was much in excess of the actual value of the property, and they, by an agreement dated January 26, 1903, bound themselves to convey the property by deed to the steel company. In addition to the price to be paid the steel company made the owners a present of the house if they would remove it from the lot.

At this time the widow was entirely willing to give up possession, and her children purchased another lot of ground and built foundations on which to place the old house, when suddenly the widow changed her mind and refused to give up possession or execute a deed to the steel company. The children by their deed dated May, 1903, and recorded in the recorder's office of Allegheny county, in deed book volume 1399, page 16, conveyed all their interests to the steel company, and $2,666.68, one-third of the purchase money, was set aside in trust to pay the widow the income and at her death the principal to the children. No effort was made to disturb Mrs. Lott in her unlawful occupation of the premises until August, 1905, when partition proceedings were begun in orphans' court of Allegheny county between the steel company and Mrs. Lott. As this suit progressed all writs and orders of the court served upon her were promptly torn up by her, and she not only had full opportunity during all of three months to be heard daily in court, but opportunity also to bid at the sale of the property after the jury had returned that it could not be divided, and appraised its value at $6,000. She refused to be represented in person or by attorney, and when the property was allotted to the steel company by the court it was allotted to it because it was the highest and only bidder, and the whole property was allotted free and discharged of the widow's interest.

Since that date Mrs. Lott and her son in particular have been daily trespassers on the steel company's property. When the steel company, after repeated notice to her to vacate peaceably, removed Mrs. Lott from possession of this property, they were not only taking possession of what they had bought and paid for, but what they had acquired by decree of the court.

Reginald Vanderbilt Is at the Head of a New Baking Powder Trust.

DENVER, Nov. 22.—(Special.)—Reginald Vanderbilt is the head of a new baking powder trust to which the Hardesty Manufacturing Company has sold its baking powder factory.

It was when the check was written that it was discovered that Reginald Vanderbilt was financial head of the new concern. This is the first time that it was known that the Vanderbilts had gone out of railroad affairs and into baking powder.

PROPOSALS OF POWERS REJECTED BY PORTE

Declares Control of Macedonian Finances Would Not Be Countenanced by Turkey.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 23.—The porte has rejected the proposals of the powers for the international control of the finances of Macedonia.

VIENNA, Nov. 23.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the reply of the porte, which was handed Baron von Calice, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador, this evening, rejects the proposals of the powers on all points, and declares that the public opinion of Turkey would not countenance their acceptance. The porte agrees to extend to two years the terms of the civil agents of the powers in Macedonia.

ATHENS, Nov. 22.—The warships of the powers which propose to make a demonstration against Turkey arrived at Piraeus today and exchanged salutes and official visits. The commanders of the vessels are awaiting instructions.

SHARP DIVISION INDICATED.

Members of Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce Express Their Views.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Railway rate making was again considered by the senate committee on interstate commerce today, but in an informal way, and no measure has yet been prescribed to the committee upon which it can base its action. Views were expressed by several members which indicated a sharp division as far as the situation has developed. There is the further indication that a majority of the committee will favor a measure giving the interstate commerce commission more power, which means in some form control over the rates.

The Republicans who favor rate-making legislation assert that the way to avoid a rupture is to support a conservative measure in line with the recommendations of the President. Some of the opponents of a bill giving the commission power over rates expressed the hope after the adjournment of the meeting today that when the views of the President have been set forth an agreement can be reached by the Republicans upon a bill which can be reported and passed without much friction.

PROMINENT CLUB MAN DIES.

Colonel Francis Wister, Member of Well-Known Family, Passes Away at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—Col. Francis Wister, a veteran of the civil war and a member of one of the most distinguished families of this city, died today at a hospital, after an illness of two months. He was 67 years old. Col. Wister was born at Belfield, the seat of the Wister family at Germantown. He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in the class of 1860.

At the beginning of the civil war he received his appointment to the army from Simon Cameron and served with distinction during the four years of the war. After the war he returned to this city and became an iron and coal broker. He was one of the most prominent figures in the social and club life of Philadelphia. He was a member of the Pennsylvania commandery of the military order of the Loyal Legion, and a member of the Racquet, Philadelphia, Germantown, Cricket and Country clubs.

A Great Detective Story.

B. Fletcher Robinson was the man who suggested "The Hound of the Baskervilles" to Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. Mr. Robinson writes detective stories himself, and a thrilling tale of his, entitled "Nero Among the Nihilists," will be published complete in next Sunday's Gazette.

Mountain State Gas Company Brings in a Good Producer

Light wells are still the rule in the lower southwest fields. The shallow sand districts are completing a good many wells, but all are located in the old fields. Three miles south of the good producer completed a few days ago by the Southern Oil company on the Templeton farm, on Goose creek, Ritchie county, the Mountain State Gas Company has drilled in its test on the Markey estate and has a good producer in the salt sand, 7½. R. Cowell and others own the oil rights on this farm and the well has been turned over to them and they will develop the farm. There are very good prospects for active operation in the Goose Creek district. In the Yellow Creek district, Calhoun county, the Eastern Oil Company has drilled its No. 4 on the R. M. Ramsberg farm through the Berea grit and has a natural producer good for 75 barrels a day. This location is 600 feet southeast of No. 3 on the same farm. The Ann Oil Company's No. 10 on the David Matthews farm is producing 10 barrels a day from the Maxon sand. The oil is very dark, like all found in the Maxon sand in that district.

Near Stewart pump station, Tyler county, Neely, Casper & Co. have given their test on the J. A. Gorrell farm a shot and it responded by producing 100 barrels the ensuing 24 hours. In the Bonds Creek district, Ritchie county, the McKelvy Oil Company has completed No. 1 on the L. P. Wilson farm and will have a light pumper in the Keener sand. In the same district the Associated Producers Company has completed a test on the Robinson heirs' farm and has a duster. In the Welsburg district, Brook county, Hickman & Co.'s No. 2 on the Sabina Lewis farm is producing 125 barrels a day. Notwithstanding this producing streak is very narrow there is a very good showing of new work starting. At Middlebourne, Tyler county, the Melrose Oil and Gas Company's test on the W. P. Leasure farm is holding up at 92 barrels a day. The size and location of this well will call out some new work in that locality.

In the Salem district, Harrison county, the South Penn Oil Company has given its No. 5 on the A. C. Bailey farm a shot in the Gordon and will not have better than a 15-barrel pumper, as reported when drilled through the sand. In the same district the same company has drilled its test on the B. F. Jones farm through the Big Injun and found no production. It is now drilling to the Gordon. In the Pine Grove extension, Wetzel county, E. H. Jennings & Bros. have started to drill at a test on the Gorby heirs' farm. In the Littleton district, Carnahan & Smith have started to drill at a second test on the John Hudson farm. In the Fallen Timber Run district, in the same county, the Parker & Edwards Oil Company is due to get the sand at No. 4 on the Z. T. Francis farm this week.

On the Ohio side, in the Macksburg field, Washington county, the Longfellow & Clark Oil Company have drilled their No. 3 on the William Montgomery farm through the 250-foot sand and have a show for a five-barrel pumper. In the Island Creek district, Jefferson county, the Southern Oil Company has drilled its test on the Elisha Crown farm through the Berea grit and found nothing in that formation. North of Homeworth, Columbiana county, Zeigler & Co.'s test on the Bandy farm is reported showing better than when first drilled in. The well was drilled a little deeper into the sand last Tuesday and is now reported to be good for 250 barrels a day. There is quite a little new work starting in that locality and on the strength of the showing made by the Bandy farm test. The Reisner-Deibel Company is starting two wells on the F. Garner farm to the south. To the east the same company is starting a test on the L. W. Morris farm. Southeast of the Bandy the Hunter Oil Company is starting a test on the Hunter farm. To the southwest the True Grit Oil Company is getting ready to start on the Tollerton farm.

At Economy, Beaver county, Pa., P. M. Shannen has completed his No. 6 on the Economy tract and has a very light pumper. In the Legionville district, Lamberton, Strawbecker & Co. have completed No. 8 on the Aaron Stewart farm and have a duster in the 100-foot sand. Near Georgetown, Beaver county, Thomas C. Dawson has drilled his test on the Frank Davis farm through the Berea grit and has a duster. In the Murdockaville field the Crescent Oil and Gas Company is drilling a test on the McNaramee farm. Marks & Co. are down 700 feet at No. 4 on the James McCoy farm.

CONDUCTOR MADDEN IS LODGED IN JAIL

Man Who, It Is Alleged, Threw Stranger from Car Supports Sisters and Brothers.

Conductor Roscoe V. Madden, who, it is alleged, threw an unknown man from a Western avenue car Tuesday evening while crossing the Sixth Street bridge, was turned over to the coroner yesterday by the Allegheny police and lodged in jail to await the result of the coroner's inquest. The remains of the unknown victim of Madden's alleged assault are still at the morgue and have not been identified.

Madden does not deny he pushed the stranger from the car, but declares he never kicked him. Superintendent Patrick Callahan had a talk with Madden yesterday at the North Side Central station, and the latter said the unknown man not only refused to pay his fare, but became very profane. Madden told Callahan the man struck him, and in striking back Madden says he hit the man in the chest, causing him to fall backward from the car.

John M. Tate of Sewickley was a passenger and sat in the seat nearest the door of the Western avenue car in charge of Madden. Mr. Tate says Madden kicked the unknown man several times. The assault was outrageous. Superintendent Callahan said yesterday:

"From what Madden tells me I think, perhaps, the man was trying to beat his way across the bridge without paying toll. The motorman says the man got on the car at Duquesne way and appeared to stagger as though he were drunk. Very often men board cars at the end of the bridge and ride part of the way over to escape paying toll. Madden says the man called him some vile names, and, besides refusing to pay his fare, struck at Madden. I am sorry for Madden, for he seems like a decent fellow. He told me today that he came down from the country to get work here so he might support four little brothers and two sisters. Both his parents died within the past year and he assumed the duty of rearing the family. I don't know who is telling the correct story of the fight, but from the appearance and manner of young Madden I am inclined to think he had some provocation for his anger. Of course, he should not have thrown the man off a moving car. Such an action would never be tolerated by the company."

Madden comes from a good family near Bradys Bend and was studying law when his parents died less than a year ago. This left him with the responsibility of providing for a family of small brothers and sisters.

After leaving the car barns on Tuesday night he rode out the Perrysville avenue line to Valley street and walked over the hill to East street. Going to the home of an uncle in the Evergreen road, he told what had happened. He was advised by his relative to give himself up and did so. He refuses to talk to the police or the morgue officials and, it is understood, will be represented by counsel at the coroner's inquest.

Police Find Miss Geary's Nurse.

BOSTON, Nov. 22.—A new and important witness, who will appear against the three men under indictment in connection with the death of Susanna Geary, the suit case victim, has been found, the police say, in Miss Sarah Elizabeth Griffiths, a nurse, who, it is alleged, attended the Geary girl while the latter was dying. This nurse has made statements to the police which the authorities claim will be of material assistance to the prosecution.

BROAD ACTIVE MARKET FOR NEW YORK STOCKS

Sales Exceeded 1,500,000 Shares, and Some Prices Advanced to the Highest of the Year. Further Rise in Local Securities.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

There was a broad and active market for stocks in New York yesterday. The sales for the day exceeded 1,500,000 shares, and at times the dealings were attended with considerable excitement. In some of the specialties the rise was so rapid as to tempt profit-taking, and a rather sharp reaction occurred during the afternoon, but in the final dealings a recovery took place and the market closed steady to firm.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit was again a very prominent feature, rising from 87 to 91½, the highest of the year, and closing at 90¾, a gain of 3¼ per cent for the day. A house which has been prominent on the buying side again appeared to have unlimited orders and the operations for this account were the subject of much conjecture. It is estimated that this house, which has Philadelphia affiliations, has purchased 100,000 shares of Brooklyn on this movement. Whether these purchases have been for account of a speculative pool, whether for Pennsylvania, or whether for Mr. Ryan in connection with a new traction deal in Greater New York, were possibilities which were actively discussed during the day. It was reported that one large short account in the stock was covered at 90 and above. The convertible 4 per cent bonds were relatively as active as the stock and advanced to 102¾, the highest price ever quoted, which conveyed the impression that the movement was not entirely speculative. Metropolitan was quite heavy and closed lower for the day.

There were the usual sensational movements in American Smelting and the copper stocks. Smelting opened at a new record price at 157½, but that proved to be the highest of the day, and the denial of various rumors which have been circulated to help along the movement resulted in extensive profit-taking, and the stock closed ⅝ per cent lower than on Tuesday. The copper stocks had the benefit of another advance of one-eighth of a cent a pound in the price of the metal and ruled active and firm. Anaconda jumped 1¾ points to 155 and closed at 153½. Amalgamated Copper opened at 86 and advanced to 87¾, closing at 87¼, a net gain of 1⅜ per cent for the day. National Lead was also again very active and advanced to 55¾.

The strongest of the metal group was Republic Iron & Steel preferred, which advanced to 105¾, the highest price in the history of the company. At one time there was a rumor that United States Steel would absorb the company, but a more substantial basis for the rise came late in the day when it was announced that the directors had declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent and an additional dividend of 1¾ per cent, the latter in partial liquidation of the back dividends. United States Steel issues fluctuated within an extremely narrow range, the common stock closing unchanged for the day and the preferred only ⅛ higher. Locomotive common declined to 69, but recovered to 71¼, and closed with a net advance of 1¾ per cent. Tennessee Coal & Iron was less active and closed ¾ per cent lower.

There was much irregularity in the railroad list. The weak features were Rock Island, which broke to 28¾, and St. Louis & San Francisco second preferred, which broke 4 per cent to 60½ and closed at a net loss of 2 per cent. This movement was based upon a rumor of the passage of the dividend. Reading also had a sharp break on a report that there would be no increase in the next quarterly dividend. The stock sold off from 142¼ to 135¾ and closed at 140¾, a loss for the day of 1⅝ per cent. Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio each closed ¼ per cent lower. Union Pacific closed fractionally higher and St. Paul fractionally lower.

Call loan rates were easier, and after the bulk of the demand had been supplied the rate declined to 4 per cent. Time money was also easier and sterling exchange slightly lower.

The local stock market was moderately active and firmer. Pittsburgh Coal preferred rallied to and closed at 55 bid, an advance of a dollar a share, and the common closed ½ per cent higher, the movement being due to the announcement of the good contracts lately closed by the company. River Coal preferred sold at 23 and advanced to 23½ bid. Crucible Steel issues were firmer in sympathy with the rise in the minor iron and steel stocks in the east. The common advanced to 13¼, and the preferred to 67¾, the latter closing at 67½, a gain of ⅜ for the day. Westinghouse Air Brake was strong, advancing to 153. Electric advanced 1¼ points, selling at 87¼. The largest net gain was scored by Lustre, which opened higher at 32 and closed at 34½, an advance of 2¼ over Tuesday. National Fire Proofing common was firm at 7, and Harbison-Walker preferred sold at 70½, an advance of ½ per cent. The natural gas stocks were quiet but steady. Independent Brewing preferred was slightly lower at 38¾, and Pittsburgh Brewing bonds declined ½ per cent to 115¼. Bank and trust company stocks were dull and unchanged.

FEATURES OF THE DAY

IN PITTSBURGH

Bank exchanges increased $2,500,000 over the same day last year.

Stock market fairly active and prices higher, closing firm.

Crucible Steel preferred rallied to 67¾ and the common to 13⅛.

Airbrake advanced to 153 and Electric to 87¼.

Lustre Mining advanced to and closed at 34½.

IN WALL STREET

Stock market very active, with some sensational gains in prices.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit reached 91½, highest in five years.

Smelting common reached 157½, the highest ever quoted.

Republic Iron and Steel preferred sold at 101¼, highest on record.

Total sales 1,541,500 shares stock and $5,481,000 bonds.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The character of the trading in the New York stock market yesterday may be inferred from the fact that four stocks—Brooklyn Transit, Amalgamated Copper, Union Pacific and Smelting—contributed nearly half the total transactions, and the latter were the largest for any day in months. The sales of Brooklyn alone foot up 238,100 shares, and for the three days this week the sales of Brooklyn foot up 538,100 shares, which is 70,100 shares more than the total amount in existence. Obviously the transactions were highly speculative, if they were not of a character designated as "wash sales." Whatever may be underlying the movement, the stock naturally became the center of interest and the market methods employed in the day's operations in that stock suggested the resumption of a veteran speculative leadership. The heaviest buying in that and in other stocks which moved upwards most rapidly was attributed largely to houses having important Philadelphia connections, while it was the common supposition that large realizing sales were made for account of various western centers. There was little actual news to account for the various movements in the market, and the current discussion had more to do with the rumored formation of new pools and combinations to operate in certain stocks. Missouri Pacific was notably affected by such rumors.

The action of the general market suggested a shifting of speculative ventures on a prodigious scale from one set of securities to another. Selling out at some points was accompanied by wholesale buying at others. Whether the two operations came from the same sources or sources acting in concert, however, was not clear. There were some indications to suggest that one powerful speculative party was selling out while another was making fresh commitments in the market. The profit-taking was most conspicuous in some of the stocks which had been most effective leaders for some time past, and whose movements were of proportionate influence on speculative sentiment. Reading and American Smelting were the notable examples in this class. The demonstration of the fact that there was a limited possible extent of the rise in these stocks seemed to cause a candidly expressed surprise amongst a certain portion of the speculative element, and to dash the speculative spirit accordingly. In the latter part of the day the influence of the realizing in these stocks rather dominated the market.

Calumet and Arizona yesterday fell in line with other copper companies and increased its rate of dividend, declaring $2 50 a share for the past quarter, an increase of 50 cents a share. If this increased rate should be maintained, it would be equivalent to 100 per cent per annum, the par value of Calumet and Arizona being $10 a share.

North Butte rose to 77 in the Boston market, but reacted to 75 at the close. A rumor that the company would be absorbed by Amalgamated did not receive any credence, and one of the large local holders was quoted as saying that there was no foundation for the rumor. It is known that Amalgamated Copper insiders were given the opportunity to participate in the underwriting of North Butte, and it was currently reported at the time the enterprise was floated that H. H. Rogers subscribed for 50,000 shares at par, $15 a share. If he still holds that stock, yesterday's closing price would represent a profit of $3,000,000 in less than a year.

The directors of the Pittsburgh stock exchange will meet this afternoon to discuss a proposition to establish an unlisted department for trading in stocks on the exchange.

The advance in copper metal yesterday carried the price to the level prevailing at about the time when the Amalgamated Copper Company was organized. According to New York reports, the advance at present is based upon actual conditions of supply and demand, and that despite the large increase in production, offerings are not large. The rise to 17 cents a pound, however, will permit of the profitable operation of mines which could not produce when copper was around 15 cents a pound.

The action of the directors of Republic Iron and Steel in declaring the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred and an additional dividend of 1¾ per cent in liquidation of the dividends accumulated on the stock was something of a surprise to the street, which had been led to believe that the back dividends would be paid by the issue of a portion of the treasury stock. The rise in Republic preferred to 101¼ established the highest price in the history of the corporation. A year ago this month the stock sold as low as 53. The low price of the present year was 67. The dividends declared yesterday are payable January 2 to stock of record December 15.

Scully, Painter & Beech were the largest buyers of Lustre on the advance, and bid 34¼ for the stock at the close. Carothers & Co. bought Iron City Trust from Coyle. Askin sold 100 shares Air Brake at 153 to Masten & Co.

A Boston dispatch stated that as soon as the proper papers could be signed, Calumet and Arizona stock would be listed on the exchange in that city, and predictions were made that it would become an active feature of the market.

The New York bond market yesterday was more active than for weeks past, the sales reaching nearly $5,500,000. Of this total nearly $2,000,000 consisted of Brooklyn Rapid Transit convertible 4s, which advanced from 93½ to 102¼, the highest ever quoted, and reacted to 101½ at the close. Sales of Jap bonds reached $620,000, and United States Steel 5s contributed $307,000 to the total.

An enthusiastic Pittsburgh holder of North Butte yesterday made the prediction that two years from now the earnings of the company would be greater than the earnings of Calumet and Hecla. The outstanding capital of Calumet and Hecla is 100,000 shares of the par value of $25 each, representing $2,500,000, and at yesterday's market price the property was selling on a basis of $57,400,000. The dividend declared this week makes $50 a share for the year, calling for $5,000,000. The authorized capital of North Butte is $8,000,000, of which $6,000,000 is outstanding, and this $6,000,000 par value yesterday had a market value of $30,800,000. On the basis of the dividends declared this week Calumet and Hecla pays about 7 per cent on the investment, while North Butte pays 4 per cent.

For the first time in months a public quotation was made yesterday on Consolidated Traction preferred, 50 shares of the stock being offered at 65 on the exchange.

The Pullman Company has now on its payroll between 8,000 and 8,500, which is said to be about 500 more men than the company has ever employed at one time. Officials of the company decline to say to what extent they are booked ahead, but in local car building circles it is stated that the company can now run its car-building plant a year with present orders.

Amalgamated Copper became very active with the announcement of an advance in the price of crude copper. On the other hand, copper in London was reactionary, as also was silver, and this seemed to have larger influence on the movement in Smelting.

The New York money market continued tranquil and reflected no preparations for today's offering of $12,500,000 of New York city bonds, nor any effect from the firmer tone of foreign exchange. The rise in cotton was assigned as the cause for the firmer exchange rates.

STANDARD ISSUES HEAVY AND SELL OFF

Friends of Bull Market Fear the Movement Is Too Fast for Safety.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The Herald this (Thursday) morning says: Whether the stock market was considered strong or weak yesterday depended very much upon the individual point of view, and the shares in which the individual observer was interested. Stocks, in other words, were highly irregular, and, while some speculative counters seemed bent on puncturing a hole in the clouds, numerous others seemed shod with lead or buoyed with something as light, and floated as a millstone. As a rule standard issues were heavy and sold off, particularly toward the close, which some of the specialties, under tremendous pool and clique acting, and widely enthusiastic professional enthusiasm, advanced noteworthy. Speculative sentiment was as much divided as the market was mixed. Many of the movements were such palpable inconsiderate gambling operations that even some friends of the constructive or bull side of the market were found expressing the opinion that the movement was going too far and too fast for safety.

There was very little in the news of the day, and nothing whatever of a character sufficiently important to explain the tremendous activity of the market or the character of the movements. However, no one really looked for news developments, the merits of properties, price, dividends, earnings or anything else. The "wild gazabo," to paraphrase the name selected by one conspicuous stock jobbing factor in the movement, tipped off a few issues in Yiddish dialect, or something approximating it, and stocks so indicated actually moved up in response to the bull cookery. If anything indicates the reckless character of the present trading, it is just such exhibitions as these. There are great hazards in the speculative market, vast sums at stake in speculative commitments in a market with 30 banks of the Clearing House association under their reserves, and recovery scarce complete from an acute monetary spasm, small wonder that some holders of real stock took profits at the signs of dementia manifested by speculation swayed by the utterances of a clown, with cap and bells.

STRUGGLING TO KEEP IT STEADY

Tendency to Higher Prices in Bessemer Iron Trade, but Producers Are Cool.

GENERAL STEEL MARKET NEWS

The market in all lines of iron and steel is in exceptionally good condition. There is a great demand for finished lines and the heavy demand for raw materials still continues. Conditions in the Bessemer iron market tell the tale.

It would be very easy to make a runaway market, as it is called, for under old conditions, when there were hundreds of independent mills and furnaces, the conditions that prevail today would have resulted in boom prices for some months, only to be followed by a period of corresponding depression. In those days, too, contracts were made for only a few months ahead or the utmost, while now manufacturers are not afraid to make contracts for delivery a year ahead.

They are interested in maintaining a stable market, a market that will encourage the consumer to come in and buy under the reasonable expectation that prices will be approximately steady for a long time after his contracts are made and with the conviction that prices will not rise or fall abnormally after he has provided for his needs and made his own contracts on the basis of quotations at which he has bought.

In pig iron there is a strong pressure toward higher prices, with the producers striving to maintain quotations steady and within reasonable bounds, for the reasons just mentioned. Of course, the demand will naturally cause a rise in quotations, but they will be gradual, for there is no disposition to take advantage of the demand and let the market run away with itself. Pig iron is the basis of production in conservative hands there will be no radical advance in the finished product, which naturally responds to increase in prices of the raw material.

The Bessemer pig producers are therefore active in maintaining the market quotations around where they are at present; still the market is cleaned up, there is no iron for sale and very little can be contracted for except for delivery during the first three months of 1906. Inquiries by consumers are beyond any tonnage that can be filled.

In the steel sheet trade the mills are fully employed and conditions are exceptionally good for this season of the year. There is plenty of tonnage in sight to take up the capacity of the mills for some months to come. Structural steel, according to sections, can be contracted for delivery in from three to five months. Prices were today advanced $2 a ton, as were the prices of tin plate.

Hard coke are selling at from $2 to $3 10, compared with $2 and $2 10 a year ago. Foundry coke is quoted at $3 75 to $4, and some contracts have been made at $4 10 for delivery within the first six months of 1906.

The Hardware Market.

Orders for hardware continue to come in in good numbers and for good quantities of goods, the demand continuing heavy for season goods and for regular lines. The trade generally seem to regard business as being in excellent shape, with prospects of continuing right along. The demand for nails and wire, sheets and other heavy goods continues very active, the slight advance in sheets spurring the demand a little bit beyond what it naturally would be. Window glass is moving along in much better shape than for some time past, doubtless owing to the extremely low prices which are prevailing—the trade evidently feeling it is time to stock up and get their lines in shape for winter business. Prices in general lines continue firm, there being no recent changes except the one spoken of in sheet steel.

The Bindley Hardware Company furnishes the following quotations: Columbia pocket knives, discount, 35 per cent; Albion hatchets, discount, 40 and 10 per cent; Bindley canal shovels, $6 50 per dozen; Great Western files, discount, 70, 10 and 10 per cent; sheet iron, base No. 28, 2 25 per 100 pounds; galvanized sheet iron, discount, 70 and 10 per cent; sash weights, per ton, $27 00; window glass, first two brackets, 90 and 25 per cent; above, 90 and 10 per cent; Albion sewing machines, discount, 25 per cent; blue and white enameled ware, 50 and 10 per cent; Albion hot plates, 40 per cent; Albion lanterns, 40 per cent; hay forks, 60 per cent.

DEMAND EXCEEDS OUTPUT AND SLACKENS BUYING

Higher Prices May Prevail for Ore, While Coke Market Seems a Little Weaker.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, Nov. 22.—The Iron Trade Review tomorrow will say:

The market continues exceedingly strong. While in some centers buying is not as brisk, that fact is attributed more to scarcity of material than to diminution of demand.

There is still great interest in raw materials and it seems certain that the trade will be compelled to recognize a considerably higher level of values. Practically all of the iron ore offered at an advance of 25 cents over the prices of 1905 has been purchased and sellers now in the market or about to enter are firm in their opinion that an advance of 50 cents is justified. Heavy buying is expected before Christmas; in fact, it will not be surprising if all the ore that can be mined for delivery in 1906 is sold before the holidays. During the past week there were some indications, especially in the Chicago district, of lower prices for coke, but this slight tendency toward weakness seems to have been due to local conditions.

Pig iron has been quiet but firm. The general tendency is toward higher prices, which have now reached a point in the east nearly as high as the cost of English and German irons delivered at tidewater, and large selling agencies are figuring on making heavy importations, if present conditions continue. The Midvale Steel Company of Philadelphia has been in the market for 10,000 tons of Bessemer pig iron and has purchased a considerable amount.

BOOKINGS IN ALL LINES CONTINUE TO INCREASE

Unprecedented Volume of Buying Is Shown for This Season—Pig Iron Grows Scarce.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The Iron Age tomorrow will say:

The bookings of finished iron and steel continue exceedingly heavy in all lines and thus far this month are nearly up to the rate of October. It is quite unprecedented that there should be such a volume of buying at this season of the year. The strain in all directions is tremendous and prices are kept down only by main force. The leading interest has advanced tin plate 10 cents a box and the sheet makers put prices on sheets $2 per ton for black and galvanized. A feature of the markets recently has been the demand for structural material and for plates from Canada, and quite a good business has been done in that direction.

There is increasing evidence of a shortage of pig iron for steel making purposes. The steel corporation has purchased only moderately, but many other steel makers are holding their metal at an advance. Among the rail sales is that to the Illinois Central railroad involving 84,000 tons; Colorado Southern, New Orleans and Pacific, 17,000 tons; Beaumont, Sour Lake & Western, 9,000 tons, and the Alaska Central 5,000 tons. The representative of the leading producers of foreign structural material reports that thus far the purchases for importation foot up to 40,000 tons.

The principal transaction in domestic structural material during the current week has been the closing of a contract for 30,000 tons of bridge material for the Harriman roads. Thus far this month the American Bridge Company has booked 60,000 tons.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices to 5 points lower on 5 points in sympathy with disappointing French cables and larger Jundiahy reports. There was a continued absence of speculative feature aside from further switching by December longs, and the market ruled around the initial level until near the close, when a little demand from trade interests caused a slight improvement. The close was steady, net unchanged to 5 points higher. Total sales were reported of 311,250 bags, of which about 281,000 bags were switches. Transactions included December at 6.40@6.45c; January, 6.60c; March, 6.55@6.80c; May, 7.00c; September, 7.30@7.35c; October, 7.40c; spot Rio steady; mild steady. Sugar—Raw firm; fair refining centrifugal, 96 degrees test, 3½c; molasses sugar, 2 11-16c; refined steady.

Butter, Eggs and Cheese.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Butter steady and unchanged; receipts, 5,512 packages. Cheese steady and unchanged; receipts, 5,830 packages. Eggs firm and unchanged; receipts, 5,528 cases.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—On the produce exchange today the butter market was steady; creameries, 17@23c; dairies, 17@20c. Eggs firm, at mark, cases included, 18@24c; firsts, 24c; prime firsts, 28c; extras, 30c. Cheese firm at 12½@13½c.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—Butter steady; extra western creamery, 24c; extra nearby prints, 26c. Eggs firm; 1c higher; nearby fresh laid, 32c; nearby fresh, 31c at mark; western fresh, at mark. Cheese unchanged. New York full cream fancy, 13¾@14c; New York full cream choice, 13½c; New York full cream fair to good, 12¾@13¼c.

CALIFORNIA TOMATOES REACH LOCAL MARKET

They Are of Splendid Quality and Find Ready Sale—Turkeys May Be Cheap.

Fine California tomatoes have appeared on the local market and are retailing at about 25c to 30c a pound. In four basket crates they are quoted at $2 50@3 00.

If the present weather continues a week longer turkeys are sure to be cheap in Pittsburgh. It was reported from an Ohio town yesterday that the supply of turkeys is so large in Pittsburgh that large orders have been countermanded. Next Monday is expected to be a busy day in the turkey line, as it is thought thousands of birds will be brought into the city on that day.

There is no change in the general egg situation. The supply of fresh eggs continues light and there is a good demand for desirable qualities. The medium and lower grades continue irregular in value.

There were few changes in the local markets yesterday, although several commodities were given a wider range. Grapes in good quality are selling well, but poor stock is dragging. Prime Irish potatoes are still in poor supply.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts yesterday were: Pennsylvania, 17 cars corn, 6 cars oats, 9 cars hay, 1 car feed, 2 cars rye. Baltimore & Ohio, 1 car corn, 2 cars oats, 5 cars hay. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 6 cars hay, 2 cars oats, 1 car corn. Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh, 1 car hay.

Receipts were not heavy and the market continues fair and active on hay and oats. Corn is inclined to be easier and yellow ear is reduced some. The strong demand for straw with light arrivals of the same, is the principal feature of the market.

The Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Conditions in the drygoods market were not materially settled today. Many offers were made and refused during the day, with the idea that future developments may determine the proper course to pursue.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

The Sater Copper Company has received information that the railroad surveyed through the Cimarron valley is now built to a point 60 miles west of the mines and that work is being pushed rapidly. Mrs. A. G. Howells of Cripple Creek, a man of many years' experience in mining operations, has been engaged as superintendent of the mine and will take charge on or before December 1, 1905. Mr. Jared Sater, the president of the company, leaves tonight for the mines.

Butte, Mont.—The Anaconda has struck a big copper vein in the ground of the Squirrel mining claim at a depth of 200 feet, which will be tunned through the new boat being built on the Jay-Bye-See. The two properties have not been worked for years.

The four smelters of Houghton county are now cleaning up theft shipments in anticipation of the close of the navigation season within the next three weeks. Throughout the summer the docks have been very free of copper, the shipments going forward as rapidly as boats arrived to carry away the output. The pressure for delivery of refined copper has been heavy.

All reports coming from Ely, Nev., indicate that within a year that camp's copper production should exceed 2,000,000 pounds a month and within 18 months the output should be close to 60,000,000 pounds a year.

The employes of the Granby Copper Company and the management have practically come to an understanding regarding the eight hour system. The conditions call for three shifts of eight hours each and a reduction in wages of 10 per cent on all employes, with the exception of laborers receiving $2 50 per shift, whose wages will not be cut.

The initial carload of copper matte from the Penn-Wyoming Smelting Company at Encampment, Wyo., has reached the United States Company at Bingham Junction, Utah. It is understood that the Encampment plant is running on ore from the Ferris-Haggerty mines at Grand Encampment and that the matte made in the Wyoming plant will all come to the United States Company for conversion into bullion. The Penn-Wyoming smelter recently shut down for the winter.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The London tin market was again higher, with spot closing at £153 7s 6d and futures at £153 7s 6d. The local market ruled steady, with spot quoted at 42c 42@43 c. Copper was lower in London, closing at £75 12s 6d for spot and £73 12s 6d for futures, or a decline of about 7s 6d to 12s 6d. Locally, however, the market continues firm, and producers are said to be sold well ahead, making supplies available for immediate delivery very scarce. Lake is quoted at $16 87½@17 25; electrolytic, $16 75@17 00; casting, $16 50@16 87½. Lead was lower at £15 8s 9d in London, but continued firm in the local market. The largest producers are still quoting 4 35 for shipment in 30 days, but spot quotations range as high as $5 70, the figure being practically nominal in the absence of important business. Spelter advanced 5s to £28 10s in London. The local market was quiet and unchanged at $6 10@6 20. Iron was unchanged in the English market, closing at 62s for standard foundry and 53s 5d for Cleveland warrants. The local market was firm. No. 1 foundry northern is quoted at $18 75@19 25; No. 2 foundry northern, $18 25@18 75; No. 1 foundry southern, $18 50@18 75; No. 2 foundry southern, $18 00@18 25.

VALUABLE DATA IN PITTSBURGH

Massachusetts Railroad Commissioners Have a Good Day. Rate Plan Is Opposed.

NEW MAIL TRAINS ON VALLEY

The two members of the Massachusetts board of railroad commissioners who spent yesterday in Pittsburgh will leave today for the east. They were shown every courtesy by the railroad and industrial officers, which greatly facilitated their investigations.

"We shall leave Pittsburgh tomorrow morning with a feeling that the best period of our trip has been the visit here," said James F. Jackson, chairman of the board. The officers of the railroads and big industrial corporations showed us every courtesy, which was a much greater help in our investigations than they can realize. We spent almost the whole forenoon at the immense plant of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, where we desired to pay particular attention to the latest devices for applying the alternating current to freight and passenger service on steam and electric roads. We spent a portion of the afternoon at the Carrie furnaces of the United States Steel Corporation, where our visit was with especial reference to the methods of unloading coal and raw material and of transporting such material about the mills. The officers also aided us personally in this examination. Then we made a personal investigation of the street car lines, their operations, traffic terminals, etc."

Messrs. Jackson and Clinton White will probably visit Philadelphia on their way east, although Mr. Jackson said that they had determined definitely on no other eastern city than New York. Their visit has included St. Louis, Chicago and Cleveland.

Brotherhoods Oppose Rate Plan.

It is said that more than 600 divisions and lodges of the several organizations of railroad employes have placed themselves on record as unalterably opposed to any legislative action tending to interfere with the power of the railroads to adjust their rates to commercial conditions or to control their respective incomes. This action of the brotherhoods follows the protest made to President Roosevelt by a committee from five of the organizations against the Esch-Townsend bill last week. Following are statements from the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Order of Railway Conductors and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, respectively, as officially issued by eastern lodges:

"Members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, to a man, are opposed to any legislation that will curtail the powers of their employers in respect to their earning capacity or diminish the freedom of their control over their property; therefore the brotherhood opposes the Esch-Townsend bill and will oppose any and every law to give the control of railway rates into the hands of the government or any body other than the railroad owners and managers."

"The Order of Railway Conductors as an organization oppose the passage of the Esch-Townsend bill by congress because the bill as it stands threatens to destroy everything that the organization has fought for or accomplished. Organized railroad labor has established a uniform rate of wages throughout the country, a system of arbitration which is satisfactory to employer and employe alike. The Esch-Townsend bill, as we view it, is aimed directly at all of these institutions and should the bill be passed, disaster could not be avoided."

"The proposition which is submitted through this bill to the railroad employes is that in all arbitration in the future for the protection of their rights, the railroads will have the power to say neither yes nor aye and the railroad men must rely upon the government bureau for everything which they now enjoy by right and in freedom. At the present time the equitable adjustments of all of the railroad rates in the country are beyond the powers of the thousands of men who are engaged in the work. The proposition of expecting a small group of men to perform successfully what thousands cannot do, is too ridiculous to merit the serious consideration of any thoughtful man."

Lake Shore Operating Appointments.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 22.—J. J. Bernet was today appointed assistant general superintendent of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railway to succeed D. C. Moon, recently made general superintendent to succeed Henry S. Storm, deceased. S. W. Brown was appointed superintendent of the eastern division to succeed Mr. Bernet. E. H. Wilson was appointed superintendent of the western division to succeed Mr. Brown. E. M. Smith was appointed assistant superintendent of the western division.

New Mail Routes on Valley Line.

Four new mail routes will be established on trains of the Low Grade division of the Buffalo & Allegheny Valley division of the Pennsylvania, today between Pittsburgh and Dubois. These routes will be established on accommodation passenger trains and will thus be of direct benefit to all points on the route from here to Dubois, including such towns as Red Bank, Brookville, Reynoldsville and Falls Creek. The postal cars will be placed on southbound trains Nos. 108 and 114, which leave Dubois respectively at 5:05 a. m. and 5 p. m., and arrive at Pittsburgh at 11:15 a. m. and 10 p. m. The northbound service will be on trains Nos. 113 and 167, which leave Pittsburgh respectively at 6:22 a. m. and 5:05 p. m., and reach Dubois at 12:05 p. m. and 10:15 p. m. The new service will also handle through mail from the points reached to Pittsburgh or Dubois, and will thus decrease the work on the heavy through mail trains. Two postal clerks will be required for the service.

Sarah Bernhardt Thanks Daly.

Sarah Bernhardt, the celebrated French actress, sent an interesting telegram to J. W. Daly, chief assistant general passenger agent of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern at Buffalo, for the excellent service given the special train that carried herself and company to Chicago. The run from Buffalo to Cleveland, 183 miles, was made in 180 minutes, which included stops at Dunkirk and Erie. The run from Toledo to Chicago, 244 miles, was made in 241 minutes, which included a change of engines at Elkhart and several slowdowns and stops for water, crossings. The message read:

Marveilleux voyage je nai jamais ete en aumoin de 6e tous mes compliments et remercirments.

President Started as a Clerk.

T. D. Penrack, agent of the Atlantic Coast Dispatch in Pittsburgh, received information yesterday of the new officers of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company. T. M. Emerson, of Wilmington, N. C., who was chosen president to succeed R. G. Erwin, resigned, started as a clerk in the freight offices of the company at Wilmington at $75 a month. Alexander Hamilton was promoted from second to first vice president, C. S. Gladden was advanced from third to second vice president (he was formerly third vice president), J. R. Kenley, fourth vice president, was advanced to third vice president. A dividend of 3 per cent was declared at the annual meeting of the stockholders.

Railroad Notes.

In order to keep stored grain in cars or elevators from heating, the Pennsylvania has adopted a special process at North Philadelphia and Baltimore which not only dries the grain but which also removes the dust.

The conditions are reported slightly improved in the Pittsburgh district.

J. A. Sterling, traveling passenger agent of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, will leave with Mrs. Sterling Saturday morning for a month's vacation sojourn at Pacific coast points.

Division Freight Agents S. L. Seymour and George D. Ogden are in Philadelphia attending the monthly meeting of their department.

Vice President Schoonmaker and General Superintendent Yohe made an inspection of the main line of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie.

Supt. Long inspected the Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania yesterday, being accompanied by other officers.

Vice President Worthington, General Superintendent McMaster and Chief Engineer Douglas spent yesterday at Navarre, where the Wabash is to enlarge the yard facilities.

Among the men slated by report to become president of the American Locomotive Company, to succeed the late A. J. Pitkin are Russell Harding and John F. Deems.

W. C. Annable has been appointed general baggage agent of the Canadian Pacific.

John M. Davison, the well-known Pennsylvania railroad engineman, who has been confined to his home in Wilkinsburg with rheumatism, is reported to be improving, with a likelihood of his returning to duty soon.

A Great Detective Story.

B. Fletcher Robinson was the man who suggested "The Hound of the Baskervilles" to Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. Mr. Robinson writes detective stories himself, and a thrilling tale of his, entitled "Nero Among the Nihilists," will be published complete in next Sunday's Gazette.

New Cases of Typhoid.

Fourteen cases of typhoid fever, four of scarlet fever and one of diphtheria were reported to the Pittsburgh bureau of health yesterday.

THE THREE RIVERS

The stage of water at Davis Island dam at 8 o'clock last night was 4.6 feet and the river was falling.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 22.—(Special.)—At 6 p. m. the Ohio river was 10.1 feet and falling. The excursion boat Francis J. Torrance will probably be bought by the management of the Coney Island trade to run opposite the Island Queen in the trade next summer. The boat has been plying around the pools at Pittsburgh for several years. The government snag boat E. A. Woodruff is working along the lower river getting the stream in that part of the valley in shape for the coming season of navigation. Capt. E. R. Mauck, general agent of the Cincinnati & Pittsburgh Packet Company, attended the funeral of his mother at Rome, O., today. Clear and pleasant.

STEUBENVILLE—Five feet 4 inches and falling. Clear and cool. Up, Egan and Ben Hur.

GALLIPOLIS—Seven feet and stationary. Clear and cool.

MORGANTOWN—Seven feet and stationary. Clear.

POINT PLEASANT—Five feet 11 inches and rising. Clear. Down, H. M. Stanley. Up, Fallie.

GREENSBORO—Seven feet 1 inch and falling. Clear and pleasant. Columbia down Thursday; Hite up.

OIL CITY—One foot 10 inches and falling. Clear and milder.

PARKERSBURG—Seven feet and stationary. Clear and mild. The Keystone State left for Cincinnati, the Greenland for Pittsburgh, the French for Creston, the Kanawha for Charleston.

LOUISVILLE—Falling. In canal, 4.7; on falls, 2.5; below locks, 9.1. Partly cloudy and cool.

WHEELING—Five feet 10 inches and falling. Cloudy and cooler. Departed, Keystone State, Cincinnati, 1 a. m.; Kanawha, Charleston, 6 a. m.; Bessie Smith, Parkersburg, noon; Ben Hur, Pittsburgh, 2 p. m.

MARIETTA—Six feet and falling. Clear and pleasant. Lorena up 9 a. m., Greenland up 2 p. m., Kanawha down 3 p. m.

TO DISCUSS HARBOR LINE.

Call Is Issued by Major Seibert for Public Hearing.

Maj. W. L. Seibert, the government engineer, will soon give a public hearing for those interested in the proposition of the Midland Steel Company to establish a harbor line. The proposed harbor line is on the right bank of the Ohio river, from Phyllis Island to Georgetown, about 27 miles below the head of the river.

The heavy fog of Tuesday night and early yesterday morning delayed many of the packets. The Columbia did not reach here until late yesterday morning and left during the afternoon. The Queen City was long delayed, arriving last evening. She had a heavy trip and took much freight back. A number of hunters left on her for points along the Ohio.

The national rivers and harbors congress will meet in Washington at noon on January 16, and the second call has been received here. Each delegation is asked to have one of its members ready to address congress. Matters national in scope will be discussed at this meeting and local legislation will not be touched upon.

It is believed that the Coney Island Amusement Company of Cincinnati will purchase the steamer Francis J. Torrance. Negotiations are now being conducted and it is reported that an offer has been made by the company, which has been accepted. Capt. Lee H. Brooks, president of the company, will be here on Saturday.

Being Square With the World

If You Would Give Full Value and Get Full Value, Here's a Suggestion.

"Are you getting full value out of life? And is the world getting full value out of you? That is, are you playing your part and doing it well?

"In matters of business and in our relations, man to man, all of us owe it to ourselves and to the world to do our best to make ourselves of full value. Do this and, in turn, you will get full value out of life.

"You can't do full justice to anything unless you feel right. And you can't feel right unless you live right.

"Eating right is essential to living right. You can't abuse the stomach without paying a penalty. This penalty is most frequently indigestion, with all its accompanying distress.

"A dyspeptic can't give the world full value and he can't get full value out of life. Eat the right kind of food and you will not suffer. The right kind of food for you and your family, the weak and the strong, the sick and the well, the grown folks and the little folks, is Malta-Vita, that delicious, crisp, wholewheat food.

"A perfect breakfast is impossible without Malta-Vita, and it's just as good three times a day. Being a pure grain product, without any foreign sweetening agent or other adulterative, Malta-Vita is rich in food elements—every nutritious element of the best white wheat and pure barley malt extract—intensely vitalizing. It will help you give full value and receive full value.

"Try Malta-Vita with cream or fruit. There is no other food that can take its place; none "just as good." And it's always ready to eat. No cooking. No inconvenience. All grocers, 10 cents per package.
